Radcliffe Stands Upon His Record And Defies Bruce

Says Criticism by Opponent Is "Inherently an Indorsement"

Baltimore, April 25 (AP)—Senator George L. Radcliffe declared tonight he believed he had "done the job" he was elected to do, and that "every statement" of Howard Bruce, his opponent for the Democratic senatorial nomination, has been "in herently an indorsement of my record."

Making his second radio address in his reelection campaign, Radcliffe also asserted that he is "not the creature nor the boss of a political machine."

Bruce, he said, "wants to be a United States senator so that he can use that office to strengthen and reinforce his position as a political boss in Maryland."

To date, Radcliffe said, the campaign by Bruce "has not been instructive or edifying.

"I have done what I could to discuss my record as a United States senator, and to find out in what respects Mr. Bruce differed with me, and in what respects he would have changed my votes if he had been serving in the Senate instead of me.

"I have been unable to find out. Every statement Mr. Bruce has made, whether he intends it so or not, has been inherently an indorsement of my record."

Radcliffe declared that "if Mr. Bruce were not himself a candidate for office, he would never make any criticism of me or of my record, and would probably be one of my most enthusiastic supporters."

He invited a look at his own Senate record, and reviewed his efforts in the Senate to "help bring order out of the financial chaos

Communist Party Plans Revolution, Witness Asserts

Has Planted Members in Key Industries, Ezra Chase Says

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Testimony that the Communist party has planted its members in aircraft and other key industries on the west coast was given to the Dies Committee today by Ezra Chase, who said he was a former organizer for the party in Los Angeles.

Asked by Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) whether the party's immediate purpose was not to obtain valuable military and industrial secrets for transmission to Moscow, Chase said that it was.

He testified also that the party intended ultimately to plunge the country into civil war, and to overturn the present government, by calling a general strike in basic industries.

Helped Soviet Russia

Dies inquired whether the American Communist party and the German American bund did not give Russia and Germany — free of charge—the greatest facilities they had ever had for espionage in the United States.

"There is no doubt that there now exists the greatest political and economic conspiracy in all history," the witness replied. "The Communist party has made it plain that if any nation should be so bold as to declare war upon Soviet Russia it would paralyze the industries of that nation."

Joined Communists in 1931

Chase, tan-faced, bespectacled and partly bald, told the committee that he was a native of Idaho Falls, Idaho. He said he had joined the Communist party about 1931 and later went to work in the furniture industry at Los Angeles where he joined the Upholsterers' International Union, at the direction of the party, and finally became organizer of the union.

Invade Airplane Plants

In the party's effort to penetrate basic industries, Chase said, groups of "Red builders" were sent into the Douglas and Lockheed aircraft plants. He described the "builders" as trusted party workers engaged in recruiting and circulating literature.

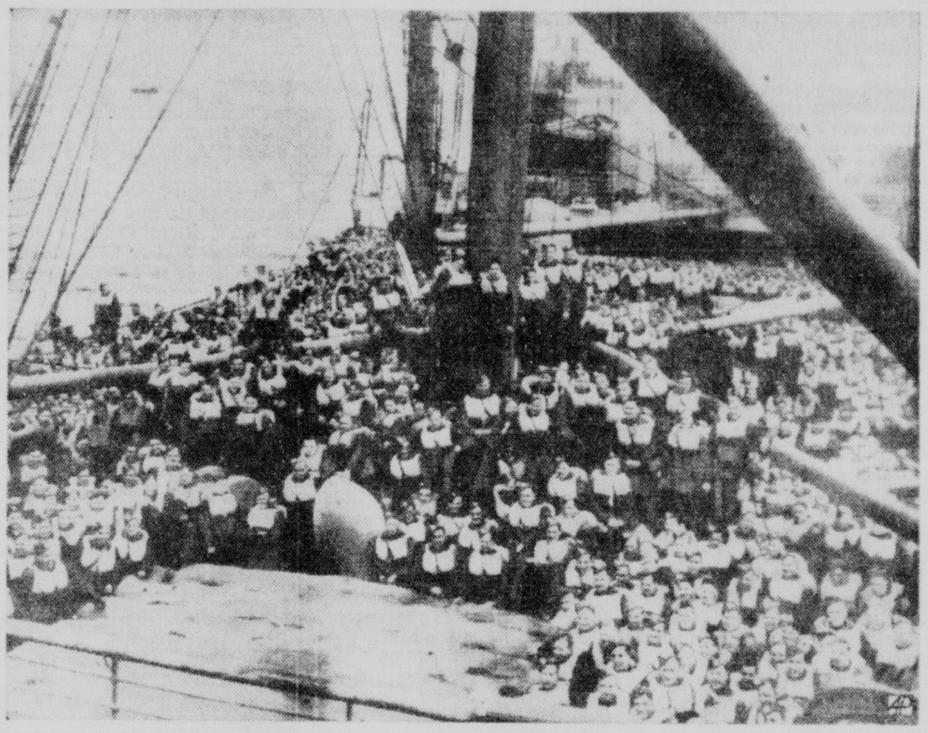

Using a method known as "colonization," he said, the party sent members to obtain employment at Douglas Aircraft and at a Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant. At Douglas Aircraft, a unit of forty members was developed from a "very small colony," he added.

Norwegian Explorer Killed in Action

Stockholm, April 25 (AP)—Captain Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen, out-standing Norwegian airman and explorer, was killed in the first fighting at Oslo's civil airport when Germany invaded Norway, the Norwegian telegraph agency, Norsk Telegrambya, reported today.

Among other exploits, Riiser-Larsen accompanied Roald Amundsen and General Umberto Nobile on their flights to the North Pole.

Georgia Delegates Ask Roosevelt To Seek Third Term

State's Democratic Organization Solidly Behind President

By RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, April 26 (AP)—Georgia's Democratic organization rallied enthusiastically to the third term cause today with the appointment of a national convention delegation which immediately appealed to Mr. Roosevelt to run again.

The delegates—seventy-two in all, who will cast twenty-four votes as a unit-adopted a resolution saying "it would seem as unwise to deprive ourselves of the asset of our army and navy or air force as to deprive this nation of the asset of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Other political developments of the day included:

(1) Secretary Ickes told a press conference that Wendell Willkie, head of the vast Commonwealth and Southern utility system, would make a "very appropriate" candidate for the Republicans, but expressed the opinion President Roosevelt "could defeat him."

(2) "Alfafa Bill" Murray, former governor of Oklahoma, announced that he would run against Representative Rogers, Democrat, for Oklahoma congressman-at-large. His platform, he said, would be the Democratic platform of 1932. It's Roosevelt Given Big Vote in Pa.

Philadelphia, April 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt rolled up nearly a half million votes in Pennsylvania's primary election test vote, Thomas E. Dewey of New York led Republican presidential preference write-ins five to one over Pennsylvania's governor Arthur H. James.

With the count reported tonight from slightly more than half of the state's 8015 districts the president, endorsed for a third term by the Democratic State Committee, had 486,604 votes. His was the only name filed.

Mr. Roosevelt also got 478 write-in votes on the Republican ballot which Dewey topped with 11,897 in tabulations from 2162 districts.

The size of the Roosevelt vote was seized upon quickly by some observers as an indication Pennsylvania's strength may be counted on for the president for a third term.

Republicans countered with statements their primary vote—heavier than the Democrats although there was no stirring contest on the Republican ballot—presaged Republican victory in the fall.

Boy Hit by Car Left To Die under Cottage

Dudley, Pa., Youth Succumbs to Shock and Exposure Near Stoystown

Stoystown, Pa., April 25 (AP) — Coroner F. E. Sass announced tonight a boy, who apparently had been left to die under a summer cottage near here yesterday after being hit by a car, has been tentatively identified as Kenneth Putt, 13, of Dudley, near Huntington, Pa.

Dr. Sass said a sister of the Putt boy, whose name he did not get, called and identified the clothing and physical description. She told the coroner Kenneth had left home last Tuesday with the announced intention of hitch-hiking back to the home of another sister in Duquesne, near Pittsburgh.

Second Sister Calls

The sister in Duquesne also called and said she thought the boy was her brother, the coroner said.

Several boys in Hooversville, about five miles from where the body was found, told police they had played marbles with the boy late Tuesday. He told them he was hitch-hiking to Pittsburgh.

Dr. Sass expressed the opinion

British Explain Norway Retreat

London, April 25 (AP)—The British war office tonight explained the retreat of British troops following a battle at Steinkjer, Norway, as a withdrawal of "an advance detachment" which was threatened with being cut off from its main body by water-borne German reinforcements.

It said the British force suffered "some loss."

The formal statement described yesterday's battle, in which the Germans occupied ruined Steinkjer, principal battleground on the Trondheim front—one of Norway's three main war sectors—as follows:

"An advance detachment of a large force pushed forward toward Trondheim from the direction of Namsos. The Germans, moving reinforcements by water inside Trondheim fjord, threatened to cut off the advance troops from their main body.

"They therefore withdrew but were not followed up by the enemy, who are now reported to be digging in at the head of the fjord. "Our troops suffered some loss."

West Los Angeles, April 25 (AP) — Locked in each other's arms, the bodies of Henry Brown, 38, and his daughter Ida Irene, 19, were found asphyxiated today in an automobile.

Navy To Stretch Huge Nets Across American Harbors

Also Plans To Increase Shooting Range of Three Battleships

Washington, April 25 (AP)—The national defense program moved forward today with plans to seal the nation's vital harbors against marauding submarines in time of war and to increase the shooting range of three battleships.

The navy disclosed it had asked for bids on parts for huge nets to be stretched across harbor mouths the moment war is threatened. The nets, suspended by floats and held in position by chain and anchors, would foul the propellors, rudders or elevating fins of submarines that attempted to steal into the harbors.

The cost of the nets was estimated at $22,000,000, of which $2,000,000 already has been made available. The navy has measured all principal harbors on the two coasts of the continental United States and the strategic outposts at Panama and Hawaii for the nets.

The House Naval Committee recommended passage of legislation to authorize an increase by about four miles in the range of the main batteries of the battleships New York, Texas and Arkansas. Congressional experts say the present range of the three ships is about eight miles, far short of the twelve to

Abandon Roros and Fall Back to Tolga To Meet Expected Allied Attack

Retreat Ascribed to Need To Throw Up Fortifications or To Fear of Being Outflanked; British Break Through at Storen; Get Help from Norwegians

Stockholm, April 26 (Friday) (AP) — The Germans have abandoned Roros, which they seized for a few hours in a dazzling exhibition of lightning war yesterday, and are digging in at Tolga, fifteen miles to the south in the Osterdalen valley, Swedish newspaper correspondents reported early today.

The German retreat was ascribed to the need for hasty fortification, which the terrain at Roros does not favor.

Another cause also appeared to be a British advance south in the Gudbrandsdalen valley to the west, threatening to outflank the Germans' extended positions.

BRITISH AT STOREN

The correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter reported that the British have broken through at Storen, and are now in position there to block any German advance from Roros, or up the Gudbrandsdalen valley to reinforce German-held Trondheim on the west coast.

These British troops, after landing at Andalsnes, south of Trondheim, took a northern route to Storen, where they repulsed a German force from Trondheim, and perhaps prevented their striking a more telling blow at a British force from Namsos to the north of Trondheim.

The British then turned and united with some of the Norwegians retreating through Roros, seventy miles southeast of Trondheim.

Seek Parallel Routes

They appeared headed on parallel routes for Trondheim to prevent a Norwegian-Allied drive to encircle that strategic German base.

But late yesterday the British were reported at Storen, 35 miles southeast of Trondheim, astride the Gudbrandsdalen and Osterdalen valley rail lines that converge there before entering Trondheim.

There was heavy fighting at Tolga last night, with heavy artillery and air forces participating, and Tolga was reported badly bombed.

The Germans, in their advance, apparently were strong enough to brush aside what opposition remained after their planes cleared the way. But they were reported to be in small numbers, leaving but small guard units to hold the line open behind them.

British Swept Back

The British, reinforcing Norwegians at Lillehammer, were swept back thirty miles by the German machine in the advance to Ringebu. The Allies were reported retreating to Otta, thirty more miles north of Rongebu.

Swedish news agency correspondents who reported the British at Storen, ninety airline miles north of Otta and fifty miles northwest of Roros, said both sides were rush-

Food Stamp Plan May Be Extended

O'Conor Would Have It Include Cumberland and Hagerstown

Annapolis, Md., April 25, (AP)—Governor Herbert R. O'Conor today took steps looking forward to extension of the federal government's food stamp plan into other sections of the state.

The governor announced he had instructed J. Milton Patterson, director of the state department of public welfare, to undertake studies to ascertain whether the plan could be set up in several sections of Maryland.

The stamp plan is to be established in Baltimore shortly. It involves the distribution of federal surplus commodities to relief clients who buy orange stamps. For every $1 worth or orange stamps purchased, relief clients are given fifty-cents worth of blue stamps free.

"Large industrial centers should have the benefit of the plan," O'Conor asserted. "It helps the farmer because there is more consumption of his commodities and it provides better nutrition to relief clients."

The chief executive mentioned

De Valera Probes Castle Bombing

Dublin, April 25 (AP) — Premier De Valera took personal charge tonight of investigation of the bombing, allegedly by the outlaw Irish Republican army, of the Dublin castle headquarters of the Irish (Eire) government's special detective branch.

Five detectives were injured, none seriously, in the morning's blast, caused by detonation of either a time bomb or a land mine. It threw tons of debris—masonry, costly blue and gold stained glass memorial windows — into the courtyard of the old castle, in the heart of the Irish capital.

Authorities believed that the deaths last week of two I. R. A. hunger strikers, in prison in Eire, incited the bombing as a retaliation against the government and police.

Damage to the Chapel Royal, where the Memorial windows were shattered, was described as irreparable. Only last week St. Patrick's banqueting hall, partially wrecked today, was the scene of a dinner given by DeValera for United States Minister David Gray. Birmingham tower also was damaged.

The families of several castle caretakers narrowly escaped death when the bombs went off.

O'Conor Would Have It Include Cumberland and Hagerstown

Annapolis, Md., April 25, (AP)—Governor Herbert R. O'Conor today took steps looking forward to extension of the federal government's food stamp plan into other sections of the state.

The governor announced he had instructed J. Milton Patterson, director of the state department of public welfare, to undertake studies to ascertain whether the plan could be set up in several sections of Maryland.

The stamp plan is to be established in Baltimore shortly. It involves the distribution of federal surplus commodities to relief clients who buy orange stamps. For every $1 worth or orange stamps purchased, relief clients are given fifty-cents worth of blue stamps free.

"Large industrial centers should have the benefit of the plan," O'Conor asserted. "It helps the farmer because there is more consumption of his commodities and it provides better nutrition to relief clients."

Abandon Roros and Fall Back to Tolga To Meet Expected Allied Attack

Retreat Ascribed to Need To Throw Up Fortifications or To Fear of Being Outflanked; British Break Through at Storen; Get Help from Norwegians

Stockholm, April 26 (Friday) (AP) — The Germans have abandoned Roros, which they seized for a few hours in a dazzling exhibition of lightning war yesterday, and are digging in at Tolga, fifteen miles to the south in the Osterdalen valley, Swedish newspaper correspondents reported early today.

The German retreat was ascribed to the need for hasty fortification, which the terrain at Roros does not favor.

Another cause also appeared to be a British advance south in the Gudbrandsdalen valley to the west, threatening to outflank the Germans' extended positions.

BRITISH AT STOREN

The correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter reported that the British have broken through at Storen, and are now in position there to block any German advance from Roros, or up the Gudbrandsdalen valley to reinforce German-held Trondheim on the west coast.

These British troops, after landing at Andalsnes, south of Trondheim, took a northern route to Storen, where they repulsed a German force from Trondheim, and perhaps prevented their striking a more telling blow at a British force from Namsos to the north of Trondheim.

The British then turned and united with some of the Norwegians retreating through Roros, seventy miles southeast of Trondheim.

Seek Parallel Routes

They appeared headed on parallel routes for Trondheim to prevent a Norwegian-Allied drive to encircle that strategic German base.

But late yesterday the British were reported at Storen, 35 miles southeast of Trondheim, astride the Gudbrandsdalen and Osterdalen valley rail lines that converge there before entering Trondheim.

There was heavy fighting at Tolga last night, with heavy artillery and air forces participating, and Tolga was reported badly bombed.

The Germans, in their advance, apparently were strong enough to brush aside what opposition remained after their planes cleared the way. But they were reported to be in small numbers, leaving but small guard units to hold the line open behind them.

British Swept Back

The British, reinforcing Norwegians at Lillehammer, were swept back thirty miles by the German machine in the advance to Ringebu. The Allies were reported retreating to Otta, thirty more miles north of Rongebu.

Swedish news agency correspondents who reported the British at Storen, ninety airline miles north of Otta and fifty miles northwest of Roros, said both sides were rush-

De Valera Probes Castle Bombing

Dublin, April 25 (AP) — Premier De Valera took personal charge tonight of investigation of the bombing, allegedly by the outlaw Irish Republican army, of the Dublin castle headquarters of the Irish (Eire) government's special detective branch.

Five detectives were injured, none seriously, in the morning's blast, caused by detonation of either a time bomb or a land mine. It threw tons of debris—masonry, costly blue and gold stained glass memorial windows — into the courtyard of the old castle, in the heart of the Irish capital.

Authorities believed that the deaths last week of two I. R. A. hunger strikers, in prison in Eire, incited the bombing as a retaliation against the government and police.

Damage to the Chapel Royal, where the Memorial windows were shattered, was described as irreparable. Only last week, St. Patrick's banqueting hall, partially wrecked today, was the scene of a dinner given by DeValera for United States Minister David Gray. Birmingham tower also was damaged.

The families of several castle caretakers narrowly escaped death when the bombs went off.

Fugitive Steel King's Letters Made Public in Magazine

New York, April 25 (AP)—"Turn back as long as it is still possible," Hitler was urged last December by Fritz Thyssen, German steel and coal king who financed the Nazi party and made possible Hitler's rise to power.

"Your policy will terminate in a finis Germania," he said.

Thyssen's communication to the man he joined forces with willingly when the Nazi party was young, is one of a number of hitherto unpublished letters from Thyssen to Hitler which appear in the current issue of Life magazine.

American Tells How 500 Germans Seized Trondheim

Capt. William McHale in Harbor During Arrival of Nazis

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

New York, April 25 (AP)—Capt. William McHale brought the little American freighter Normacsea safely home from Norway today and fished from his duffel bag a bald eye-witness account of how 500 Germans had taken Trondheim without expending an ounce of powder.

He thus ended one of the strangest adventures of the present war—a voyage that began two months and eight days ago and made the Mormacsea, a 4,955-tonner, an uncomfortable berthmate of German warcraft which prowled into the Trondheim harbor before dawn April 9 and accomplished an almost unprecedented invasion while the city slept.

Refused to Aid Germans

He disclosed, too, that the Germans had sought to tie up alongside his own vessel that morning and thus to use the Mormacsea as a sort of bridge to land troops on the docks, and that they had respected his refusal to have any part of it.

Asked how the invaders had acted, the British-born skipper said serenely:

"They behaved very quietly and you would never have thought they were Germans at all. They were mostly young boys eighteen to twenty years old. Everybody seemed to know exactly where to go."

The Mormacsea, of the American Scantic lines, brought back $4,500,000 in Swedish gold—a cache of wealth that was one of McHale's great concerns later lest he lose it to belligerents in Norway. Also brought back was food which had been intended for Finnish relief. The gold was picked up at Bergen while the Mormacsea was unloading a cargo of planes and machine guns for Sweden.

Another Ship Coming

Just after her arrival here, another American vessel that had been in Bergen—the Flying Fish of the Moore-McCormack lines—radioed that it had left and "all is well with crew."

McHale served with the British mine-sweeping forces in the world war and was four times decorated for bravery before becoming a naturalized American citizens some years ago.

Black Powder No Longer Used in Willow Grove Mine

St. Clairsville, O., April 25 (AP)—A federal report blaming black blasting powder for the Willow Grove mine disaster prompted an announcement today that the explosive had not been used since the catastrophe occurred.

Secretary Ickes said that the March 16 explosion, which killed 72 men, was set off when black powder was fired in the removal of coal.

The Hanna coal company, owner of the mine, said it had adopted an explosion of the carbon dioxide type which creates no flame. It also is experimenting with a hydraulic process of breaking loose coal without explosives.

Secretary Ickes reported that the use of black blasting powder has been condemned by the United States department of mines for years, but W. H. McWilliams, public relations counsel for Hanna Coal, declared that Ohio permitted its use in non-gaseous mines, such as Willow Grove.

Ickes said that "black blasting powder was a hazard in any coal mine," and in the report recommended that "only permissible explosives be used."

"Permissible explosives are as dangerous as any other kind," McWilliams said.

The coroner, who called the death the "most brutal" in his experience, attributed it to shock and exposure, saying cuts and bruises on the body would not have been fatal.

Sass said the boy had died about eight hours before the body was found. A trail of blood led from the highway to the cabins.

The boy apparently had been flung beneath the elevated porch of one of the cottages, but later revived sufficiently to crawl or roll into the open where he lay in full view of hundreds of motorists who drove past during the day.

Roosevelt Declares Intention of U. S. To Keep Out of Norway's War

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Warm Springs, Ga., April 25 (AP) (AP)—A presidential proclamation added Norway today to the list of European belligerents and another declared the intention of the United States to remain neutral in the Scandinavian nation's war with Germany.

Automatically, President Roosevelt's action put Norway on a "cash and carry" basis so far as obtaining war supplies in the United States was concerned. She must pay cash for any such supplies and carry them away in non-American vessels.

Germany, France and England already are on a cash and carry basis, although the Allies superior sea power permits them alone to augment their own war materials with purchases in this country.

The proclamations signed here today took no note of Germany's invasion of Denmark, and the white house had nothing to say about the chances that similar documents pertaining to Denmark would be issued.

A third proclamation, following the precedents invoked last fall when the European conflict began, barred Norwegian submarines from American ports and territorial waters.

Backing up his proclamations, the chief executive prescribed in an executive order regulations for enforcing the neutrality of the United States.

Earlier this month, the chief executive had extended the "combat zone," which American vessels are forbidden to enter, to include all waters adjacent to Norway. He also took action to insure that Norwegian capital, credits and property in this country would not fall into German hands.

Abandon

ing reinforcements into central Norway.

The Germans are landing large numbers of troops every day at Oslo, it was reported by reliable Norwegian sources, and rushing them by air and motor to the Trondheim and northern fronts.

The advances to Roros and Ringebu apparently also are for the partial purpose of reinforcing the Germans in Trondheim.

The Allied aim is to isolate German-held Trondheim with forces moving up from Andalsnes, debarkation point about 10 miles to the south, and from Namsos, about the same distance north.

Germans Take Steinkjer

The Germans say they have, already, smashed this effort by victory at Steinkjer, north of Trondheim.

Germany's two-pronged drive north and west across narrow Norway is pointed, moreover, between the two British forces.

Thus, if the northbound Germans close the seventy-mile gap still separating them from their forces on the coast ,they will have accomplished three significant aims:

1. The German hold on Trondheim, challenged by Allied forces moving south from Namsos and north from Andalsness, will be vastly strengthened;
2. The Allies will be prevented from establishing communication with inland Norway along the railroad lines radiating from Trondheim;
3. Germany will have bisected Norway with a line stretched from the Swedish frontier in the southeast, below Oslo, to Trondheim with the most important areas of the invaded kingdom in Nazi hands. They already claim complete domination of southern Norway up to the port of Stavenger.

But the hardest part of the job still lies ahead.

The whole strategy on both sides seems to be a fast race of outflanking movements on which, foreign military observers believe, may turn the whole war in Norway.

Germans Superior in Air

The Germans' advantage is superiority in the air.

The Allies' advantage is the topography of Norway from Roros to the sea.

The region consists of narrow, canal-like valleys between rugged mountains and is more easily defended than the area to the south.

To reach Roros, the Germans had to shove thirty miles north of Lillehammer, "gateway" to Oslo eighty-five miles north of the occupied Norwegian captial.

British acknowledged that Allied forces, no match for the German pressure, had been compelled to withdraw from that area.

British and Norwegian forces fifty miles north of Ringebu, at Dombas, were bombed heavily.

Overnight, the Germans had covered a distance of 125 miles from Orphus, advancing under the protection of aerial barrages which laid waste much of the Glomma valley region

German progress above Trondheim, however, was reported to have halted for the time being slightly north of Steinkjer, on the innermost part of Trondheim fjord.

The Allies, who suffered heavily here for lack of anti-aircraft guns, are said now to have been supplied with them.

The Germans, on the other hand, having captured Steinkjer, have moved beyond the range of protection from the guns of three Nazi war vessels in Trondheim fjord.

The Germans are relying heavily on air transport while they try to complete the final link of their land communications.

Allies To Place Orders for 4,000 American Planes

Announce Contracts for Aircraft and Parts To Cost $2,000,000

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

Washington, April 25. (AP)—Great Britain and France have swelled their pending orders for American war planes to well beyond 4,000, it was indicated today by an announcement that the Allies in the last two weeks have placed aircraft and engine contracts aggregating $200,000,000.

The announcement came from officials of the Allied purchasing mission who said large quantities of speedy Curtiss and Bell pursuit planes, Douglas Bombers and engines of three types were included.

The latest purchases, it was estimated by airmen in touch with the negotiations, represent nearly 2,000 planes and an undisclosed larger number of motors.

Arthur B. Purvis, chairman of the mission, and Rene Pleven, French representative, said the cost of the engines included facilities to produce them. They explained that the Allies were financing factory expansions necessitated by the orders.

The estimate that pending orders have been increased to more than 4,000 was based on official figures showing that American plants on March 1 were working on 1,363 military aircraft for Britain and 1,371 for France.

Talking to reporters after conferring with Secretary Morgenthau at the treasury, Mr. Purvis said that the army had now released for export all the late type aircraft which the Allies had sought. The latest, he said, was the long-range B-24 consolidated bomber.

The Allied mission has projected aircraft orders of $1,000,000,000.

Methodists Oppose Diplomatic Accord With the Vatican

Atlantic City, N. J., April 25 (AP)—Delegates to the general conference of the new Methodist Church broke into applause for five minutes today when they heard an objection of the council of bishops to any possible diplomatic relations between the United States and the Vatican.

Bishop Francis John McConnell of New York read to 776 conference delegates the quadrennial message of the bishops which praised President Roosevelt's interest in world peace and added:

"But we do deplore and must firmly resist any union of church and state, and are and will be unalterably opposed to any establishment of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the United States."

The message did not mention the name of President Roosevelt's personal peace envoy to the Vatican, Myron C. Taylor.

The bishops praised the "inherent decency" of present-day youth and asserted this new generation had been under-rated morally. They protested against sale of American war supplies to "any aggressor nation."

Fake Census Taker Convicted of Assault

Upper Marlboro, Md., April 25 (AP) Sentence will be passed probably tomorrow, court attaches said, on John N. Ellis, 21, of Mt. Rainer, Md., convicted by a Circuit Court jury yesterday of assault with intent to rape.

Edith Hartzer, 23, of Washington, D. C., testified that Ellis, representing himself as a census taker, came to the house of her sister, Mrs. George Weed, Jr., in the Schweirs subdivision while the Weeds were away and she was alone.

Ellis asked a few questions, she testified, then said he was not a census taker, and pursued her into the kitchen.

Miss Hartzer said she broke away from him, ran out of the house, and hailed William E. Hawes of Cheverly, Md., who was driving by.

Prince Georges county Policeman Henry C. Briscoe said Ellis fled into a woods nearby, but surrendered later.

O'Conor To Hold Many Hearings on Liquor Licenses

Will Listen to Stories of Many Disqualified by Law

Annapolis, Md., April 25 (AP)—Several hundred liquor-license holders in Maryland who are disqualified from having their licenses renewed under a new legislative enactment sighted relief today.

Governor Herbert R. O'Conor announced that beginning Saturday he would hold a series of "pardon" hearings for those ineligible licenseholders whose permits expire May 1.

The new law prohibits the issuance of license to persons who have been convicted of violations of the liquor and gambling laws. It operates retroactively for a period of five years. Consequently many persons who held licenses before the law became effective, now are disqualified from having their permits renewed because of prior convictions..

Governor O'Conor said he would grant pardons only in the "worthier" cases. He assured that some of the license-holders had convictions against them as the result of test cases they instituted under the liquor and gambling statutes.

A special pardon commission, composed of Henry M. Moser, parole director; Clinton McSherry, of the State Liquor Board; Delano Ames, of the Baltimore city liquor board and D. W. Carter, of the State Tax Commission, has recommended a series of cases to the governor for pardon.

The hearings in the cases are expected to consume the remaining time between now and May 1, the expiration date of the license.

Satko in Trouble Over His "Ark"

Seattle, April 25. (AP) — Retiring Paul Satko, who built his own "ark" to seek a beter chance for his family in Alaska, stood helplessly by tonight as a bitter controversy arrayed city against city and involved courts of four judges.

The jobless Richmond, Va., machinist displaced the European war as the big news in Seattle—where he was arrested and five of his seven children seized by juvenile authorities—and in Tacoma—whence the ark sailed Sunday and whence came committees intention a "rescue."

As the courts delayed a decision on whether Stako's clumsy vessel was safe for the ambitions 2,000-mile voyage to an Alaskan homestead site, the slow-spoken and philosophical amateur mariner told interviewers he was inclined to spurn any proffered assistance which would preclude carrying out his objective.

Satko's arrest for resisting an officer and the seizure of his children yesterday followed a complaint that the vessel was unsafe. The ark had made only eight miles its first day out, then went aground Tuesday while hugging the shore outside Seattle harbor.

Green Working on Plan To Provide Jobs for Millions

Washington, April 25 (AP) — William Green aroused the interest of the Monoply Committee today with a disclosure that the AFL is working on a plan to increase national income by $10,000,000,000 a year and to create jobs for most of the unemployed.

Reticent about exact details, the federation president said his organization was "now giving careful study to a proposal which after further analysis and consideration I hope I will be in a position to place before the country as a practical program for reemployment and as a realistic approach to our immediate problem."

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Events are shaping to force a new and crucial test of the moot question of the Allied-German war—air versus sea power—in the narrow waters of Norway's Trondheim fjord.

Possession of that water corridor which extends more than half way across Norway's slender waistline is of vital consequence to both sides, strategically and psychologically. It is the first objective of Allied troop landings north and south of Trondheim, ancient seat of Norse kings.

An Allied effort to "pinch off" Trondheim has been balked at least temporarily, however, by German repulse of the British forces driving southward from Namos to round the head of the fjord and effect a junction with Allied forces moving up from Andalsnes. Quick isolation of the Nazi invaders holding Trondheim and presumably the shore batteries commanding the entrance to the fjord was the obvious purpose of Allied strategists.

Defeat Major Setback

German defeat of Britain's initial attempt to grip Trondheim in a vise is more than a minor Allied setback. At this stage, time is vitally important. With the northern jaw of the Allied pincer attack blocked at Steinkjer, opportunity is afforded for German relief columns from the Oslo area to reach Trondheim.

Consequently, although Allied spokesmen dismiss the German success at Steinkjer as a minor incident, it appears a definite setback to Allied hopes of quickly overcoming Nazi forces in and about Trondheim and converting the fjord itself to Allied use. As a major base for landing large forces, heavy equipment and all the impedimenta of modern war, Trondheim would be invaluable to the Allies.

British Action Expected

For that reason, every argument seems to point toward prompt Allied reaction to the check received at Steinkjer, and to the British navy as the weapon to be called into action.

British air bombing of the German-held fortifications at the mouth of Trondheim fjord may forecast a naval effort, against all the risk of Nazi air bombs, mines, and the German warships known to be in the fjord, to blast a direct way by water to Trondheim before speeding German relief columns can reach it.

There is every indication that both London and Paris and the Swedish government, fearing German invasion, are counting heavily on Russian unwillingness to be drawn into the conflict. That is the implication of revived efforts in London to work out new trade agreements with Moscow.

The developing battle of Trondheim fjord may prove the way to the outcome of the Allied-German war. Franco-British leadership cannot draw back now, whatever the risks of naval action in such close waters.

Navy To Stretch

fifteen mile range of other battleships of the fleet.

Meanwhile, the argument over an increased fleet strength ran on.

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee asserted in a radio address that the United States is "woefully weak" in naval power, compared with the present sea strength and building programs of other nations. He said he favored an eleven percent expansion in the authorized strength of the fleet, proposed in a House-approved bill now pending before Walsh's committee.

ing reinforcements into central Norway.

The Germans are landing large numbers of troops every day at Oslo, it was reported by reliable Norwegian sources, and rushing them by air and motor to the Trondheim and northern fronts.

The advances to Roros and Ringebu apparently also are for the partial purpose of reinforcing the Germans in Trondheim.

The Allied aim is to isolate German-held Trondheim with forces moving up from Andalsnes, debarkation point about 10 miles to the south, and from Namsos, about the same distance north.

Germans Take Steinkjer

The Germans say they have, already, smashed this effort by victory at Steinkjer, north of Trondheim.

Germany's two-pronged drive north and west across narrow Norway is pointed, moreover, between the two British forces.

Thus, if the northbound Germans close the seventy-mile gap still separating them from their forces on the coast ,they will have accomplished three significant aims:

1. The German hold on Trondheim, challenged by Allied forces moving south from Namsos and north from Andalsness, will be vastly strengthened;

2. The Allies will be prevented from establishing communication with inland Norway along the railroad lines radiating from Trondheim;

3. Germany will have bisected Norway with a line stretched from the Swedish frontier in the southeast, below Oslo, to Trondheim with the most important areas of the invaded kingdom in Nazi hands. They already claim complete domination of southern Norway up to the port of Stavenger.

But the hardest part of the job still lies ahead.

The whole strategy on both sides seems to be a fast race of outflanking movements on which, foreign military observers believe, may turn the whole war in Norway.

Germans Superior in Air

The Germans' advantage is superiority in the air.

The Allies' advantage is the topography of Norway from Roros to the sea.

The region consists of narrow, canal-like valleys between rugged mountains and is more easily defended than the area to the south.

To reach Roros, the Germans had to shove thirty miles north of Lillehammer, "gateway" to Oslo eighty-five miles north of the occupied Norwegian captial.

British acknowledged that Allied forces, no match for the German pressure, had been compelled to withdraw from that area.

British and Norwegian forces fifty miles north of Ringebu, at Dombas, were bombed heavily.

Overnight, the Germans had covered a distance of 125 miles from Orphus, advancing under the protection of aerial barrages which laid waste much of the Glomma valley region.

German progress above Trondheim, however, was reported to have halted for the time being slightly north of Steinkjer, on the innermost part of Trondheim fjord.

The Allies, who suffered heavily here for lack of anti-aircraft guns, are said now to have been supplied with them.

The Germans, on the other hand, having captured Steinkjer, have moved beyond the range of protection from the guns of three Nazi war vessels in Trondheim fjord.

The Germans are relying heavily on air transport while they try to complete the final link of their land communications.

Goering Regrets Death of Losey

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Field Marshal Goering, commander of the German air forces, sent a personal expression of regret and sympathy today over the death of Captain Robert H. Losey, American army military observer in Norway, who was killed in a Nazi bombing raid.

Allies To Place Orders for 4,000 American Planes

Announce Contracts for Aircraft and Parts To Cost $2,000,000

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

Washington, April 25. (AP)—Great Britain and France have swelled their pending orders for American war planes to well beyond 4,000, it was indicated today by an announcement that the Allies in the last two weeks have placed aircraft and engine contracts aggregating $200,000,000.

The announcement came from officials of the Allied purchasing mission who said large quantities of speedy Curtiss and Bell pursuit planes, Douglas Bombers and engines of three types were included.

The latest purchases, it was estimated by airmen in touch with the negotiations, represent nearly 2,000 planes and an undisclosed larger number of motors.

Arthur B. Purvis, chairman of the mission, and Rene Pleven, French representative, said the cost of the engines included facilities to produce them. They explained that the Allies were financing factory expansions necessitated by the orders.

The estimate that pending orders have been increased to more than 4,000 was based on official figures showing that American plants on March 1 were working on 1,363 military aircraft for Britain and 1,371 for France.

Talking to reporters after conferring with Secretary Morgenthau at the treasury, Mr. Purvis said that the army had now released for export all the late type aircraft which the Allies had sought. The latest, he said, was the long-range B-24 consolidated bomber.

The Allied mission has projected aircraft orders of $1,000,000,000.

Methodists Oppose Diplomatic Accord With the Vatican

Atlantic City, N. J., April 25 (AP)—Delegates to the general conference of the new Methodist Church broke into applause for five minutes today when they heard an objection of the council of bishops to any possible diplomatic relations between the United States and the Vatican.

Bishop Francis John McConnell of New York read to 776 conference delegates the quadrennial message of the bishops which praised President Roosevelt's interest in world peace and added:

"But we do deplore and must firmly resist any union of church and state, and are and will be unalterably opposed to any establishment of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the United States."

The message did not mention the name of President Roosevelt's personal peace envoy to the Vatican, Myron C. Taylor.

The bishops praised the "inherent decency" of present-day youth and asserted this new generation had been under-rated morally. They protested against sale of American war supplies to "any aggressor nation."

Fake Census Taker Convicted of Assault

Upper Marlboro, Md., April 25 (AP) Sentence will be passed probably tomorrow, court attaches said, on John N. Ellis, 21, of Mt. Rainer, Md., convicted by a Circuit Court jury yesterday of assault with intent to rape.

Edith Hartzer, 23, of Washington, D. C., testified that Ellis, representing himself as a census taker, came to the house of her sister, Mrs. George Weed, Jr., in the Schweirs subdivision while the Weeds were away and she was alone.

Ellis asked a few questions, she testified, then said he was not a census taker, and pursued her into the kitchen.

Miss Hartzer said she broke away from him, ran out of the house, and hailed William E. Hawes of Cheverly, Md., who was driving by.

Prince Georges county Policeman Henry C. Briscoe said Ellis fled into a woods nearby, but surrendered later.

Rumania Frees 1,000 Political Prisoners

Bucharest, Rumania, April 25. (AP)—The Rumanian government tonight decreed amnesty for about 1,000 political prisoners.

They include all persons who are held for belonging to illegal military organizations.

The decree supplements King Carol's recent reconciliation with the pro-Nazi Iron Guard, all imprisoned members of which have been freed, and is designated to further unite all elements of the nation.

O'Conor To Hold Many Hearings on Liquor Licenses

Will Listen to Stories of Many Disqualified by Law

Annapolis, Md., April 25 (AP)—Several hundred liquor-license holders in Maryland who are disqualified from having their licenses renewed under a new legislative enactment sighted relief today.

Governor Herbert R. O'Conor announced that beginning Saturday he would hold a series of "pardon" hearings for those ineligible licenseholders whose permits expire May 1.

The new law prohibits the issuance of license to persons who have been convicted of violations of the liquor and gambling laws. It operates retroactively for a period of five years. Consequently many persons who held licenses before the law became effective, now are disqualified from having their permits renewed because of prior convictions.

Governor O'Conor said he would grant pardons only in the "worthier" cases. He assured that some of the license-holders had convictions against them as the result of test cases they instituted under the liquor and gambling statutes.

A special pardon commission, composed of Henry M. Moser, parole director; Clinton McSherry, of the State Liquor Board; Delano Ames, of the Baltimore city liquor board and D. W. Carter, of the State Tax Commission, has recommended a series of cases to the governor for pardon.

The hearings in the cases are expected to consume the remaining time between now and May 1, the expiration date of the license.

Satko in Trouble Over His "Ark"

Seattle, April 25. (AP) — Retiring Paul Satko, who built his own "ark" to seek a beter chance for his family in Alaska, stood helplessly by tonight as a bitter controversy arrayed city against city and involved courts of four judges.

The jobless Richmond, Va., machinist displaced the European war as the big news in Seattle—where he was arrested and five of his seven children seized by juvenile authorities—and in Tacoma—whence the ark sailed Sunday and whence came committees intention a "rescue."

As the courts delayed a decision on whether Stako's clumsy vessel was safe for the ambitions 2,000-mile voyage to an Alaskan homestead site, the slow-spoken and philosophical amateur mariner told interviewers he was inclined to spurn any proffered assistance which would preclude carrying out his objective.

Satko's arrest for resisting an officer and the seizure of his children yesterday followed a complaint that the vessel was unsafe. The ark had made only eight miles its first day out, then went aground Tuesday while hugging the shore outside Seattle harbor.

Green Working on Plan To Provide Jobs for Millions

Washington, April 25 (AP) — William Green aroused the interest of the Monoply Committee today with a disclosure that the AFL is working on a plan to increase national income by $10,000,000,000 a year and to create jobs for most of the unemployed.

Reticent about exact details, the federation president said his organization was "now giving careful study to a proposal which after further analysis and consideration I hope I will be in a position to place before the country as a practical program for reemployment and as a realistic approach to our immediate problem."

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Events are shaping to force a new and crucial test of the moot question of the Allied-German war—air versus sea power—in the narrow waters of Norway's Trondheim fjord.

Possession of that water corridor which extends more than half way across Norway's slender waistline is of vital consequence to both sides, strategically and psychologically. It is the first objective of Allied troop landings north and south of Trondheim, ancient seat of Norse kings.

An Allied effort to "pinch off" Trondheim has been balked at least temporarily, however, by German repulse of the British forces driving southward from Namos to round the head of the fjord and effect a junction with Allied forces moving up from Andalsnes. Quick isolation of the Nazi invaders holding Trondheim and presumably the shore batteries commanding the entrance to the fjord was the obvious purpose of Allied strategists.

Defeat Major Setback

German defeat of Britain's initial attempt to grip Trondheim in a vise is more than a minor Allied setback. At this stage, time is vitally important. With the northern jaw of the Allied pincer attack blocked at Steinkjer, opportunity is afforded for German relief columns from the Oslo area to reach Trondheim.

Consequently, although Allied spokesmen dismiss the German success at Steinkjer as a minor incident, it appears a definite setback to Allied hopes of quickly overcoming Nazi forces in and about Trondheim and converting the fjord itself to Allied use. As a major base for landing large forces, heavy equipment and all the impedimenta of modern war, Trondheim would be invaluable to the Allies.

British Action Expected

For that reason, every argument seems to point toward prompt Allied reaction to the check received at Steinkjer, and to the British navy as the weapon to be called into action.

British air bombing of the German-held fortifications at the mouth of Trondheim fjord may forecast a naval effort, against all the risk of Nazi air bombs, mines, and the German warships known to be in the fjord, to blast a direct way by water to Trondheim before speeding German relief columns can reach it.

There is every indication that both London and Paris and the Swedish government, fearing German invasion, are counting heavily on Russian unwillingness to be drawn into the conflict. That is the implication of revived efforts in London to work out new trade agreements with Moscow.

The developing battle of Trondheim fjord may prove the way to the outcome of the Allied-German war. Franco-British leadership cannot draw back now, whatever the risks of naval action in such close waters.

Navy To Stretch

fifteen mile range of other battleships of the fleet.

Meanwhile, the argument over an increased fleet strength ran on.

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee asserted in a radio address that the United States is "woefully weak" in naval power, compared with the present sea strength and building programs of other nations. He said he favored an eleven percent expansion in the authorized strength of the fleet, proposed in a House-approved bill now pending before Walsh's committee.

Germany Alarme Over Allied Mov To Sway Swed

Largest Scandinav State Reported unde Pressure

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

Berlin, April 25 (AP) — St moved tonight into the cen German diplomatic attention.

Authorized sources expresse apprehension that the larges dinavian state, and the on still, neutral, is under pressure Great Britain and France.

These persons said categ that Germany has no desi Sweden. Nevertheless:

"We must be prepared f eventualities, of course," they ed.

Thus Sweden was put int man diplomatic perspective the official news agency and high command were stressing they said was the British bo of "open, undefended towns military importance," and in that this sort of thing will paid, "bomb for bomb," shal continue.

The open towns which the ans say were bombed are a in Schleswig-Holstein and a sort on the island of Sylt. (denied the charges).

Otherwise, German officia ces drew a northern military which showed German rein ments racing north toward heim on two railroads while man troops sealed Steinkjer, er north, by occupying im roads and passes; strong Al tachments pressing the Ge north of Narvik while British ships toss shells into that port; German planes bombi lied transport columns and s ing the Norwegian main arm Dombus, railway junction which the northbound Germa inforcements are approachin

At sea the Germans claim sinking, by air bombs, of a minesweeper, firing of a d er and the hitting of two ports with heavy bombs off way's west coast. In the Sko other planes were reported t scattered a fleet of French d ers, sunk two submarins and British cruiser.

Local Telephone Service Is In Need of Improvement

MANY CUMBERLANDERS are in a state of exasperation over the local telephone service, and as complaints about it are widespread it appears that something ought to be done about it.

Chief among these complaints is that the wrong numbers are too often rung. This is said to be the case both with residence and business telephones. In the case of resident telephones, it is a nuisance, particularly when the unsought calls are received in early morning hours as householders are trying to get their well-earned rest. But frequently it is more than a nuisance in the case of business telephones, as it serves to interrupt work and at times results in the loss of business.

Other complaints received by The News are that call ringing is often inexcusably long, that delay is experienced in obtaining connections, that there is also undue delay in operator response to rings, that established connections are frequently broken and that where multiple telephones are used there is undue delay in having calls transferred from one to another.

The complaints are thus so varied as to indicate that steps are in order for an improvement of the service, before local subscribers are moved to file formal complaints with the state public service commission.

It is to be hoped the telephone company will look into this situation and act accordingly. Just what is the root of the trouble, The News does not presume to say. Some subscribers who have had difficulties with the telephone service point to an apparent lack of unity of managerial operation, alleging that authority is split and divided among different branches of the utility in such manner as to cause conflict in general operation and a consequent impairment of the service it is supposed to render the public.

If that is the case, the fault does not lie wholly with local management but with the set-up of it designed by district headquarters, or the parent organization. There should be centralized authority in the local management to the end that proper service is rendered to the public, not only with respect to the transmission of telephone messages but also with respect to other services of installation, upkeep, repair and the like, in which the division of authority and lack of co-ordination seem to obtain.

If the unsatisfactory service is the result of an unwise attempt at economy through the employment of too few operatives, then that should be corrected, inasmuch as the telephone rates are supposed to be sufficient to cover all of that.

It is to be hoped that immediate steps will be taken to improve the local telephone service, inasmuch as so many of the activities of everyday life in all its various phases are now dependant upon this important public convenience or, it may more properly be said, public necessity.

Americans Must Keep Cool And Maintain Neutrality

THE SPREAD of war in Europe makes it more than ever necessary for Americans to keep cool and help their government to do likewise.

The collision of great powers with interests all over the earth creates a situation in which neutrals must act warily. The United States, as the greatest neutral, is compelled to make it nakedly plain that its rights must be respected.

The corollary of a demand for respect of its rights is a punctilious respect for the rights of all belligerents.

Whatever the sympathies of individuals, the conduct of the government of the United States must be rigidly neutral if this country is to keep out of war.

Firmness is exacting respect for its rights and equal firmness in maintaining strict impartiality and official friendship with all nations can keep this country out of war.

Such a course makes it impossible for a belligerent to find a valid grievance against the United States.

The war strength of the United States, actual and potential, warns all nations not to pick a quarrel with this country.

With no just grievance, and facing a power that can annihilate it if it wantonly picks a quarrel, no foreign nation, however desperate it may be, is likely to risk war with the United States.

The war in Europe is not to be umpired by the United States. The fighters must fight and then make peace as best they can. The war-makers will be the peace-makers. Neutrals must keep hands off.

Sentiment Favors Regulation Of the Regulators

IT IS FOOLISH to attempt to deny that public opinion is strongly in favor of enactment of the Logan-Walters bill, or legislation having the same objective.

The measure subjects to review in the federal courts the rules governing administration of the boards and agencies. Those headed by ardent New Dealers — appointed by President Roosevelt at the instance of the inner group around him—are aimed at. The Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Trade Commission and the Federal Reserve Board are excepted. But more than 100 bureaus or independent boards are affected.

The temper of public opinion was reflected by the better than two-thirds vote for the bill in the House of Representatives, given by a coalition of over half the House Democrats and all but two Republicans. After its passage by the Senate by acclamation last year, President Roosevelt intervened, the New Dealers got busy and the same measure was recalled for reconsideration.

A large favorable Senate vote this year is assured, unless administration pressure prevents a vote by locking the bill up in committee.

Little can be said for the theory of delaying and hampering executive business by probably innumerable lawsuits. Answer is made, quite sufficiently under the circumstances, that this is the only method yet devised for remedying the injustices done by the New Dealers exercising arbitrary powers and promoting their favorite causes and interests. The bill was drawn by members of the American Bar Association and is generally supported by the lawyers.

There would be no serious thought of such legislation if it could be believed that the New Deal had wielded its great new power fairly. As it is, that belief does not exist and action "regulating the regulators" appears to be imminently near.

Suggestion Is Offered By a Conservationist

A READER of The News who is interested in the conservation of wild life hands in a suggestion, which is hereby passed on to other readers.

The suggestion was prompted by recent announcements of the distribution of game stock in different sections of the state by state conservation agents.

Yet, it is complained, many urban residents who are bothered by stray cats, and who at times are the victims of a sort of surprise party by multiple blessed events on the part of the strays, will take the newly-born offspring and the mother cats out into the woods and turn them loose in order to get rid of them.

Thus the cats are given opportunity to lose their domesticity and become wild by reason of the necessity of preying upon small wild game and birds in order to survive. That, it is declared, is offsetting much of the good work of restocking done by the state conservation agents.

The remedy suggested is that persons who are annoyed by stray cats should call the city Health department at City Hall with a request for the services of the city humane officer, who will collect the stray animals and take them to the city pound.

This brings up the subject as to such city official. Many do not seem to know about him. For their benefit, it is hereby noted that such official is Dr. F. W. McCallum and that he will respond to needed service at the request of any citizen who will call him on telephone 2193, giving him the desired information or leaving a message thereon.

President Roosevelt informs a palpitating nation that he will be away from Washington—no news in that—in June while engaging in a three weeks' jaunt of the West, but that there will be no politics in the trip. When Roosevelt's actions are divorced—no pun intended — from politics, sun spots will rule the universe.

Eighty-three-year-old Lord Lonsdale has never answered the telephone in his life. There's a spirit of independence that certainly is heartening.

Having failed to settle the war between Bill Green and John Lewis, F. D. R. will probably try the easier job of settling the war in Europe.

The New Deal idea of maintaining the equilibrium is to give business enterprise a shot in the arm just above the handcuff.

You may think your lot is not a happy one, but give a thought to Adolf's five astrologers and the fix they're in.

So strangely silent has Mr. Garner become, it is almost as if he were vice-president.

The New Deal is a powerful promoter of ragged individualism.

Country Noises Prove Too Much

By EDWIN C. HILL

We said something about, "Make me over, Mother April, when the sap begins to stir." Our friend and occasional collaborator, Mr. Hymie Augen misunderstood and said a man was a sap to stir any more than the had to, this time of year. Spring is all right in its place, but, as he sees it, the best thing to do when it hits you is to go down to the drugstore and get some horehound syrup and not start branching out any more than necessary.

Edwin C. Hill

An astrologer once told him all that, and he learned afterward, by hard experience, that the astrologer knew what he was talking about.

"We were doing all right," said Mr. Augen, "until Louey finds this poem in Moe Apfelbloom's fence and bookshop down under the elevated on Allen street. Now, you take an elevated railroad which you grew up with . . ."

"Wait a minute," we said. "You started out with a poem. Why drag in the elevated?"

"You couldn't be a faro-dealer," said Mr. Augen gloomily. "You wouldn't let the cards come out of the box the way they ought to. But I'll put the elevated in later."

Louey Too Vocal

"Well, like I told you, Louey and me were doin gall right. We had a nice flop and regular chow and the bookies were treating us O. K. and we made a couple of nice parlays, and I get me a swayback overcoat with pearl buttons on it and I couldn't figure how we ever stood to lose. The trouble was Louep was an elocutionist and he always got worse in the spring. He used to speak pieces at the stuss joint and he runs out of poems.

"Down at Moe's fence he finds a book with gold edges on it that had been turned in with a bundle of hot jewelry, and he gets all steamed up about a poem about spring and the birds and the bees, etc. I don't know how it happened but he got me that way, too. So, just to cut out the side-talk, me and Louey find ourselves on a farm up in Sullivan county, to get our cut of this spring razzle-dazzle which the poem said would make you bathe your soul in beauty, etc.

Bull Fiddle Noises

"There was all sorts of things yipping and squeaking outside but that wasn't the only reason we couldn't sleep. That old Second Avenue El used to go so close to our window you could pat it when it went by. Finally, when we had laid awake for hours, Louey said, like he was going to cry, that he felt like they must of been a wreck or something and he wished he could hear a train go by every five minutes. I said that was what was the matter with this country thing. We were kind of half way asleep when there was another noise like a big bull fiddle. We knew it was no dice so we put on our clothes and went out to see if we could find a cop or somebody to make all these geeks pipe down.

"It was cold and dark and lonely and they wasn't even a harness bull anywhere in sight. We kept on along a road getting closer to this gr-rrr-ump-noise and finally we come to a little pond. It was just getting light and there was a frog as big as a bass drum, with his eyes bugged out and swelling himself up like a balloon. I picked up a rock and was going to sock him, but Louey says nix, he's one of God's little creatures, like it said in the poem, even if he does look tough.

Much Too Noisy

"We went back and tried to sleep, but roosters, cows, birds and cheepers and this and that made more noise than three or four German bands, so we might just as well have stayed up all night. We pretty near kissed the first El train we saw when we got back. We had a nice bowl of hot tripe and shot some Kelly pool and then, best of all, they was a big, loud hurdy-gurdy at the corner. That will do me for a spring song I tell Louey, and he promises to lay off poetry and go to bed nights and let the elevated sing him to sleep.

"I suppose it all depends on what you're used to. A lot of people live in the country, all right, but I can't figure how they do it, with all that noise. I ask Louey what the hurdy-gurdy is playing. He says it's 'Come Down to Kew in Lilac Time.' I says it's all right just to play it if you don't go."—Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

War Influence Is Seen As Mounting As the Result of Roosevelt Attitude

By MARK SULLIVAN

Washington, April 25.—If we were to distill that intangible thing that is often called "the atmosphere of Washington," the larger part of it might be described as: the impact of the war abroad upon our domestic politics.

Mark Sullivan

The influence of the war comes in several forms. Most obvious is the more serious turn the war has taken, and hence the increase in discussion, always latent, of whether we may be involved. In such discussion, one distinction is emerging. It is the distinction between what President Roosevelt called "military participation", or "the sending of American youth to fight on the soil of Europe"; and ,on the other hand, measures short of that. That we will never send a conscripted army to Europe is a practically universal belief. This almost nobody advocates or even suggests or thinks likely

Restriction Lightly Discussed

But, short of that, there is a wide gamut of steps which are discussed as at least having possibility of happening. Among them are: repeal of the Johnson act, which now prevents loans from private American sources to the Allies; repeal of that part of the Neutrality law which now prevents private sources from selling supplies to the Allies on credit; repeal of that part of the neutrality law which now prevents private American merchant ships from going to Allied ports.

To say these ideas are discussed is by no means to suggest they are intended. No group of any size now advocates them. None of them today would command a majority in Congress, nor even a materially large vote. The discussion of them takes place as speculation about what might conceivably happen in the future. But talk about them takes place, and is a contribution to the subdued anxiety which constitutes the current atmosphere of Washington.

Japanese Problem

Another form in which the impact of war affects the Washington state of mind is Secretary Hull's note of warning to Japan against going into the Dutch East Indies. This, and our entire relation to Japan, becomes more talked about in proportion as there is increasing apprehension of Germany entering Holland as she entered Norway. Such an action by Germany would raise a concrete and immediate problem for us, as respects not only the Dutch possessions in the East Indies, but also nearer home in the West Indies. The Dutch West Indies would become a concern to us, just as Danish-owned Greenland became a concern when Germany seized Denmark. About Secretary Hull's note to Japan, it can be said that one of the steadying influences in the Washington scene is the general confidence in Mr. Hull.

Another contribution to the Washington atmosphere, arising from the war, is Mr. Roosevelt's apparent disposition to—let us put it—not refrain from allusion to the war as a factor in domestic politics. More than once, he has taken notice, with a manner of irritation, of utterances on war policy made by Republican candidates for the party's Presidential nomination. Perhaps "Republican candidates" is too broad a term. Practically every one thinks it is Mr. Thomas E. Dewey whom Mr. Roosevelt has in mind when he says, as in his message to the Young Democrats last Saturday:

Inaction Disparaged

"We are keeping out of the wars . . . but I do not subscribe to the preachment of a Republican aspirant for the presidency who tells you in effect that the United States . . . should do nothing to try to bring about a better order . . . of world peace when the time comes."

Mr. Roosevelt's allusions to the war, the Republican allusions which provoke Mr. Roosevelt's and the apparent likelihood that the war and our relation to it may be an issue in the campaign—all that composes the link between war and our domestic politics. If that link did not exist, if our domestic politics could be isolated and seen as a thing standing alone — in that event, hardly ever was domestic politics more simple.

Reason for Silence

Last year, before the war began, when President Roosevelt and those about him began to look forward to the campaign year 1940; when he began his policy of silence as to whether or not he would run again,—the chief reason given by New Dealers for Mr. Roosevelt's silence, was that he would thus be able to retain influence over Congress. In the past it has been accepted that a president serving his second term tends to lose influence in Congress as the time of his leaving the White House approaches. This has been true, partly because Congress forsees the time when the president will not have patronage, or other form of prestige, to bestow or withold. Another reason is that members of the president's own party in Congress normally know that he will not again head the party in an election; hence they are free to criticize him, or decline to accept his leadership, without fear of being embarrassed by running on the same ticket with him.

It was to offset these conditions that the New Dealers, in the beginning, before the war began, promoted the notion that Mr. Roosevelt might run again.

President Is Ignored

Hardly ever has reality so completely departed from expectation. Hardly ever was there a Congress that so ignored a president's leadership. Hardly ever was there the equivalent of what happened last week. Congress, by a practically three to one majority (279 to 97) passed a measure ,the Walter-Logan bill, which the president had publicly said he opposed. In this ignoring of the president's desire, more than half his own party joined.

Plainly, domestic politics, as a reason for the presidents' silence about running again, or as a justification for actually running again, has turned out disappointingly.

An Anchor To Windward

From the Wheeling, W. Va., Intelligencer

A great deal of heat has been generated in House debate over legislation which would provide for court review of the findings of various governmental agencies, and set up uniform procedure for them.

This newspaper can see no reason for any very wide diversion of opinion on this matter among men who believe in the principles of government on which the American system is based. We have set up in the federal structure, increasingly during the past several years, a large number of agencies which function in effect as independent governments. They are given a discretion wholly incompatible with the concept of representative democracy. They issue rules and regulations which have the force and effect of law. In the very nature of things, they tend, if unchecked, toward increasingly arbitrary rule.

In time, governmental bureaus operating under virtually blanket grants of authority, and functioning in conjunction with administrative law promulgated by executive degree, would destroy the American government. This newspaper believes the time has come for a reversal of direction. It feels we have gone entirely too far in the matter of bureaucracy, and in the cause of efficiency have delegated entirely too much authority to the executive. Until such time, however, as an effective check is applied, and more particularly if the trend is to continue, it is imperative that a checkrein in the nature of court review be provided, that hard and fast rules of procedure be laid down, and that definite limits be outlined.

Foreign Policy Needs Explaining

BY HUGH S. JOHNSON

Chicago, April 25.—A retired naval officer has been ordered by the Navy department to cease giving lectures on the war. An officer on the retired list is in a peculiar status. Having been disabled in service he is removed from active duty and not subject to orders in the usual sense. Hugh S. John He gets, for life, what looks like three-quarters pay. Actually counting lost allowances it is about half pay. Whether the Navy department can legally muzzle him is a doubtful question. Practically, the thing is that it can somehow take his pay away if it doesn't like the way he talks. I doubt that, but the danger is great enough to convince a disabled man not to risk it.

Yet the Navy doesn't shush some retired officers who do not say acceptable things. The outstanding case is Smedley Butler. He has capitalized his erstwhile Marine employment the instrument of a racket.

Shushing Held Improper

The difference is that an obscure little Lieutenant-Commander (retired) could be sunk without a trace while a double Medal of Honor Major-General super showman with national reputation, a picturesque vocabulary and a voice like a foghorn—"old augur-eye" or "old gimlet-nose" or whatever "old" he is—couldn't be sunk at all without a splash that would raise the tide on all the seven seas. In times of peace, I can't see why there should be any shushing at all. Nine-tenths of this military secrecy business is the bunk.

I was glad to read of Admiral Taussig's testimony, that the reason for the Navy's insistence on fortifying Guam and increasing naval estimates at a cost of more than a billion is that we've got to fight Japan. For this purpose, he wants to establish an "impregnable base in the Philippines" (which is not possible) "fortify the Islands of Guam to make its capture impossible" (which is equally absurd) and make an alliance with Great Britain, France and the Netherlands that will insure co-operation in the maintenance of the status quo in the area to the southward of Formosa."

Taussig More Explicit

The Navy didn't attempt to shush Admiral Taussig. It merely said that his opinion was his own and contrary to its views.

But the Navy is asking for exactly what Taussig is defending. It concedes that it wants to fortify Guam to "stabilize the political situation in the Far East." Admiral Taussig was simply more explicit. He wants to check Japanese expansion in Asia and Malaysia which she says is "under way at present with the subjugation of China, the Philippines, Netherlands Indies, French Indo-China and Malaya are to be taken over in due course of time. Russia is to be driven westward of Lake Baikal." It is a fair interpretation of the rest of the Admiral's testimony that we have to fight a naval war with Japan to prevent all this and must get ready now.

Debate Need Seen

I don't agree with Admiral Taussig. If we are to engage our strength and effort on distant and indefensible objectives half way across the world," we shall be duck soup for enemies much closer to our shores. We have no bone buried in Asia. But it is a wonderful thing to know that he could speak and did speak his mind.

It is unfair to the Army, the Navy and the country to tell them to prepare for war and not tell them what war—how, when and where. What is the foreign political, military and naval policy of the United States? That is our most important question. It needs to be debated and explored and, as to its military and naval aspects, professional military and naval men know the limitations. For the present at least, let's not shush any of them.

A Gigantic Mistake

From the Cincinnati Times-Star

Herbert Hoover calls American recognition of Soviet Russia "a gigantic political and moral mistake." He is right. Mr. Roosevelt perpetrated this folly in November, 1933. He knew more—he thought—than Wilson, the Democratic President who inaugurated America's policy of nonrecognition, and the three Republican Presidents who accepted it. Admitting Red Russia, he urged, into the democratic communion would improve its ways, promote trade back and forth.

What happened was that Russia bought less than half as much American goods in the six years following recognition as in the six years preceding it. It has sent its spies and saboteurs, so Chairman Dies reports, into our key industries and into a number of labor unions. It steals from us millions of dollars every year by appropriating World War pensions paid to veterans of Russian origin. It has profited by scores of millions of dollars by our purchase from it of $300,000,000 in gold at a premium. Within the year it has laid a heavy hand on the small Baltic republics. Mere gangsters rule it, and they keep faith with nobody.

"The moral equities would be at least reasserted," says Hoover, "if we withdraw our ambassador and left the technical representation to a charge d'affaires." The point is well taken.

Quotable Quotes

By Representative Francis E. Walter, Democrat, of Pennsylvania

It is no secret today that many administrative agencies believe and practice the belief that they are above the law and that they consciously and deliberately disregard both the terms of the constitution and the statutes under which they operate. It is entirely possible for us in America to have administrative absolutism as tyrannical as in any of the totalitarian countries of either ancient or modern times. * * * Government by favor degenerates into absolutism.

If that is the case, the fault does not lie wholly with local management but with the set-up of it designed by district headquarters, or the parent organization. There should be centralized authority in the local management to the end that proper service is rendered to the public, not only with respect to the transmission of telephone messages but also with respect to other services of installation, upkeep, repair and the like, in which the division of authority and lack of co-ordination seem to obtain.

If the unsatisfactory service is the result of an unwise attempt at economy through the employment of too few operatives, then that should be corrected, inasmuch as the telephone rates are supposed to be sufficient to cover all of that.

It is to be hoped that immediate steps will be taken to improve the local telephone service, inasmuch as so many of the activities of everyday life in all its various phases are now dependant upon this important public convenience or, it may more properly be said, public necessity.

Americans Must Keep Cool And Maintain Neutrality

THE SPREAD of war in Europe makes it more than ever necessary for Americans to keep cool and help their government to do likewise.

The collision of great powers with interests all over the earth creates a situation in which neutrals must act warily. The United States, as the greatest neutral, is compelled to make it nakedly plain that its rights must be respected.

The corollary of a demand for respect of its rights is a punctilious respect for the rights of all belligerents.

Whatever the sympathies of individuals, the conduct of the government of the United States must be rigidly neutral if this country is to keep out of war.

Firmness is exacting respect for its rights and equal firmness in maintaining strict impartiality and official friendship with all nations can keep this country out of war.

Such a course makes it impossible for a belligerent to find a valid grievance against the United States.

The war strength of the United States, actual and potential, warns all nations not to pick a quarrel with this country.

With no just grievance, and facing a power that can annihilate it if it wantonly picks a quarrel, no foreign nation, however desperate it may be, is likely to risk war with the United States.

The war in Europe is not to be umpired by the United States. The fighters must fight and then make peace as best they can. The war-makers will be the peace-makers. Neutrals must keep hands off.

Sentiment Favors Regulation Of the Regulators

IT IS FOOLISH to attempt to deny that public opinion is strongly in favor of enactment of the Logan-Walters bill, or legislation having the same objective.

The measure subjects to review in the federal courts the rules governing administration of the boards and agencies. Those headed by ardent New Dealers — appointed by President Roosevelt at the instance of the inner group around him—are aimed at. The Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Trade Commission and the Federal Reserve Board are excepted. But more than 100 bureaus or independent boards are affected.

The temper of public opinion was reflected by the better than two-thirds vote for the bill in the House of Representatives, given by a coalition of over half the House Democrats and all but two Republicans. After its passage by the Senate by acclamation last year, President Roosevelt intervened, the New Dealers got busy and the same measure was recalled for reconsideration.

A large favorable Senate vote this year is assured, unless administration pressure prevents a vote by locking the bill up in committee.

Little can be said for the theory of delaying and hampering executive business by probably innumerable lawsuits. Answer is made, quite sufficiently under the circumstances, that this is the only method yet devised for remedying the injustices done by the New Dealers exercising arbitrary powers and promoting their favorite causes and interests. The bill was drawn by members of the American Bar Association and is generally supported by the lawyers.

There would be no serious thought of such legislation if it could be believed that the New Deal had wielded its great new power fairly. As it is, that belief does not exist and action "regulating the regulators" appears to be imminently near.

Suggestion Is Offered By a Conservationist

A READER of The News who is interested in the conservation of wild life hands in a suggestion, which is hereby passed on to other readers.

The suggestion was prompted by recent announcements of the distribution of game stock in different sections of the state by state conservation agents.

Yet, it is complained, many urban residents who are bothered by stray cats, and who at times are the victims of a sort of surprise party by multiple blessed events on the part of the strays, will take the newly-born offspring and the mother cats out into the woods and turn them loose in order to get rid of them.

Thus the cats are given opportunity to lose their domesticity and become wild by reason of the necessity of preying upon small wild game and birds in order to survive. That, it is declared, is offsetting much of the good work of restocking done by the state conservation agents.

The remedy suggested is that persons who are annoyed by stray cats should call the city Health department at City Hall with a request for the services of the city humane officer, who will collect the stray animals and take them to the city pound.

This brings up the subject as to such city official. Many do not seem to know about him. For their benefit, it is hereby noted that such official is Dr. F. W. McCallum and that he will respond to needed service at the request of any citizen who will call him on telephone 2193, giving him the desired information or leaving a message thereon.

President Roosevelt informs a palpitating nation that he will be away from Washington—no news in that—in June while engaging in a three weeks' jaunt of the West, but that there will be no politics in the trip. When Roosevelt's actions are divorced—no pun intended — from politics, sun spots will rule the universe.

Eighty-three-year-old Lord Lonsdale has never answered the telephone in his life. There's a spirit of independence that certainly is heartening.

Having failed to settle the war between Bill Green and John Lewis, F. D. R. will probably try the easier job of settling the war in Europe.

The New Deal idea of maintaining the equilibrium is to give business enterprise a shot in the arm just above the handcuff.

You may think your lot is not a happy one, but give a thought to Adolf's five astrologers and the fix they're in.

So strangely silent has Mr. Garner become, it is almost as if he were vice-president.

The New Deal is a powerful promoter of ragged individualism.

By EDWIN C. HILL

We said something about, "Make me over, Mother April, when the sap begins to stir." Our friend and occasional collaborator, Mr. Hymie Augen misunderstood and said a man was a sap to stir any more than the had to, this time of year. Spring is all right in its place, but, as he sees it, the best thing to do when it hits you is to go down to the drugstore and get some horehound syrup and not start branching out any more than necessary.

Edwin C. Hill

An astrologer once told him all that, and he learned afterward, by hard experience, that the astrologer knew what he was talking about.

"We were doing all right," said Mr. Augen, "until Louey finds this poem in Moe Apfelbloom's fence and bookshop down under the elevated on Allen street. Now, you take an elevated railroad which you grew up with . . ."

"Wait a minute," we said. "You started out with a poem. Why drag in the elevated?"

"You couldn't be a faro-dealer," said Mr. Augen gloomily. "You wouldn't let the cards come out of the box the way they ought to. But I'll put the elevated in later."

Louey Too Vocal

"Well, like I told you, Louey and me were doin gail right. We had a nice flop and regular chow and the bookies were treating us O. K. and we made a couple of nice parlays, and I get me a swaybacked overcoat with pearl buttons on it and I couldn't figure how we ever stood to lose. The trouble was Louep was an elocutionist and he always got worse in the spring. He used to speak pieces at the stuss joint and he runs out of poems.

"Down at Moe's fence he finds a book with gold edges on it that had been turned in with a bundle of hot jewelry, and he gets all steamed up about a poem about spring and the birds and the bees, etc. I don't know how it happened but he got me that way, too. So, just to cut out the side-talk, me and Louey find ourselves on a farm up in Sullivan county, to get our cut of this spring razzle-dazzle which the poem said would make you bathe your soul in beauty, etc.

"There was all sorts of things yipping and squeaking outside but that wasn't the only reason we couldn't sleep. That old Second Avenue El used to go so close to our window you could pat it when it went by. Finally, when we had laid awake for hours, Louey said, like he was going to cry, that he felt like they must of been a wreck or something and he wished he could hear a train go by every five minutes. I said that was what was the matter with this country thing. We were kind of half way asleep when there was another noise like a big bull fiddle. We knew it was no dice so we put on our clothes and went out to see if we could find a cop or somebody to make all these geeks pipe down.

"It was cold and dark and lonely and they wasn't even a harness bull anywhere in sight. We kept on along a road getting closer to this gr-rrr-ump-noise and finally we come to a little pond. It was just getting light and there was a frog as big as a bass drum, with his eyes bugged out and swelling himself up like a balloon. I picked up a rock and was going to sock him, but Louey says nix, he's one of God's little creatures, like it said in the poem, even if he does look tough.

Much Too Noisy

"We went back and tried to sleep, but roosters, cows, birds and cheepers and this and that made more noise than three or four German bands, so we might just as well have stayed up all night. We pretty near kissed the first El train we saw when we got back. We had a nice bowl of hot tripe and shot some Kelly pool and then, best of all, they was a big, loud hurdy-gurdy at the corner. That will do me for a spring song I tell Louey, and he promises to lay off poetry and go to bed nights and let the elevated sing him to sleep.

"I suppose it all depends on what you're used to. A lot of people live in the country, all right, but I can't figure how they do it, with all that noise. I ask Louey what the hurdy-gurdy is playing. He says it's 'Come Down to Kew in Lilac Time.' I says it's all right just to play it if you don't go."—Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

War Influence Is Seen As Mounting As the Result of Roosevelt Attitude

By MARK SULLIVAN

Washington, April 25.—If we were to distill that intangible thing that is often called "the atmosphere of Washington," the larger part of it might be described as: the impact of the war abroad upon our domestic politics.

Mark Sullivan

The influence of the war comes in several forms. Most obvious is the more serious turn the war has taken, and hence the increase in discussion, always latent, of whether we may be involved. In such discussion, one distinction is emerging. It is the distinction between what President Roosevelt called "military participation", or "the sending of American youth to fight on the soil of Europe"; and ,on the other hand, measures short of that. That we will never send a conscripted army to Europe is a practically universal belief. This almost nobody advocates or even suggests or thinks likely.

Restriction Lightly Discussed

But, short of that, there is a wide gamut of steps which are discussed as at least having possibility of happening. Among them are: repeal of the Johnson act, which now prevents loans from private American sources to the Allies; repeal of that part of the Neutrality law which now prevents private sources from selling supplies to the Allies on credit repeal of that part of the neutrality law which now prevents private American merchant ships from going to Allied ports.

To say these ideas are discussed is by no means to suggest they are intended. No group of any size now advocates them. None of them today would command a majority in Congress, nor even a materially large vote. The discussion of them takes place as speculation about what might conceivably happen in the future. But talk about them takes place, and is a contribution to the subdued anxiety which constitutes the current atmosphere of Washington.

Japanese Problem

Another form in which the impact of war affects the Washington state of mind is Secretary Hull's note of warning to Japan against going into the Dutch East Indies. This, and our entire relation to Japan, becomes more talked about in proportion as there is increasing apprehension of Germany entering Holland as she entered Norway. Such an action by Germany would raise a concrete and immediate problem for us, as respects not only the Dutch possessions in the East Indies, but also nearer home in the West Indies. The Dutch West Indies would become a concern to us, just as Danish-owned Greenland became a concern when Germany seized Denmark. About Secretary Hull's note to Japan, it can be said that one of the steadying influences in the Washington scene is the general confidence in Mr. Hull.

Another contribution to the Washington atmosphere, arising from the war, is Mr. Roosevelt's apparent disposition to—let us put it—not refrain from allusion to the war as a factor in domestic politics. More than once, he has taken notice, with a manner of irritation, of utterances on war policy made by Republican candidates for the party's Presidential nomination. Perhaps "Republican candidates" is too broad a term. Practically every one thinks it is Mr. Thomas E. Dewey whom Mr. Roosevelt has in mind when he says, as in his message to the Young Democrats last Saturday:

Inaction Disparaged

"We are keeping out of the wars . . . but I do not subscribe to the preachment of a Republican aspirant for the presidency who tells you in effect that the United States . . . should do nothing to try to bring about a better order . . . of world peace when the time comes."

Mr. Roosevelt's allusions to the war, the Republican allusions which provoke Mr. Roosevelt's and the apparent likelihood that the war and our relation to it may be an issue in the campaign—all that composes the link between war and our domestic politics. If that link did not exist, if our domestic politics could be isolated and seen as a thing standing alone — in that event, hardly ever was domestic politics more simple.

Reason for Silence

Last year, before the war began, when President Roosevelt and those about him began to look forward to the campaign year 1940; when he began his policy of silence as to whether or not he would run again,—the chief reason given by New Dealers for Mr. Roosevelt's silence, was that he would thus be able to retain influence over Congress. In the past it has been accepted that a president serving his second term tends to lose influence in Congress as the time of his leaving the White House approaches. This has been true, partly because Congress forsees the time when the president will not have patronage, or other form of prestige, to bestow or withold. Another reason is that members of the president's own party in Congress normally know that he will not again head the party in an election; hence they are free to criticize him, or decline to accept his leadership, without fear of being embarrassed by running on the same ticket with him.

It was to offset these conditions that the New Dealers, in the beginning, before the war began, promoted the notion that Mr. Roosevelt might run again.

President Is Ignored

Hardly ever has reality so completely departed from expectation. Hardly ever was there a Congress that so ignored a president's leadership. Hardly ever was there the equivalent of what happened last week. Congress, by a practically three to one majority (279 to 97) passed a measure ,the Walter-Logan bill, which the president had publicly said he opposed. In this ignoring of the president's desire, more than half his own party joined.

Plainly, domestic politics, as a reason for the presidents' silence about running again, or as a justification for actually running again, has turned out disappointingly.

An Anchor To Windward

From the Wheeling, W. Va., Intelligencer

A great deal of heat has been generated in House debate over legislation which would provide for court review of the findings of various governmental agencies, and set up uniform procedure for them.

This newspaper can see no reason for any very wide diversion of opinion on this matter among men who believe in the principles of government on which the American system is based. We have set up in the federal structure, increasingly during the past several years, a large number of agencies which function in effect as independent governments. They are given a discretion wholly incompatible with the concept of representative democracy. They issue rules and regulations which have the force and effect of law. In the very nature of things, they tend, if unchecked, toward increasingly arbitrary rule.

In time, governmental bureaus operating under virtually blanket grants of authority, and functioning in conjunction with administrative law promulgated by executive degree, would destroy the American government. This newspaper believes the time has come for a reversal of direction. It feels we have gone entirely too far in the matter of bureaucracy, and in the cause of efficiency have delegated entirely too much authority to the executive. Until such time, however, as an effective check is applied, and more particularly if the trend is to continue, it is imperative that a check-rein in the nature of court review be provided, that hard and fast rules of procedure be laid down, and that definite limits be outlined.

Foreign Policy Needs Explaining

Hugh S. Johnson

Chicago, April 25.—A retired naval officer has been ordered by the Navy department to cease giving lectures on the war. An officer on the retired list is in a peculiar status. Having been disabled in service he is removed from active duty and not subject to orders in the usual sense. He gets, for life, what looks like three-quarters pay. Actually counting lost allowances it is about half pay. Whether the Navy department can legally muzzle him is a doubtful question. Practically, the thing is that it can somehow take his pay away if it doesn't like the way he talks. I doubt that, but the danger is great enough to convince a capable man not to risk it.

Yet the Navy doesn't shush some retired officers who do not say acceptable things. The outstanding case is Smedley Butler. He has cashed his erstwhile Marine employment the instrument of a racket.

Shushing Held Improper

The difference is that an obscure little Lieutenant-Commander (retired) could be sunk without a trace while a double Medal of Honor Major-General super showman with national reputation, a picturesque vocabulary and a voice like a foghorn—"old augur-eye" or "old gimlet-nose" or whatever "old" is—couldn't be sunk at all without a splash that would raise the tides on all the seven seas. In times of peace, I can't see why there should be any shushing at all. Nine-tenths of this military secrecy business is the bunk.

I was glad to read of Admiral Taussig's testimony, that the reason for the Navy's insistence on fortifying Guam and increased naval estimates at a cost of more than a billion is that we've got to fight Japan. For this purpose, he wants to establish an "impregnable base in the Philippines" (which is not possible) "fortify the Island of Guam to make its capture impossible" (which is equally absurd) and make an alliance with Great Britain, France and the Netherlands that will insure co-operation in the maintenance of the status quo in the area to the southward of Formosa."

Taussig More Explicit

The Navy didn't attempt to shush Admiral Taussig. It merely said that his opinion was his own and contrary to its views.

But the Navy is asking for exactly what Taussig is defending. It concedes that it wants to fortify Guam to "stabilize the political situation in the Far East." Admiral Taussig was simply more explicit. He wanted to check Japanese expansion in Asia and Malaysia which she says is "under way at present with the subjugation of China, the Philippines, Netherlands Indies, French Indo-China and Malaya are to be taken over in due course of time. Russia is to be driven westward of Lake Baikal." It is a fair interpretation of the rest of the Admiral's testimony that we have to fight a naval war with Japan to prevent all this and must get ready now.

I don't agree with Admiral Taussig. If we are to engage our strength and effort on distant and indefensible objectives half way across the world," we shall be duck soup for enemies much closer to our shores. We have no bone buried in Asia. But it is a wonderful thing to know that he could speak and did speak his mind.

It is unfair to the Army, the Navy and the country to tell them to prepare for war and not tell them what war—how, when and where. What is the foreign political, military and naval policy of the United States? That is our most important question. It needs to be debated and explored and, as to its military and naval aspects, professional military and naval men know the limitations. For the present at least, let's not shush any of them.

A Gigantic Mistake

From the Cincinnati Times-Star

Herbert Hoover calls American recognition of Soviet Russia "a gigantic political and moral mistake." He is right. Mr. Roosevelt perpetrated this folly in November, 1933. He knew more—he thought—than Wilson, the Democratic President who inaugurated America's policy of nonrecognition, and the three Republican Presidents who accepted it. Admitting Red Russia, he urged, into the democratic communion would improve its ways, promote trade back and forth.

What happened was that Russia bought less than half as much American goods in the six years following recognition as in the six years preceding it. It has sent its spies and saboteurs, so Chairman Dies reports, into our key industries and into a number of labor unions. It steals from us millions of dollars every year by appropriating World War pensions paid to veterans of Russian origin. It has profited by scores of millions of dollars by our purchase from it of $300,000,000 in gold at a premium. Within the year it has laid a heavy hand on the small Baltic republics. Mere gangsters rule it, and they keep faith with nobody.

"The moral equities would be at least reasserted," says Hoover, "if we withdraw our ambassador and left the technical representation to a charge d'affaires." The point is well taken.

Quotable Quotes

By Representative Francis E. Walter, Democrat, of Pennsylvania

It is no secret today that many administrative agencies believe and practice the belief that they are above the law and that they consciously and deliberately disregard both the terms of the constitution and the statutes under which they operate. It is entirely possible for us in America to have administrative absolutism as tyrannical as in any of the totalitarian countries of either ancient or modern times * * * Government by favor degenerates into absolutism.

Together the two walked along road past the high hill studded h fruit trees. The woman spoke sely. "Maybe it would be better if you lived with us, grandmother. We could have a lot of fun if you were going to stay. We could fix a regular sled run down the hill from the orchard and right across the meadow, and maybe you'd help me split up the pile of logs for the kitchen stove, and sort of be my partner when mother is busy. Would you like to?"

"What makes you think I would?" she asked, giving him a sidewise look. He took her hand companionably.

"Well, you look like you're pretty smart, for one thing," he confided, "and besides, if you stayed, grandfather would stay, too. You could help me manage him."

Ellen's smile broke out spontaneously at the calm statement.

"Does he need . . . managing she prompted.

He certainly does," Tom decided positively. "He does not remember anything about when to plant things or anything, and he wants to set out a garden patch down by the creek. You could plant a flower garden, too, if you stayed with us. And in the spring we could help Uncle Bob spray the apple and pear and cherry trees before they blossom. Do they blossom in New York?"

"I suppose that they do, but I don't remember having seen any apple blossoms in a great while — not since your grandmother and I were a good deal younger."

The boy considered this for a long moment. "It seems to me that there isn't much in New York that people can like," he judged. "You don't have ponies or things growing where you can see them and take care of them, and lots of people get hurt and sick. I don't see why you like it. I don't think that I would!"

"What do you grow in your garden patch?" the woman asked irrelevantly.

"Why sweet corn and squash and carrots and lettuce and peas and strawberries and lots of other things. We even have a catnip for Cookie our tiger cat!"

His grandmother laughed. "That sounds interesting," she declared. Drawn by sounds of an earnest discussion in the living room some time later, Tom's mother found the two with their heads bent companionably close over a folder upon the table.

"Looking up the first train back East?" she inquired. The older woman marked a place with her finger and looked up with a direct, unflinching gaze, as if in challenge.

"We're just checking up on the seed catalogue," she stated calmly. "We don't want grandfather to start wrong this spring!"—Distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

THE DAILY STORY

ORCHARD HILL

Grandma Might Be Too Old to Learn Any New Tricks, But Then She Didn't Have To. Her Old Ones Were Honey's

By MARY HOWARD

It seems very unlikely that you'll complish what you've set your rt on doing," little Tom's moth- observed quietly to the white- red, modishly dressed woman o sat rigidly in the chair facing window of the farmhouse kitch- staring with unconcealed distate the late winter landscape flowing r the meadow and hills.

Jason is a soft-hearted old fool, n if he is my husband," the trim New York. Is that true?" His grandmother nodded uncertainly, and the boy grinned.

"Maybe it would be better if you lived with us, grandmother. We could have a lot of fun if you were going to stay. We could fix a regular sled run down the hill from the orchard and right across the meadow, and maybe you'd help me split up the pile of logs for the kitchen stove, and sort of be my partner when mother is busy. Would you like to?"

"We Could Have a Lot of Fun"

lady snapped decisively. "As 's grandfather, he has every t to attach his attention to the ue of the child, since he has no er to perform that duty for him farm is no place for a growing d—a child of our family!"

The boy's mother went on imperably with the peeling of the poes for dinner, her swift knife ping pace with the uncurling of long parings from the potatoes the unfolding of her own ughts. She smiled slightly in niscence.

You two came out from New k six months ago to take Tom East to school," she reminded. 's still here!" Her mother-in- flashed a swift, probing look er direction and sniffed.

If I had suspected that Jason ld turn out to be a subversive luence in the child's making a ural choice," she thrust out imently. "I would have managed ferently. It's very apparent that m has his grandfather wound und his little finger, appealing its ill-conceived nostalgia for his farm beginning. I'll manage myself!"

You'll probably find them down the stone barn looking at the es, mother," the younger womsuggested. "If you do go down, haps you'd better put on a pair heavy galoshes. The snow is on the road."

Rounding the corner of the stone , she came upon her husband grandson utterly absorbed in ething which rested upon a sawse outside the door. Jason looked and discovered her watching m speculatively.

Hello, Ellen," he greeted affably. he youngster has been coaching in how to assemble a team harss. Good gosh, it's been 40 years e I handled harness—funny you can forget."

His wife eyed them quietly. "I nted Tom to take a walk with up through the woods," she half ted.

In a minute, grandmother," the assented. "I want to see first ether grandfather understands at I told him. We're having a d of memory game." Ellen stood watched while her husband stled with the stiff leather and ally straightened up with a ished look of satisfaction.

Got it right that time, my boy," chuckled. "Hundred points on score. Now you run along with r grandmother!"

Together the two walked along road past the high hill studded h fruit trees. The woman spoke tly. "We want you to come to New York with us, Tom, go to school there for the win- It's too unhealthy and dangerfor you out here in the open. might catch a terrible illness, you wouldn't want that, would

No," he agreed readily, and add- "but there's not much danger. ther says that in winter the hos- are filled with sick people in

"What makes you think I would?" she asked, giving him a sidewise look. He took her hand companionably.

"Well, you look like you're pretty smart, for one thing," he confided, "and besides, if you stayed, grandfather would stay, too. You could help me manage him."

Ellen's smile broke out spontaneously at the calm statement.

"Does he need . . . managing she prompted.

He certainly does," Tom decided positively. "He does not remember anything about when to plant things or anything, and he wants to set out a garden patch down by the creek. You could plant a flower garden, too, if you stayed with us. And in the spring we could help Uncle Bob spray the apple and pear and cherry trees before they blossom. Do they blossom in New York?"

"I suppose that they do, but I don't remember having seen any apple blossoms in a great while — not since your grandmother and I were a good deal younger."

The boy considered this for a long moment. "It seems to me that there isn't much in New York that people can like," he judged. "You don't have ponies or things growing where you can see them and take care of them, and lots of people get hurt and sick. I don't see why you like it. I don't think that I would!"

"What do you grow in your garden patch?" the woman asked irrelevantly.

"Why sweet corn and squash and carrots and lettuce and peas and strawberries and lots of other things. We even have a catnip for Cookie our tiger cat!"

His grandmother laughed. "That sounds interesting," she declared. Drawn by sounds of an earnest discussion in the living room some time later, Tom's mother found the two with their heads bent companionably close over a folder upon the table.

"Looking up the first train back East?" she inquired. The older woman marked a place with her finger and looked up with a direct, unflinching gaze, as if in challenge.

"We're just checking up on the seed catalogue," she stated calmly. "We don't want grandfather to start wrong this spring!"—Distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

At Any Season

If it is her first marriage, a bride may wear a white dress and veil at any season of the year.

Flat Figures Fashion Failures

B. HELEN FOLLETT

FLAT FIGURES no longer qualify. If you're going to fill the requirements of fashion, you've got to fill out and be busty. When the boyish figure was popular, brassieres were worn tight, and many a woman, who was then a girl, wishes she hadn't. Bandaging brought on sagging tissues which can't be toned and normalized in a jiffy.

Here are some suggestions for creating a pleasing bust contour; learn to stand tall, chest lifted—a habit that keeps the muscles of the upper portion of the torso strong and resilient.

Every night bathe the breasts with warm water, dry briskly but gently to bring a glow to the flesh. Anoint the fingers with toilet lanoline, rub 'round and 'round with gentle upward pressure. Five minutes of that. Do the windmill exercise. Double the fingers inside the palms of the hands, send the hand high in wide circles and far back, drawing up the muscles away from the waistline.

Every morning sponge with cold water. By using a sponge you can keep the fingers from being chilled and the stimulation will be "right there." Follow with an alcohol rub. Always be gentle. Take no chance of injuring the delicate glands.

Do you love your old shoes? It is love wasted. They can do you harm. Many a housewife tucks her toes in sloppy slippers when she gets up in the morning, wears them for hours. Bad girl!

The foot needs support. When a shoe has lost its shape, it has lost its usefulness. The best shoe for the housewife is a wide-soled low-heeled oxford, one that laces up snugly and tightly, so the foot will not spread.

If a woman must economize on footwear, let her practice penny saving on shoes that she wears in the evening. When she's tramping the domestic treadmill, her poor little hoofs are entitled to comfortable casings.

HELEN GILBERT . . . always stands tall, with chest lifted.

HAVE YOU any beauty problems? Let the Beauty Box Editor help you solve them. Address all inquiries regarding beauty to the Editor of the Beauty Box, care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose an addressed, stamped (three cents) envelope for reply.

No Retinue

If a bride is to be married in a traveling dress, she should not have a retinue of bridesmaids. A maid or matron of honor is all that is necessary.

With Father

The bride rides to church in the car with her father, not with the bridesmaids or with her husband-to-be.

According to Church

A bride should regulate the length of her train according to the size of the church in which she is to be married. If the church is large, it may be long; if the church is a small one, a short train should be worn.

Need Extra Care

Glass baking dishes need extra care to keep them clean. As soon as they have been used, soak them in warm water. Scrub them with a cloth dipped in a fine scouring powder. Wash in hot soap water and rinse in boiling water. Wipe with a soft cloth.

Saucery Frames

Paris (AP)—Prints used for hats include cire satin whose black ground is printed with small bright flowers. The material covers a saucer shaped frame, and the printed flowers and a black bow do the trimming.

Use Blotters

If you have trouble with rattling windows you can get temporary relief by pushing folded blotters in the spaces between the window casings.

At Any Season

If it is her first marriage, a bride may wear a white dress and veil at any season of the year.

No Retinue

If a bride is to be married in a traveling dress, she should not have a retinue of bridesmaids. A maid or matron of honor is all that is necessary.

With Father

The bride rides to church in the car with her father, not with the bridesmaids or with her husband-to-be.

B. HELEN FOLLETT

FLAT FIGURES no longer qualify. If you're going to fill the requirements of fashion, you've got to fill out and be busty. When the boyish figure was popular, brassieres were worn tight, and many a woman, who was then a girl, wishes she hadn't. Bandaging brought on sagging tissues which can't be toned and normalized in a jiffy.

Here are some suggestions for creating a pleasing bust contour; learn to stand tall, chest lifted—a habit that keeps the muscles of the upper portion of the torso strong and resilient.

Every night bathe the breasts with warm water, dry briskly but gently to bring a glow to the flesh. Anoint the fingers with toilet lanoline, rub 'round and 'round with gentle upward pressure. Five minutes of that. Do the windmill exercise. Double the fingers inside the palms of the hands, send the hand high in wide circles and far back, drawing up the muscles away from the waistline.

Every morning sponge with cold water. By using a sponge you can keep the fingers from being chilled and the stimulation will be "right there." Follow with an alcohol rub. Always be gentle. Take no chance of injuring the delicate glands.

Do you love your old shoes? It is love wasted. They can do you harm. Many a housewife tucks her toes in sloppy slippers when she gets up in the morning, wears them for hours. Bad girl!

The foot needs support. When a shoe has lost its shape, it has lost its usefulness. The best shoe for the housewife is a wide-soled low-heeled oxford, one that laces up snugly and tightly, so the foot will not spread.

If a woman must economize on footwear, let her practice penny saving on shoes that she wears in the evening. When she's tramping the domestic treadmill, her poor little hoofs are entitled to comfortable casings.

HELEN GILBERT . . . always stands tall, with chest lifted.

HAVE YOU any beauty problems? Let the Beauty Box Editor help you solve them. Address all inquiries regarding beauty to the Editor of the Beauty Box, care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose an addressed, stamped (three cents) envelope for reply.

According to Church

A bride should regulate the length of her train according to the size of the church in which she is to be married. If the church is large, it may be long; if the church is a small one, a short train should be worn.

Need Extra Care

Glass baking dishes need extra care to keep them clean. As soon as they have been used, soak them in warm water. Scrub them with a cloth dipped in a fine scouring powder. Wash in hot soap water and rinse in boiling water. Wipe with a soft cloth.

Saucery Frames

Paris (AP)—Prints used for hats include cire satin whose black ground is printed with small bright flowers. The material covers a saucer shaped frame, and the printed flowers and a black bow do the trimming.

Use Blotters

If you have trouble with rattling windows you can get temporary relief by pushing folded blotters in the spaces between the window casings.

Non-Combatants Are Victims in War of Nerves

Thousands of Men Have Nervous Systems Which Can't Stand Strain

LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Some troublesome conditions with which we had to deal among the soldiers in the last war were the neuroses that developed. Thousands of men had nervous systems that just couldn't stand the strain! "Shell shock" was the name given to one form of war neurosis.

A soldier would be for a time in the midst of exploding shells, and though never hit by a missile, he would become dazed, tremulous and confused, sometimes developing behavior irregularities.

Duplicated in U. S.

Some of the foreign medical journals are reporting cases of neuroses in non-combatants, and I read as I read of them that I seem to see them duplicated in some of my friends in the United States who are in no way directly involved in the war abroad.

Less fortunate than we are civilians in foreign countries who are exposed to the possibility of (1) air-concussion, a form of shell shock and (2) suffocation trauma. Air-concussion, from proximity to exploding bombs, may initiate every form of hysteria, anxiety, psychosis and malignering; in this war more so because the explosives are so much more powerful. Suffocation trauma is relatively uncommon but there is, as might be imagined, a psychological result which comes from being buried for a while in debris.

The civilian in a nation at war, aside from the possibility of these physical accidents, may be exposed to a mental conflict from the following dangers: (1) He may fight. (2) He may take to flight (this often causes more sheer terror than facing bullets). (3) He may dramatize his condition. (4) He may do nothing but feel.

Form of Hysteria

The two last possibilities are the ones which seem to me to be the real possibilities in our own civil population. Dramatizing the condition includes bombastic speeches about what one should do, imaginary dramatization of pain, fear, fatigue, helplessness and hunger. It is a form of hysteria.

The man or woman who does nothing but feel may enter into a state of anxiety neurosis. It may result in a serious nervous breakdown. It was not so much the fighting that men had to do in the trenches, as the anxiety of waiting, inactivity and restriction which brought on some neuroses.

Canadians are already dealing with such conditions in their own civil population. On the American side they are not so obvious but we should keep them in mind and remember when we are talking to our friends that the strain of the situation can induce either a mild hysteria or a mild anxiety neurosis.

Wanted Veterinarian

Atlanta, April 25 (AP)—A farmer wandered into the law department at the state capitol and asked for the Veterans' Department.

The clerk directed him to the state veterinarian.

Fifteen Cincinnati Relief Workers Find $2,500 in Gold

Cincinnati, April 25 (AP) — The gold strike made by fifteen city relief workers yesterday has turned out to be worth an estimated $2,500. Meanwhile City Solicitor John D. Ellis made a formal ruling of "finders' keepers" and the old gold coins found in a buried box were returned by the city to the finders.

One negro who fled with his share rather than place it in the city's custody pending Ellis' ruling was reported to have poured $625 out of his hat at home. He didn't show up for work today.

New Deal

had unjustly punished business to the determent of the whole country and had criticized industry "for being unable to do what the government prevents it from doing."

In this respect, Willkie said, the administration had "drained the vitality and confidence" from industry and then turned upon industry to "denounce it for its failure to recover and make wild charges concerning a 'strike' of capital."

Says New Deal Will Fail

Knudsen joined Willkie in analyzing business' position by asserting that "this idea of having everybody get poor so nobody can get rich is not going to work in the long run." In his prepared address, he contended that "business needs a lot of encouragement" and should receive a "reasonable amount of credit" for putting people to work "rather than constant scolding because we are not doing enough for those not working."

He declared "security" had almost come to "stand for a living whether anyone works or not," and added that recent legislation, both projected and rejected, had developed the idea "that this world owes everybody a living regardless."

While Knudsen pleaded for cooperation among industry, labor and government, Willkie implored the government to relax "restrictive" processes which he said were stifling industry and harming the nation.

Says Jobs Are Possible

The three basic factors of economic enterprise, the inventor, the investor and the administor, Willkie said, "can provide jobs enough and products enough to restore prosperity to America."

"But first we shall have to remove the political restrictions."

The New Deal, Willkie continued, was in the position of the Egyptian Pharoah who ordered his taskmasters to take away the straw from the Israelites and at the same time direct them to make as many bricks as before.

"The story is not different today," he said. "The taskmasters in Washington have taken away that freedom of economic enterprise which is as vital to recovery as straw was to the making of bricks.

"And then they have turned on the leaders of these enterprises and blamed them for unemployment and depression. But in the words of the people of old we say: The fault is in thine own people."

"The greatest need in the labor picture today is for better management on the labor side," Knudsen said, adding that strikes in several instances had, under unwise leadership, cost workmen as much in lost wages as wage increases sought in the strike would yield in five years.

Union contracts stressing "seniority," he said, actually hampered workers because it froze them in jobs and thwarted their efforts to secure better employment. The seniority rulings virtually substituted "so-called security for opportunity," he continued.

Kate Smith Will Mark Anniversary On Radio Tonight

Important Track Meets Will Be Broadcast This Afternoon

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD,
Associated Press Radio Editor

New York, April 25—Kate Smith celebrates her ninth anniversary in broadcasting Friday night. In doing so she will have Jack Benny as the particular guest of her 8 o'clock program on WABC-CBS. Benny is supposed to appear as a violin virtuoso rather than a comedian, he hopes.

Two of the season's important track meets are to have space on the chains in the afternoon, under this schedule: Penn relays—MBS 4:15 and 5:15; CBS and WJZ-NBC 5:15. Drake relays—CBS 3:15.

Salute to Byrd

The Philadelphia Bulletin is to provide the every-other-week salute to the Byrd Antarctic expedition on WEAF-NBC at 11:30. Then among the other features on the list are: WJZ-NBC at 1:30 Third annual American Design award luncheon, Pres. Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago in the list of speakers; MBS 9:30 Command Performance, Henry Hull of "Tobacco Road" in "Ben Hur;" WABC-CBS 10, Grand Central station dramas starting their third year on this chain.

Discussion Periods

Discussion: MBS 1, Col. Louis Johnson, assistant secretar yof war, on "Railroads and National Defense" before American Association of Railroads luncheon; WJZ-NBC 10:30, Gov. A. H. James of Pennsylvania on "The Present Crisis" before Indiana Republican Editorial association; MBS 10:45, James H. R. Cromwell on "Youth Training and Good Government" before Hi-Y Clubs of New Jersey.

Europe—NBC 8 a. m.; CBS 8 a. m., 6:30, 8:55, 11 p. m.; WEAF-NBC 7:15; WJZ-NBC and MBS 10.

Kate Smith Will Mark Anniversary On Radio Tonight

Important Track Meets Will Be Broadcast This Afternoon

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD,
Associated Press Radio Editor

New York, April 25—Kate Smith celebrates her ninth anniversary in broadcasting Friday night. In doing so she will have Jack Benny as the particular guest of her 8 o'clock program on WABC-CBS. Benny is supposed to appear as a violin virtuoso rather than a comedian, he hopes.

Two of the season's important track meets are to have space on the chains in the afternoon, under this schedule: Penn relays—MBS 4:15 and 5:15; CBS and WJZ-NBC 5:15. Drake relays—CBS 3:15.

Salute to Byrd

The Philadelphia Bulletin is to provide the every-other-week salute to the Byrd Antarctic expedition on WEAF-NBC at 11:30. Then among the other features on the list are: WJZ-NBC at 1:30 Third annual American Design award luncheon, Pres. Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago in the list of speakers; MBS 9:30 Command Performance, Henry Hull of "Tobacco Road" in "Ben Hur;" WABC-CBS 10, Grand Central station dramas starting their third year on this chain.

Discussion Periods

Discussion: MBS 1, Col. Louis Johnson, assistant secretar yof war, on "Railroads and National Defense" before American Association of Railroads luncheon; WJZ-NBC 10:30, Gov. A. H. James of Pennsylvania on "The Present Crisis" before Indiana Republican Editorial association; MBS 10:45, James H. R. Cromwell on "Youth Training and Good Government" before Hi-Y Clubs of New Jersey.

Europe—NBC 8 a. m.; CBS 8 a. m., 6:30, 8:55, 11 p. m.; WEAF-NBC 7:15; WJZ-NBC and MBS 10.

PITCHFORK-FISHING IN COLORADO

A freak wind blew the waters of Lake Meredith a half-mile inland near Sugar City, Colo., and in with the wind went several million fish, which were left high and dry when the lake went back where it came from. Farmers in the vicinity are using the fish, estimated at 30 freight car-loads, for fertilizer, as shown.

SALLY'S SALLIES

There's nothing more expensive than being too good natured.

With England at war, London's police have to make two pairs of trousers last two-and-a-half years instead of eighteen months, and they must wear their gloves four years instead of two.

Date for Trial Of Negroes Has Not Been Fixed

Snow Hill, Md., April 25 (AP)—The date for the trial of two negroes charged with the murder of Harvey Pilchard, Stockton farmer, still depends upon the complete recovery of his widow, it is announced by William G. Kerbin, Jr., state's attorney of Worcester county.

Mrs. Pilchard has been released from a Wilmington, Del., hospital where she undrewent treatment for a bullet wound in her back, and is staying at the home of a daughter there.

She received the wound on the night of Feb. 11 when her husband, 61, was killed by a blast from a shotgun.

Kerbin said he had not been advised by her Wilmington physician when it would be possible for Mrs. Pilchard, the state's chief witness, to testify, and for that reason a trial date could not be set.

Arthur Collick, 28, and Charles Manuel, 18, are being held in the Baltimore county jail at Towson, jointly charged with the slaying. The trial will be held at Towson through a change of venue obtained by defense attorneys, who claimed their clients would not receive a "fair and impartial" trial in Snow Hill.

The defendants were indicted jointly for robbery, murder and assault with intent to kill Mrs. Pilchard. In addition, Collick was charged with criminally assaulting the woman.

Date for Trial Of Negroes Has Not Been Fixed

Snow Hill, Md., April 25 (AP)—The date for the trial of two negroes charged with the murder of Harvey Pilchard, Stockton farmer, still depends upon the complete recovery of his widow, it is announced by William G. Kerbin, Jr., state's attorney of Worcester county.

Mrs. Pilchard has been released from a Wilmington, Del., hospital where she undrewent treatment for a bullet wound in her back, and is staying at the home of a daughter there.

She received the wound on the night of Feb. 11 when her husband, 61, was killed by a blast from a shotgun.

Kerbin said he had not been advised by her Wilmington physician when it would be possible for Mrs. Pilchard, the state's chief witness, to testify, and for that reason a trial date could not be set.

Arthur Collick, 28, and Charles Manuel, 18, are being held in the Baltimore county jail at Towson, jointly charged with the slaying. The trial will be held at Towson through a change of venue obtained by defense attorneys, who claimed their clients would not receive a "fair and impartial" trial in Snow Hill.

The defendants were indicted jointly for robbery, murder and assault with intent to kill Mrs. Pilchard. In addition, Collick was charged with criminally assaulting the woman.

DENVER, Colo., campaigned for fewer traffic deaths. Police sought new signs that would bring home to motorists the need for safe driving. This life-sized schoolgirl is to remind drivers of special hazards near school. Other cities have similar signs.

JOHN LEE of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., had one trouble that most of us into. When riding a bus, subway, or street car, he had a hard time ing what the next stop would be. So he designed this electrical sign the benefit of passengers. It automatically turns us the name of the station.

ccused Ku Klux an Flogger Says e Was Framed lanta, April 25 (AP) — Facing ssible nine years in prison as a Klux Klan flogger, red-haired y Cawthon cried out to a jury here "I've been framed" and pleaded that he be allowed to "go home to my loved ones."

Then he shuffled back to his chair, buried his face in his wife's shoulder, and sobbed. He is accused of laying the lash across the bared backs of nine victims of night riding terrorists in suburban East Point.

The defense closed its case with the prisoner's unsworn statement — permissable under Georgia law — denying any connection with a long series of floggings climaxed by the fatal beating of a heavy-drinking barber.

Each charge is a misdemeanor and each carries a possible maximum penalty of one year in prison.

Repeatedly named by state witnesses last week as the ruthless swinger of a cruel strap, Cawthon had difficulty controlling himself while he told the jury of his impoverished boyhood, his lack of education, his long life of hard work.

He specifically charged that at least two of the state's key witnesses lied deliberately when they told of accompanying him on flogging expeditions, said lash victims were mistaken in their identifications.

Of the 171,600 tons of fertilizer used in New Jersey in 1938, potatoes received twenty-five percent, corn elen percent and tomatoes ten percent, according to the New Jersey College of Agriculture.

Britain's Toughest Soldier Commands Troops in Norway

London, April 25 (AP) — One of Britain's toughest, most wounded, fighting men, Major-General Adrian Carton De Wiart, commands the British Expeditionary Force in Norway.

Fit and hardy at sixty, Carton De Wiart wears a black patch over his left eye, which he lost in the World war. He also lost an arm in that war. Altogether he was wounded eight times—and won the Victoria Cross.

He can fire a rifle only by resting the barrel on the stump of his arm, but he is a dead shot.

After the World war he lived on a lonely marsh in Poland near the Russian frontier, but made a yearly visit to England. Nine years ago he organized a wolf shoot in Poland that killed 132 wolves.

He was a member of a British Military Mission to Poland last fall. When Germany overran that country with her blitzkrieg he escaped through Rumania.

Back in 1901 Carton De Wiart served in South Africa, where he was twice wounded. In 1914-15 he was fighting in British East Africa where he was wounded severely and was decorated with the distinguished Service Order.

THE KILLER SPEAKS

by RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

WHEN HE was sworn in as a witness, the bootlegger was asked what he had seen and heard when he first arrived at the Rio Vista club the night of Alfred Markham's death.

Calla cleared his throat. "I didn't see anyone at first," he began. "I was bringin' some wine to the club . . ." Here he looked uneasily at the district attorney. ". . . and I also was goin' to deliver some—"

I put a finger to my lips. I don't think anyone else saw the motion, but Calla was looking at me and he stopped immediately. Something in my face must have reminded him of the threat I'd made in case he discussed his dope peddling.

"Go on," urged the judge. "What else were you going to deliver?"

"And also some whiskey," finished Calla with a quickness of wit I had not expected of him. "I thought there might be someone in the garden looking for the—stuff that was ordered, so I stopped there first. I generally come up to the north side of the building in my boat when the tide is high and put the stuff in through the storeroom window next to the kitchen."

"We have heard that all the windows were locked," said McGuire.

"I knock on the window and the cook opens it."

"Who orders the whiskey and wine for the club?"

"Mr. St. Clair."

A murmur went through the courtroom. The judge rapped for silence. "And what happened when you went first to the garden?" he asked.

"I didn't see anybody, so I got out of the boat and looked through the bushes. Just then there was a big splash about ten feet to the right of me."

"In the river?"

"Yes, sir."

"What made the splash?"

"It looked like a stool. Someone had thrown it in the water. I couldn't see where it came from, that was the funny part about it. I couldn't see anyone in the garden."

"Could you see all the garden from where you stood?"

"All except a couple of feet right under the wall on the north side. I was just a little around the corner."

"Couldn't someone have stood there and thrown the stool?"

"Didn't look like there was room. He'd have to be squeezed tight against the wall so I couldn't see him, and that wouldn't give him room to make the throw."

Someone near me whispered, "That was the stool that was missing from the rose arbor!"

The judge rapped for order. "Go on," he directed Calla.

"Just then the clubhouse door opened and a man came out. It was that man there." He pointed to Jerry.

"Are you sure?" asked McGuire. "How close were you to him? Remember, it was 11 o'clock at night."

"He was only about 50 feet from me, and it was bright moonlight."

"But it is at least one hundred feet from the bushes to the door."

"He came walking toward me—out into the moonlight by the lily pond. He looked around him like he was expectin' somebody. When he got to the lily pond, something whizzed close by his head and he looked up. I thought it sounded like a coil of wire. It made a sort of hissing noise and dropped into the water near where the stool had splashed."

"Didn't Mr. Montcalm notice the splash made by the wire?" McGuire asked.

"No. He was lookin' up, tryin' to see where the thing came from. Then he stumbled over somethin' and looked down and turned white like he was sick."

"Did he say anything?"

Calla wet his lips. "He said, 'Al—what's wrong, Al?' He leaned down. I stood up so I could see what he'd tripped on. It was a man's body."

"Did Mr. Montcalm touch the body?"

"He leaned over and put his hand on the man's coat and then pulled it back quick. He said 'Blood!' in a scared kind of voice and wiped his hand on his pants. Then he ran toward the door of the clubhouse and stopped and came back, again. He rubbed his hands in the dirt to hide his footprints and then went into the clubhouse again. Pretty soon another man came out. He was Mr. St. Clair. I was just goin' to speak to him when he saw the body lyin' there. He gave a grunt and backed away from it, looked around and saw the other fellow standin' in the doorway. They both went inside and I stayed in the bushes, because I was afraid if I started away on the river someone might come out and see me.

"Nothin' much more happened for quite a while. Then those two men came out of the clubhouse." He indicated the coroner and Captain McDonald. "They fussed around the body for a while. There was a photographer who took pictures. One of the men picked up something—I couldn't see what it was.

"After they went back into the clubhouse there was another long wait until three or four men came out with a stretcher and carried the body away. There was a plain clothes dick on guard, so nobody would mess things up, I guess. Pretty soon the guy in the fancy clothes" (he indicated the coroner) "came out and talked with this dick for a while and looked around some more. Finally he went back and left the dick all alone. It wasn't very long before this other guy," pointing to me, "came around the north side of the building in his bare feet and sneaked right in front of me. I think he was lookin' for something, too. He ducked into the bushes when the first fellow came out again. I didn't want to be caught there, so I hit him over the head. He was a tough egg, though, and he fought some even after he was knocked silly. Lucky we were in the sand. There wasn't a sound, except a river boat splashin' around the bend. Nobody heard us. I tied this guy and dumped him into my rowboat. When the coast was clear I pulled away with him and left him in a warehouse a little ways upstream.

"And that is everything you remember about what happened? McGuire asked.

Calla held up his hand. "Everything. It's all the truth."

The district attorney asked Calla if he had delivered the bootleg liquor.

"Not on your life! I never went back there again!"

I remembered Calla's threat to the boy who had committed suicide. Calla had tried to force the boy to take over the job of delivering the liquor the next night. The fact that he had never gone back might also account for the fact that Tony had become violent. Calla had quit delivering his drugs.

More likely, though, I told myself, Tony had obtained his drugs through Alfred Markham, and with Alfred's death he lost his only source of supply. That would account for Tony's tears and for his cry, "Poor Mr. Al. He wasa so good to me!"

My thoughts were interrupted by Calla stepping down from the witness stand. He was escorted out of the room under guard.

McGuire addressed the judge. "Your honor," he said. "This man's testimony shows that Mr. Montcalm was telling the truth when he said he found Mr. Markham already dead in the garden. There is also another man who saw the same thing. He did not testify before because he already was tangled up with this mystery more than he wanted to be. I think he will tell his story now, since he is no longer under suspicion. I wish to call Mr. William Strickland to the stand.

Yugoslavia and Soviet To Resume Relations

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, April 25 (AP)—Vice-Premier Vladimir Macek said here that the impending trade treaty between Soviet Russia and Yugoslavia will be followed by resumption of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

There have been no such relations since the Russian revolution.

Moreover, the usually government-inspired Zagreb newspaper Novosti said Yugoslavia and the Soviets were "brought together through London."

Novosti also said that the Soviets told the British, when agreeing to take up relations with Yugoslavia, that the U.S.S.R. recognizes the status quo in the Balkans and has no intention of seeking to Communize the peninsula.

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

WHEN HE was sworn in as a witness, the bootlegger was asked what he had seen and heard when he first arrived at the Rio Vista club the night of Alfred Markham's death.

Calla cleared his throat. "I didn't see anyone at first," he began. "I was bringin' some wine to the club . . ." Here he looked uneasily at the district attorney. ". . . and I also was goin' to deliver some—"

I put a finger to my lips. I don't think anyone else saw the motion, but Calla was looking at me and he stopped immediately. Something in my face must have reminded him of the threat I'd made in case he discussed his dope peddling.

"Go on," urged the judge. "What else were you going to deliver?"

"And also some whiskey," finished Calla with a quickness of wit I had not expected of him. "I thought there might be someone in the garden looking for the—stuff that was ordered, so I stopped there first. I generally come up to the north side of the building in my boat when the tide is high and put the stuff in through the storeroom window next to the kitchen."

"We have heard that all the windows were locked," said McGuire.

"I knock on the window and the cook opens it."

"Who orders the whiskey and wine for the club?"

"Mr. St. Clair."

A murmur went through the courtroom. The judge rapped for silence. "And what happened when you went first to the garden?" he asked.

"I didn't see anybody, so I got out of the boat and looked through the bushes. Just then there was a big splash about ten feet to the right of me."

"In the river?"

"Yes, sir."

"What made the splash?"

"It looked like a stool. Someone had thrown it in the water. I couldn't see where it came from, that was the funny part about it. I couldn't see anyone in the garden."

"Could you see all the garden from where you stood?"

"All except a couple of feet right under the wall on the north side. I was just a little around the corner."

"Couldn't someone have stood there and thrown the stool?"

"Didn't look like there was room. He'd have to be squeezed tight against the wall so I couldn't see him, and that wouldn't give him room to make the throw."

Someone near me whispered, "That was the stool that was missing from the rose arbor!"

The judge rapped for order. "Go on," he directed Calla.

"Just then the clubhouse door opened and a man came out. It was that man there." He pointed to Jerry.

"Are you sure?" asked McGuire. "How close were you to him? Remember, it was 11 o'clock at night."

"He was only about 50 feet from me, and it was bright moonlight."

"But it is at least one hundred feet from the bushes to the door."

"He came walking toward me—out into the moonlight by the lily pond. He looked around him like he was expectin' somebody. When he got to the lily pond, something whizzed close by his head and he looked up. I thought it sounded like a coil of wire. It made a sort of hissing noise and dropped into the water near where the stool had splashed."

"Didn't Mr. Montcalm notice the splash made by the wire?" McGuire asked.

"No. He was lookin' up, tryin' to see where the thing came from. Then he stumbled over somethin' and looked down and turned white like he was sick."

"Did he say anything?"

Calla wet his lips. "He said, 'Al—what's wrong, Al?' He leaned down. I stood up so I could see what he'd tripped on. It was a man's body."

"Did Mr. Montcalm touch the body?"

"He leaned over and put his hand on the man's coat and then pulled it back quick. He said 'Blood!' in a scared kind of voice and wiped his hand on his pants. Then he ran toward the door of the clubhouse and stopped and came back, again. He rubbed his hands in the dirt to hide his footprints and then went into the clubhouse again. Pretty soon another man came out. He was Mr. St. Clair. I was just goin' to speak to him when he saw the body lyin' there. He gave a grunt and backed away from it, looked around and saw the other fellow standin' in the doorway. They both went inside and I stayed in the bushes, because I was afraid if I started away on the river someone might come out and see me.

"Nothin' much more happened for quite a while. Then those two men came out of the clubhouse." He indicated the coroner and Captain McDonald. "They fussed around the body for a while. There was a photographer who took pictures. One of the men picked up something—I couldn't see what it was.

Pretty soon the guy in the fancy clothes" (he indicated the coroner) "came out and talked with this dick for a while and looked around some more. Finally he went back and left the dick all alone. It wasn't very long before this other guy," pointing to me, "came around the north side of the building in his bare feet and sneaked right in front of me. I think he was lookin' for something, too. Bank, through Which O. Henry Found Grief, Soon To Be Torn Down

O. Henry

First National Bank building at Austin, Tex., where O. Henry, then William Sydney Porter, was working when he became involved in the embezzlement case that sent him to the Ohio penitentiary.

By CHAL HERRY
Central Press Correspondent

Austin, Texas, April 25 — Of O. Henry were alive, he probably would be glad to know that the old First National Bank building in Austin, Texas, will soon be torn down to make way for a new variety store.

It was while working in this bank that the famous O. Henry, then just plain William Sydney Porter, became involved in the widely discussed embezzlement case that sent him to the Ohio penitentiary for three years and three months.

O. Henry's own story is perhaps more interesting than any plot he ever originated. As a young man he was a drug clerk in Greensboro, N. C., but poor health sent him to Texas in 1882. In Texas he worked for two years as a cowboy before moving into Austin to work in a drug store, then as a real estate agent, and finally, as a draftsman in the old land office.

O. Henry Museum

In 1887, Porter, or O. Henry, married Athol Estes, of Austin. The home in which they lived for several years is now open to the public as the O. Henry Museum. Some of the original furniture and a number of family pictures are there, as well as chairs and two steel paperweights Porter used at the bank.

Porter began work as teller in the Austin First National Bank in 1891, but he didn't like the work and spent all his spare time practicing story writing. He left the bank in 1894 and tried publishing a small newspaper, the Rolling Stone. But the paper was financially unsuccessful, and Porter went to Houston in 1895 to work for a newspaper.

When a shortage at the bank was discovered, Porter was told he would be held technically responsible because he had been paying and receiving teller. So in 1896 he went to South America in hopes the trouble would blow over, but it didn't.

Porter Faces Trial

He came back to stand trial in 1897, after receiving word that his wife was dying. He was with her when she died.

The trial was not held until 1898, three years after bank shortage was noticed, but Porter was convicted of embezzlement and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary in Ohio. He was released, after serving a little more than three years, for good behavior.

But Porter's guilt has always been a subject of national discussion and controversy. Will Porter was well-liked, and because at that time the bank was known for the loose manner in which their funds were handled, many Austin people firmly believed Porter was no more guilty than some of the other officials and employes of the bank.

"Not To Blame"

Then, several years ago, the judge who had charge of Porter's prosecution, now retired, told the newspapers that before the trial, one of the bank owners interceded for William Sydney Porter. "He is not really to blame," said the owner, so Porter's case was no-billed. But the federal bank examiner came to investigate the situation and demanded that someone be charged and Porter was indicted.

While in prison, Porter developed his peculiar style of fiction writing that made him so popular, and his first readers were fellow inmates. After his release he went to Pittsburgh and then to New York where his stories soon won national fame.

O. Henry, as he was now known, married again, this time his childhood sweetheart from North Carolina. He died in New York in 1910 following an operation for a liver ailment. He was only 48 at the time of his death.

U. S. Government Finances War,' Says Bachmann

Republican Senate Aspirant Hits New Deal Gold-Buying Policy

Keyser, W. Va., April 25 —Speaking before the Mineral County Republican Women's Club at a meeting in the Odd Fellows' hall here tonight, Carl G. Bachmann, of Keyser, candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate, charged the New Deal with "financing war" by the purchase of gold at $35 an ounce.

Bachmann said that in the last five years "We have bought eleven billions of dollars of gold from foreign speculators. This sale of gold to the United States by foreign speculators has netted them the munificent profit of $4,500,000,000 up to January 1, 1940."

Use Profits of War

The former First district representative told the meeting that, as a result foreign nations are using these profits to make this country the principal source of supplies for the present war.

"Because of this attractive price we are paying," Bachmann continued, "we now have $18,250,000,000 worth of gold — about seventy-five percent of the world's total — buried in the ground in Kentucky. If the present ill-advised rate of purchase is continued, it is predicted we will have all the gold in the world by the spring of 1943.

"Every other nation will then probably repudiate gold as a money base, and all our gold in Kentucky won't be any more valuable than so much hay."

Bachmann was elected to Congress three successive terms, and was Republican whip of the House.

Last night he predicted Republican victory in West Virginia and the nation.

The negative side won in a debate with a Cumberland team on the question, "Resolved: That the President of the United States be restricted to two terms."

William Blake, campaign manager for D. Boone Dawson, Charles-town mayor and candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, was present. Dawson was in Keyser last night, but did not attend the meeting.

Lecture Tonight

Members of the Keyser Rotary club announced today that the local public will be welcome to attend an address by Robert Kazeminder, of Utica, N. Y., lecturer, traveler and writer, in the auditorium of First Methodist church tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Kazeminder will speak on "The Challenge of a Changing World."

The lecture will follow the club's annual Ladies' Night dinner, which will be served at 6:30 in the dining room of the church.

Court News

Ivan Nield, of Cumberland, entered a plea of guilty on a paternity charge before Judge Robert McV. Hall in Circuit court here this morning.

Nield admitted paternity of a child born last March to a girl of Mount Pinto. The Cumberland man pleaded guilty just before the case was to be tried.

He was remanded to the Mineral county jail pending the raising of $5 per week to insure payment of $5 per week toward the support of the child, as ordered by Judge Drane.

After impanelling juries for the trial of Amy Dixon versus the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company, and L. Grace Snider versus the National Life Insurance company of New York, docketed for trial today and Monday, respectively, the court discharged the rest of the petit jurors, subject to recall.

Mrs. Garland L. Johnson entertained at bridge at her home on North Mineral street last night. Five tables were in play. High prizes was won by Mrs. A. G. Springer; second, Mrs. W. F. McFarland; and floating prize, Mrs. Lyle Wilson.

Jimmie Armstrong, organist at Pittsburgh radio station KDKA, will give a recital at Trinity Lutheran church here Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. H. K. Briley, state president of the American Legion Auxiliary, left this morning for Hundred and Weston, where she will attend auxiliary meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Romig will leave tomorrow for Baltimore and Philadelphia, where they will visit their sons, G. V. Romig and Dr. Paul Romig, over the weekend.

Mrs. W. I. Cheshire is visiting in Washington at the home of her daughter, Miss Almeda Cheshire.

BUSINESS AS USUAL IN MARIETTA, OHIO

Marietta, O., businessmen struggle to carry on despite the flood waters of the Ohio river which inundated the city. Note one of the rowboats coming out of one of the business structures. The Ohio reached a crest of eight and one-half feet above flood level before starting to recede.

McKenna Enters Not Guilty Plea

W. Va. Official Denies Illegal Use of Franked Envelopes

Charleston, W. Va., April 25 (AP)—A plea of innocent to a charge of using government-franked envelopes to avoid payment of postage was entered today by Director C. P. McKenna of the State Employment Service.

After making his plea, McKenna was granted a continuance of one week by Federal Judge George W. McClintic.

The complaint against McKenna was filed by U. S. District Attorney L. R. Via, April 18, basing charges on three letters which discussed the creation of a "benefit fund" among department employes. McKenna was placed under $500 bond at that time by Judge McClintic.

U. S. Senator M. M. Neely of Fairmont, head of the "federal" wing of the Democratic party in West Virginia, said in a Senate speech that he had the letters and that political campaign funds were being "extorted" from state employes. Neely said at that time he intended to turn the letters over to the district attorney.

The first of the missives to J. Thomas Lane, former district manager of the employment service at Clarksburg, was dated February 24, 1938, and marked "personal." It discussed the advisability of creating "within our own organization" a benefit fund from voluntary contributions "for the many and varied needs of the permanent personnel."

The only specific purpose mentioned was to "eliminate the necessity of solicitation from time to time."

The second letter, dated March 14, 1938, dealt with supervision of the fund and the third asked Lane to restate objections to the proposal.

Lane has said that he turned the letters over to Neely. The former district manager closed his tenure with the employment service January 31, 1940.

Shahan Scores 'State Machine'

W. Va. Senate Aspirant Proclaims Himself 'New Deal Candidate'

Follansbee, W. Va., April 25 (AP)—State Senator J. Buhl Shahan of Elkins, campaigning for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senate, declared tonight that "the state machine has tried to hold back the cause of democracy" and proclaimed himself the "New Deal candidate."

"Senator M. M. Neely, (aspirant for the gubernatorial nomination) and President Roosevelt are solely responsible for West Virginia's shift to the Democratic cause," Shahan said in an address at a rally of Hancock, Brooke and Ohio county Democrats. West Virginia formerly was Republican.

Shahan predicted that "Roosevelt will be forced to run for a third term," and added:

"I am the New Deal candidate for the United States Senate. I am for Roosevelt for a third term."

Delegate John W. Bosworth of Elkins, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State, asserted that "we must stand or fall by the great reform achieved in the New Deal era. x x x The Democratic party today is the party of Roosevelt and liberalism. x x x."

Teachers College Plans To Give 'Faust' May 10

Frostburg, April 25 — The Department of Music of State Teachers College, preparing to present "Faust" Friday evening May 10, is carrying out the most ambitious program yet attempted.

In this presentation, the Maryland Singers, a chorus of sixty voices, attractively garbed as soldiers and villagers, sing some of the best known musical literature of all time. There is the stirring "Soldiers' Chorus," the beautiful "Spring" music and the famous closing scene, "The Chorus of Redemption."

In the solo passages such favorites as the "Jewel Song", as sung by Margarita, the stirring baritone solo, "Even Bravest Hearts May Swell," and other favorites will add to the evening's pleasure.

Grantsville News And Social Notes

Grantsville, April 25—Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Miller entertained members of the Helping Hand class of the Lutheran Sunday school at their home last night.

The club is sponsoring a bake sale, which is to be held at the Broadwater store Saturday, and the early part of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of business matters and completing the final plans for their sale. The proceeds derived from this source will be added to the fund to help defray the expense of their electric organ.

Chinese checkers and other games provided diversion during the social hour which followed, and refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting of the class will be held Wednesday, May 29.

Aged Man Saves $27 for Tombstone; Son-in-Law Held for 'Borrowing' It

Moorefield, W. Va., April 25.—Andrew Fitzwater, aged citizen of Chipley's Sawmill section, had been saving a little here and a little there until he had $27 to buy a tombstone for his wife's grave.

He lived with his daughter and her husband, Furman Combs, and kept the money hidden in a salve box in an old pocket book hung in a fruit closet.

Mr. and Mrs. Combs were moving to near Winchester, and Mr. Fritzwater was moving to the home of another son, Daniel Fitzwater, at Fort Run. They packed and moved, and after they left, Mr. Fitzwater missed the money he had saved over such a long time for his wife's tombstone.

The state troopers were sent for, and they went over to Virginia and brought back Combs to stand trial before Justice-of-the-Peace J. Harry Dolan on a charge of grand larceny. He was released under a $500 bond to await the next meeting of the grand jury.

The young man admited taking the money, but said he intended to pay it back as soon as he could replace it. He had made arrangements to buy his wife a second hand cooking stove for $20 and he needed the money to meet that debt, he declared.

Mr. Fitzwater said if the young man had asked him he would have lent it to him but the way it disappeared, he didn't know it was just "borrowed."

Miners Escape On Ladders Put Down Air Shaft

Frostburg Rescue Squad Answers Call; 3 Mules Remain Trapped

The hook and ladder of the Frostburg Fire Department was summoned to Sullivan's little vein coal mine at Borden Mines about 9 o'clock this morning to help rescue twenty miners who were trapped in the mine, along with three mules, when the driver on an out-going trip ran into a fall that blocked the main heading of the mine about 300 yards from the entrance.

The miners were brought out through an air shaft, which is used for ventilation.

The fire department rescue squad, consisting of Karl Nickel, Thomas Kerr, Harry L. Michael and David Kiddly, lowered ladders down the air shaft to the trapped men thirty-eight feet below the surface. The miners climbed up one by one, none the worse for their experience.

The mules were left in the mine until the fall is cleaned up, which will probably be completed by tomorrow afternoon.

The men trapped in the mine were Alvin Carder, Robert and John Gordon, Samuel Cosgrove, Martin, Clayton, Richard and Willard Larue, John, Albert, Jay and Anthony Spitaro, George Krapf, Howard Durst, John Carder, Lloyd Klink, Michael Conlon, Thomas Parise, George Hawkins and Mine Foreman Richard Hawkins.

The mine opening is near the Hager residence in Borden, and the air shaft through which the men were rescued is in a rye field several hundred yards from the mine opening.

The mine produces fuel coal which is trucked to Cumberland and other points. John Sullivan is owner of the mine.

McKenna Enters Not Guilty Plea

W. Va. Official Denies Illegal Use of Franked Envelopes

Charleston, W. Va., April 25 (AP)—A plea of innocent to a charge of using government-franked envelopes to avoid payment of postage was entered today by Director C. P. McKenna of the State Employment Service.

After making his plea, McKenna was granted a continuance of one week by Federal Judge George W. McClintic.

The complaint against McKenna was filed by U. S. District Attorney L. R. Via, April 18, basing charges on three letters which discussed the creation of a "benefit fund" among department employes. McKenna was placed under $500 bond at that time by Judge McClintic.

U. S. Senator M. M. Neely of Fairmont, head of the "federal" wing of the Democratic party in West Virginia, said in a Senate speech that he had the letters and that political campaign funds were being "extorted" from state employes. Neely said at that time he intended to turn the letters over to the district attorney.

The first of the missives to J. Thomas Lane, former district manager of the employment service at Clarksburg, was dated February 24, 1938, and marked "personal." It discussed the advisability of creating "within our own organization" a benefit fund from voluntary contributions "for the many and varied needs of the permanent personnel."

The only specific purpose mentioned was to "eliminate the necessity of solicitation from time to time."

The second letter, dated March 14, 1938, dealt with supervision of the fund and the third asked Lane to restate objections to the proposal.

Lane has said that he turned the letters over to Neely. The former district manager closed his tenure with the employment service January 31, 1940.

Shahan predicted that "Roosevelt will be forced to run for a third term," and added:

"I am the New Deal candidate for the United States Senate. I am for Roosevelt for a third term."

Delegate John W. Bosworth of Elkins, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State, asserted that "we must stand or fall by the great reform achieved in the New Deal era. x x x The Democratic party today is the party of Roosevelt and liberalism. x x x."

The state troopers were sent for, and they went over to Virginia and brought back Combs to stand trial before Justice-of-the-Peace J. Harry Dolan on a charge of grand larceny. He was released under a $500 bond to await the next meeting of the grand jury.

The young man admited taking the money, but said he intended to pay it back as soon as he could replace it. He had made arrangements to buy his wife a second hand cooking stove for $20 and he needed the money to meet that debt, he declared.

Mr. Fitzwater said if the young man had asked him he would have lent it to him but the way it disappeared, he didn't know it was just "borrowed."

Frostburg Rescue Squad Answers Call; 3 Mules Remain Trapped

The hook and ladder of the Frostburg Fire Department was summoned to Sullivan's little vein coal mine at Borden Mines about 9 o'clock this morning to help rescue twenty miners who were trapped in the mine, along with three mules, when the driver on an out-going trip ran into a fall that blocked the main heading of the mine about 300 yards from the entrance.

The miners were brought out through an air shaft, which is used for ventilation.

The fire department rescue squad, consisting of Karl Nickel, Thomas Kerr, Harry L. Michael and David Kiddly, lowered ladders down the air shaft to the trapped men thirty-eight feet below the surface. The miners climbed up one by one, none the worse for their experience.

The mules were left in the mine until the fall is cleaned up, which will probably be completed by tomorrow afternoon.

The men trapped in the mine were Alvin Carder, Robert and John Gordon, Samuel Cosgrove, Martin, Clayton, Richard and Willard Larue, John, Albert, Jay and Anthony Spitaro, George Krapf, Howard Durst, Jonn Carder, Lloyd Klink, Michael Conlon, Thomas Parise, George Hawkins and Mine Foreman Richard Hawkins.

The mine opening is near the Hager residence in Borden, and the air shaft through which the men were rescued is in a rye field several hundred yards from the mine opening.

The mine produces fuel coal which is trucked to Cumberland and other points. John Sullivan is owner of the mine.

Garrett Pea Growers Lose Market; Cannery Not To Operat

Farmers' Efforts Fail To Prevent Plant's Closing

300 Farmers Affected by Closing of Mt. Airy Canning Company

Oakland, April 24.—The canning plant of the Mount Airy Canning Company at Loch Lynn will not operate this year it was announced definitely yesterday evening by Joseph Welch, local man in charge.

During the past several weeks there have been efforts made by interested farmers and business men to complete some satisfactory arrangements by which operations could be continued here.

Pea growers of the county had been receiving approximately $100,000 annually for the past several years. Last year, while costing about $16 per acre for seed, the yield was only about one-half a ton per acre, for which the farmers received $20 under the cooperative arrangement they had with the operating company. In previous years the yield had been much better and the farmers had been paid by contract, receiving as high as $52 per ton for their crop.

About three hundred farmers had been vitally interested in growing peas for the past several years, as it was a cash crop that matured early. A number of the same farmers and others were also interested in growing corn for the cannery, a crop which matured much later. A season's pea crop was anywhere from 65,000 cases to 125,000 cases. The plant each year employed as many as 125 persons during the summer months.

Last year the canning company did not plan to open the plant as the crop of the previous year had been a "bumper" one and the market was overstocked, but farmers of the county got busy and produced peas under a cooperative arrangement.

The company has filed proceedings in the bankruptcy court for relief and reorganization, the case being on the docket in the United States District Court of Maryland, and a hearing is scheduled for May 3.

Mr. Welch said everything possible would be done to have the cannery open under some arrangement next year, but that it was definite that the plant would not open in 1940.

Probe Continues

Investigation into the series of Deep Creek Lake property robberies is being continued this week by county authorities as the five who were apprehended last week still remain in custody.

Brought before Magistrate Charles F. White this week Charles R. Savedge, of Deer Park, James Hugh Bray and Mrs. Hager Hamilton all waived hearings and were held under bonds of $1,000 each for their appearance at the September term of Court. Gus Weicht and Mrs. Tom Moore are being held under bonds of $500 each as material witnesses. All the parties remain in the county jail, having been unable thus far to furnish the requisite bonds.

During the past two years or more property owners along the 75-mile shoreline have sustained heavy losses due to robberies. As many of the cottages are rather isolated it has been difficult for officers to find any clues leading to the arrest of the suspected guilty parties.

The five persons being held at present are alleged to be involved in a series of robberies in the Green Glade section of the lake front, but State's Attorney Neil C. Fraley stated he felt sure that this accused group was working with at least one other group, and that when the investigation was completed a number of other robberies would be cleared up.

Some of the articles stolen from cottages in the Green Glade section are still being uncovered and identified, and officers also plan to trace some of the heavier articles such as motors, furniture, etc., which were evidently sold for junk and to second hand dealers.

Savedge, Bray and Mrs. Hamilton are being held on charges of breaking and entering and larceny. Mr. Fraley said that Bray had admitted last week that he had entered at least five cottages during the fall and winter.

The board will meet to select a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. The present secretary and treasurer are W. O. Davis and Delbert Davis.

Oakland Briefs

Miss Rebecca V. Browning, Oakland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cheston H. Browning, was one of a class of sixty-seven young women to be graduated from the Nurses Training school of Jefferson Medical College hospital, Philadelphia. Out of more than 1,000 applications for admission which the school receives annually, about 100 are accepted for the three-year period of training.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Welch are disposing of much of their personal property on Saturday incident to their moving into their new home on Oak street which they recently purchased from Mrs. Sara B. Kimmell. Mr. Welch sold his property on the Mountain Lake Park road to Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Warnick, who will move into it next week.

Mrs. Samuel Aronhalt and Mrs. Paul Naylor have returned from Baltimore, where they attended the sessions of the grand chapter, Order of Eastern Star, as representatives of the local organization.

Workmen are engaged in razing a one-story building in rear of the Miller building, on the corner of Second and Liberty. The building was erected many years ago and used for a long time as a bowling alley, later as a photograph gallery and still later as a restaurant. The entrance was just off the boardwalk which used to run from Second street to the B&O railroad.

The second presentation of the operetta, "Mulligan's Magic", was given this evening by the pupils of the Oakland elementary school in the new school auditorium. The performance was given also last evening before a large audience.

Workmen began removing sod from the ground location of the new postoffice building on Second street yesterday and have been hauling it to the municipal golf course where it is being placed on several of the fairways. The actual excavation work for the foundation will get under way tomorrow with the arrival of the company's machinery, it was stated.

Kump Welcomes Senate Probe Of Expenditures

Ex-Governor Offers To Bare Records to Investigating Committee

Washington, April 25 (AP) — An offer to "open every file and record that I have" was made today by former Governor H. G. Kump of West Virginia to the Senate Campaign Expenditures Investigating Committee.

Kump, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate, made the offer in a telegram to Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), chairman of the committee; to the end the state "may be freed of the imputation of wrong doing."

Gillette announced yesterday that representatives would be sent to West Virginia but did not disclose what charges would be investigated.

U. S. Senator M. M. Neely, who is running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in West Virginia, has charged repeatedly that campaign funds have been "blackjacked" from state employes in West Virginia through "two per cent clubs" to finance the "statehouse" faction of the Democratic party, which is opposed to Neely's own "federal" wing.

Neely said he had asked the campaign expenditures committee to make the investigation in West Virginia and also requested the aid of government agents in policing the West Virginia election May 14. He added that his conference with Attorney-General Robert Jackson was "very satisfactory."

Kump, who has the backing of the statehouse group in his senatorial contest, said in his telegram sent from Logan, W. Va.:

"I assure you that I shall welcome the opportunity to provide your investigators with all information that I possess and to open every file and record I have to the end that the light of truth may shine upon every act of mine in this behalf and that the good name of West Virginia may be freed from imputation of wrong doing placed upon her by the information given you."

"I appreciate the offer of cooperation with investigators by Mr. Kump, and I am sure every good citizen of West Virginia will be just as cooperative," Gillette commented.

"No statement of mine or any member of the committee has referred to anyone, nor do we have any interest in any political party.

Convict Indicted In Cop's Slaying

Grand Jury Charges Man with Murder, Felonious Wounding

Buckhannon, W. Va., April 25 (AP) —Byzantine Hartman, 40-year-old former convict, was indicted for murder and felonious wounding today by a special grand jury convening just four days after the slaying of City Patrolman Wilbur Grubb and the shooting of Ben H. Thomason.

The jurors brought in the bills two hours after they received their instructions from Circuit Judge John F. Brown.

Hartman afterward was brought into court for arraignment but after the court had appointed Dowell Jennings, Buckhannon lawyer, as the defendant's attorney, no plea was entered.

Instead, Jennings made exception to the indictments for more time in which to study them and Judge Brown agreed to hear any defense motions tomorrow.

The court indicated the case would be placed on the docket about May 6.

Hartman, after his court appearance, was returned to the Lewis County jail at Weston, where he was taken Sunday shortly after his arrest when 200 citizens gathered outside the Upshur county jail here.

Thomason appeared before the grand jury.

Grubb, called to the Hartman home on a complaint that Byzantine was choking his mother, was shot and killed as he attempted to arrest the man, Sheriff H. A. Zickefoose reported. Thomason, a neighbor who accompanied Grubb to Hartman home, was wounded though not seriously, as he fle

Hazardous Practices at Home---Worse than Being in a Bombing Raid

Being in artillery not as risky as this

She might as well be in a bombing raid

Twice as risky as learning combat flying

Like sailing in the submarine zone

You aren't going to believe this at first, but 'tis so: Your chances of sudden death when dodging across a busy American street are almost exactly the same as if you were in a European city under air bombardment for the 15 to 20 seconds it takes you to reach the far curb; the housewife who does her dry-cleaning with naptha, benzene or gasoline is subject to almost double the hazard of death or fatal injury as is the student air pilot; the drunken driver puts himself and his passengers under approximately the same hazard of death as if they were in a contraband-carrying ship in the present submarine zones. These, and other hazard ratios have been worked out by the Northwestern National Life Insurance company of Minneapolis.

Brought before Magistrate Charles F. White this week Charles R. Savedge, of Deer Park, James Hugh Bray and Mrs. Hager Hamilton all waived hearings and were held under bonds of $1,000 each for their appearance at the September term of Court. Gus Weicht and Mrs. Tom Moore are being held under bonds of $500 each as material witnesses. All the parties remain in the county jail, having been unable thus far to furnish the requisite bonds.

During the past two years or more property owners along the 75-mile shoreline have sustained heavy losses due to robberies. As many of the cottages are rather isolated it has been difficult for officers to find any clues leading to the arrest of the suspected guilty parties.

The five persons being held at present are alleged to be involved in a series of robberies in the Green Glade section of the lake front, but State's Attorney Neil C. Fraley stated he felt sure that this accused group was working with at least one other group, and that when the investigation was completed a number of other robberies would be cleared up.

Some of the articles stolen from cottages in the Green Glade section are still being uncovered and identified, and officers also plan to trace some of the heavier articles such as motors, furniture, etc., which were evidently sold for junk and to second hand dealers.

Savedge, Bray and Mrs. Hamilton are being held on charges of breaking and entering and larceny. Mr. Fraley said that Bray had admitted last week that he had entered at least five cottages during the fall and winter.

Hold-over members are Grover C. Stemple, Emroy Bolden and Cecil Smith, with Mr. Stemple as president of the club and Mr. Smith vice-president.

Oakland Briefs

Miss Rebecca V. Browning, Oakland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cheston H. Browning, was one of a class of sixty-seven young women to be graduated from the Nurses Training school of Jefferson Medical College hospital, Philadelphia. Out of more than 1,000 applications for admission which the school receives annually, about 100 are accepted for the three-year period of training.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Welch are disposing of much of their personal property on Saturday incident to their moving into their new home on Oak street which they recently purchased from Mrs. Sara B. Kimmell. Mr. Welch sold his property on the Mountain Lake Park road to Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Warnick, who will move into it next week.

Mrs. Samuel Aronhalt and Mrs. Paul Naylor have returned from Baltimore, where they attended the sessions of the grand chapter, Order of Eastern Star, as representatives of the local organization.

Workmen are engaged in razing a one-story building in rear of the Miller building, on the corner of Second and Liberty. The building was erected many years ago and used for a long time as a bowling alley, later as a photograph gallery and still later as a restaurant. The entrance was just off the boardwalk which used to run from Second street to the B&O railroad.

The second presentation of the operetta, "Mulligan's Magic", was given this evening by the pupils of the Oakland elementary school in the new school auditorium. The performance was given also last evening before a large audience.

Workmen began removing sod from the ground location of the new postoffice building on Second street yesterday and have been hauling it to the municipal golf course where it is being placed on several of the fairways. The actual excavation work for the foundation will get under way tomorrow with the arrival of the company's machinery, it was stated.

Kump Welcomes Senate Probe Of Expenditures

Ex-Governor Offers To Bare Records to Investigating Committee

Washington, April 25 (AP) — An offer to "open every file and record that I have" was made today by former Governor H. G. Kump of West Virginia to the Senate Campaign Expenditures Investigating Committee.

Kump, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate, made the offer in a telegram to Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), chairman of the committee; to the end the state "may be freed of the imputation of wrong doing."

Gillette announced yesterday that representatives would be sent to West Virginia but did not disclose what charges would be investigated.

U. S. Senator M. M. Neely, who is running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in West Virginia, has charged repeatedly that campaign funds have been "blackjacked" from state employes in West Virginia through "two per cent clubs" to finance the "statehouse" faction of the Democratic party, which is opposed to Neely's own "federal" wing.

Neely said he had asked the campaign expenditures committee to make the investigation in West Virginia and also requested the aid of government agents in policing the West Virginia election May 14. He added that his conference with Attorney-General Robert Jackson was "very satisfactory."

Kump, who has the backing of the statehouse group in his senatorial contest, said in his telegram sent from Logan, W. Va.:

"I assure you that I shall welcome the opportunity to provide your investigators with all information that I possess and to open every file and record I have to the end that the light of truth may shine upon every act of mine in this behalf and that the good name of West Virginia may be freed from imputation of wrong doing placed upon her by the information given you."

"I appreciate the offer of cooperation with investigators by Mr. Kump, and I am sure every good citizen of West Virginia will be just as cooperative," Gillette commented.

"No statement of mine or any member of the committee has referred to anyone, nor do we have any interest in any political party.

Grand Jury Charges Man with Murder, Felonious Wounding

Buckhannon, W. Va., April 25 (AP)—Byzantine Hartman, 40-year-old former convict, was indicted for murder and felonious wounding today by a special grand jury convening just four days after the slaying of City Patrolman Wilbur Grubb and the shooting of Ben H. Thomason.

The jurors brought in the bills two hours after they received their instructions from Circuit Judge John F. Brown.

Hartman afterward was brought into court for arraignment but after the court had appointed Dowell Jennings, Buckhannon lawyer, as the defendant's attorney, no plea was entered.

Instead, Jennings made exception to the indictments for more time in which to study them and Judge Brown agreed to hear any defense motions tomorrow.

The court indicated the case would be placed on the docket about May 6.

Hartman, after his court appearance, was returned to the Lewis County jail at Weston, where he was taken Sunday shortly after his arrest when 200 citizens gathered outside the Upshur county jail here.

Thomason appeared before the grand jury.

Grubb, called to the Hartman home on a complaint that Byzantine was choking his mother, was shot and killed as he attempted to arrest the man, Sheriff H. A. Zickefoose reported. Thomason, a neighbor who accompanied Grubb to Hartman home, was wounded, though not seriously, as he fl

Hazardous Practices at Home---Worse than Being in a Bombing Raid

Being in artillery not as risky as this

She might as well be in a bombing raid

Twice as risky as learning combat flying

Like sailing in the submarine zone

You aren't going to believe this at first, but 'tis so: Your chances of sudden death when dodging across a busy American street are almost exactly the same as if you were in a European city under air bombardment for the 15 to 20 seconds it takes you to reach the far curb; the housewife who does her dry-cleaning with naptha, benzene or gasoline is subject to almost double the hazard of death or fatal injury as is the student air pilot; the drunken driver puts himself and his passengers under approximately the same hazard of death as if they were in a contraband-carrying ship in the present submarine zones. These, and other hazard ratios have been worked out by the Northwestern National Life Insurance company of Minneapolis.

Nature Has Own Training Method, Educator Says

Declares Many Children Often Do Not Appreciate Beautiful Things

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Many children under five never have seen the stars. When our eldest child was about four it suddenly occurred to us he had never noticed the lights in the heavens, although we had spent the summer in the country. One night we kept him up for the new experience. Having seen pictures of the moon, he shouted when he saw it, "Moon! Daddy moon! Baby moons!" The baby moons were the stars. For older children, even in the crowded city, looking up at the stars on a clear night is a rich experience.

Some city children beyond ten or twelve, of course, get a touch with nature through camping, scouting and the like. And the city school has done much to acquaint the child with Nature, especially with plants, flowers, small animals and lowly creatures like frogs, snakes and turtles, which are to be seen in the modern elementary classroom. Yet, most city children have never heard the piping of the peepers in the pond, the croaking of the bullfrog or the morning bird chorus of the woods.

Few Have Appreciation

The pity of it is that so many children right in the county have so little conscious apperciation and enjoyment of all the beautiful things of nature about them. When I was a child on a farm in a lovely valley, I did not, as I recall, know many of the trees, flowers and birds by name. But just to recall a sunrise or sunset, or the songs of the birds as I awoke on a spring morning, or of the whippoor-will as I went to bed, gives me more emotion now than any I must have had when I used to live amidst these beauties. I wish I might have been exposed to someone at home or school who habitually experienced emotions over these gems of nature.

Should Study Nature

If only I had known more of the birds, flowers and trees there by name and had helped my school children know them so, I could have done more good. How much more comfortable and happy we feel when we can address a person by his name. So with the things of Nature; to know them by name is to feel happy with them and enjoy them.

Fortunate is the child whose parents go with him into the woods and fields and by the streams, alert to the growing things and living creatures to be heard or seen; provided, of course, the child learns not to trespass on private property. We parents owe it to the moral character of our children to be exacting of ourselves in these matters and to see that our children learn from their earliest years to be very considerate of the rights and possessions of other people.

Akron, O., April 25 (AP)—Marshal Thomas Youtz, of nearby Mogadore village, arrested an alleged army deserter and a companion just after listening to a nationally broadcast radio gangster program.

George F. Furr, 19, of Mount Pleasant, Tex., and Edward B. Myers, 25, of Fairmont, W. Va., were charged with possession of an automobile stolen April 2, in San Antonio, Tex. Deputy Roy Templeton said Furr admitted he deserted from Fort Sam Houston January 8.

Youtz said a description of the automobile was broadcast and he noticed the car while on traffic duty at a school.

Theaters Today

Deanna Graduates To Romantic Comedy

Kay Francis plays Deanna's mother in the new film. Opening scenes find the pair united in a theater dressing room. At the conclusion of the sequence, Deanna leaves and Miss Francis, eyeing her, says to Cecilia Loftus, "I guess I'd better stop calling her baby."

Hollywood, also, no longer calls Deanna baby.

The child who made a remarkable debut in "Three Smart Girls" in 1936 is not a child any more, although her record of six straight hits testifies that she is still remarkable.

Now the star emerges as a young lady in "It's a Date," in which she has two romantic opposites—Lewis Howard of "First Love" and Walter Pidgeon. She enjoys the fullest meaning of the word "glamour" with her largest and most beautiful wardrobe, including twenty-three costume changes.

Eugene Pallette, Samuel S. Hinds, Fritz Feld, S. Z. Sakall, Henry Stephenson and Harry Owens and his Royal Hawaiians are in "It's a Date."

Adventure and Crime Pictures Are at Garden

"Hopalong Cassidy" travels 5,000 miles — to romantic Argentina — for adventure in his latest film "Law of the Pampas," now showing at the Garden theater.

William Boyd, who again portrays the dauntless American range hero, strays from the home corral in "Law of the Pampas" when he is sent to the Argentine — along with his saddlemate Russell Hayden — to deliver a herd of prize cattle bought by a wealthy ranching family down there.

Although Boyd's intention is to complete his business and have a look at the great country below the equator, he can't get away from trouble and his duty as an amateur law-enforcer, even in Argentina.

A production from the choice of the best twelve crime stories of the year, "The Witness Vanishes," starts today at the Garden.

It was made by Crime Club Productions at the Universal Studios, the only producing company—aside from western units—dedicated exclusively to the production of one type of picture.

Renfrew and Farm Life Pictures Are Presented

One of the popular radio series on the air today is the "Renfrew of the Mounted" dramatization by Laurie York Erskine.

However, Erskine does not concentrate his Renfrew writing talents on radio alone. He has also published many novels on this famed character, one of his latest being "Renfrew's Long Trail."

Monogram, realizing the vast interest created in the series on the air and amongst readers, decided to bring the series to the screen. Currently showing in the Renfrew series is "Danger Ahead," now at the Embassy theater with Jimmy Newill in the leading role.

A good-natured story of life on the farm that will recall many a nostalgic memory of the old swimming hole is Monogram's "Tomboy," which opens today also at the Embassy theater.

It is the story of Steve, a poor farm boy who wants an education, and of his uncle, who insists that he quit school to work on the farm. Things are at an impasse until Pat Kelly arrives in town.

She is the daughter of a retired baseball player who is "settling down" in Middleton, and the town is aghast at Pat's modern outlook and slangy speech. But Pat gives Steve courage and hope as she plots with her father and the pretty school teacher to solve his problem.

TROUBLE!

"Blondie" views with alarm when husband "Dagwood" nostalgically reminisces with an old flame . . . and well she might, because the lovely siren clinging to the happy-but-harassed "Dagwood" is Rita Hayworth, glamorous screen star. "Blondie" is really Penny Singleton; "Dagwood" is really Arthur Lake, and this is a scene from Columbia's "Blondie on a Budget," newest of the domestic comedies opening Monday at the Maryland Theater.

Romance of Life and Society Is at Maryland

"I Take This Woman," a dramatic romance of New York life and society, brings Spencer Tracy and the glamorous Hedy Lamarr together at the Maryland theater.

A dramatic story of a social butterfly who finds her happiness with an earnest physician in a tenement clinic after her society romance has crashed, the play deals with the sacrifice of the constant lover and the final regeneration of the woman for whom he nearly sacrifices his entire career. Action of the interesting story ranges all the way from gay night clubs, penthouses and fashion salons to the tenements.

It is Miss Lamarr's first modern American picture. She is more glamorous than ever and turns in a skillful dramatic performance that will delight her many fans. Tracy, who has never disappointed his public, does a masterful job with a powerful role.

The cast includes Verree Teasdale, Kent Taylor, Laraine Day, Mona Barrie, Jack Carson, Paul Cavanaugh, Louis Calhern, Frances Drake, Marjorie Main, George E. Stone, Willie Best, Don Castle, Dallies Frantz and Reed Hadley.

Selfishness Is Seen As Causing Most Divorces

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX, Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage — Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The morning's mail brings a letter from a correspondent who tells me that her brother-in-law is urging his wife to get a divorce.

So desperate is this man to break his matrimonial bonds that he is willing to finance the trip to Reno, give his wife a spectacular cause for divorce, and see that she is taken care of for life. All he wants is never to hear from her again.

You know, of course, that men who decline to pay alimony, in certain states, go to jail, and that this man's wife may not lack adequate support, he is deeding to her a nice little piece of business property which will make her comfortable, whether she marries or remains single.

Now, what do you suppose the demand for this divorce was all about? There was no siren in the case, the husband wasn't stingy but gave his wife an ample allowance for the house and herself, he didn't drink—but he did smoke an extremely malodorous pipe. And he smoked all over the house, "upstairs, downstairs, in my lady's chamber," as the nursery rhyme has it. He lit his pipe as soon as he got home, and he smoked until he went to bed.

Objected to Smoke

The draperies, carpets, sofa cushions reeked with the stale smell of an old pipe, and the wife in question just wouldn't stand it another minute. She stormed, she sulked, she insisted that her husband go out in the cold, chilly streets in winter to smoke. During the first days of the honeymoon he was docile. Over snowy streets in winter and steamy hot streets in summer, he carried the solace of a not conspicuously happy marriage.

But toward the end of the second year he struck and actually sat on the sacred sofa of the living room, piled the cushions under his head, and smoked. So the gentleman who felt more like a foundling left on the doorstep of his home, which he maintained in great comfort, urges his uncongenial wife to leave him,

Deanna Graduates To Romantic Comedy

Kay Francis plays Deanna's mother in the new film. Opening scenes find the pair united in a theater dressing room. At the conclusion of the sequence, Deanna leaves and Miss Francis, eyeing her, says to Cecilia Loftus, "I guess I'd better stop calling her baby."

Hollywood, also, no longer calls Deanna baby.

The child who made a remarkable debut in "Three Smart Girls" in 1936 is not a child any more, although her record of six straight hits testifies that she is still remarkable.

Now the star emerges as a young lady in "It's a Date," in which she has two romantic opposites—Lewis Howard of "First Love" and Walter Pidgeon. She enjoys the fullest meaning of the word "glamour" with her largest and most beautiful wardrobe, including twenty-three costume changes.

Eugene Pallette, Samuel S. Hinds, Fritz Feld, S. Z. Sakall, Henry Stephenson and Harry Owens and his Royal Hawaiians are in "It's a Date."

Adventure and Crime Pictures Are at Garden

"Hopalong Cassidy" travels 5,000 miles — to romantic Argentina — for adventure in his latest film, "Law of the Pampas," now showing at the Garden theater.

William Boyd, who again portrays the dauntless American range hero, strays from the home corral in "Law of the Pampas" when he is sent to the Argentine — along with his saddlemate Russell Hayden — to deliver a herd of prize cattle bought by a wealthy ranching family down there.

Although Boyd's intention is to complete his business and have a look at the great country below the equator, he can't get away from trouble and his duty as an amateur law-enforcer, even in Argentina.

A production from the choice of the best twelve crime stories of the year, "The Witness Vanishes," starts today at the Garden.

It was made by Crime Club Productions at the Universal Studios, the only producing company—aside from western units—dedicated exclusively to the production of one type of picture.

Renfrew and Farm Life Pictures Are Presented

One of the popular radio series on the air today is the "Renfrew of the Mounted" dramatization by Laurie York Erskine.

However, Erskine does not concentrate his Renfrew writing talents on radio alone. He has also published many novels on this famed character, one of his latest being "Renfrew's Long Trail."

Monogram, realizing the vast interest created in the series on the air and amongst readers, decided to bring the series to the screen. Currently showing in the Renfrew series is "Danger Ahead," now at the Embassy theater with Jimmy Newill in the leading role.

A good-natured story of life on the farm that will recall many a nostalgic memory of the old swimming hole is Monogram's "Tomboy," which opens today also at the Embassy theater.

It is the story of Steve, a poor farm boy who wants an education, and of his uncle, who insists that he quit school to work on the farm. Things are at an impasse until Pat Kelly arrives in town.

Our Woman Diplomat in Norway Is on Hand for Every World War

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman
'Pinafore To Politics'

AP Feature Service

Mrs. J Borden Harriman, U. S. minister to Norway, went to the first World war. The second World war went to Mrs. Harriman.

During World war 1, Mrs. Harriman led a Red Cross motor corps to France.

This time she was in Norway when the Germans moved in.

Mrs. Harriman is the second woman diplomat to represent the United States. The first was Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen.

Her friends call Mrs. Harriman "Daisy." She is 69, a grandmother, with closely-cropped white hair. She still fishes, plays golf, rides horseback.

She has been in politics since 1906, when she joined the Democratic party. In 1912 she founded the first woman's group ever to be active in a U. S. presidential campaign.

From 1913 to 1916 she was the only woman member of the Federal Industrial Relations committee. She jumped into the 1920 Presidential campaign because of her interest in the League of Nations. Later she became Democratic national committeewoman from the District of Columbia. And she wrote a book, "Pinafore to Politics."

She was appointed minister to Norway by President Roosevelt in 1937.

Avalanche of Good And Bad Luck

Poschiavo, Switzerland (AP) — Pierre Lardi, 16, of Poschiavo, is alive today only because the avalanche which carried him a quarter of a mile down an Alp near St. Moritz left him buried 10 feet under the snow just in front of an approaching train.

The train crew never saw Lardi, but the train was late and they went to work clearing the track. They found the youth unconscious but still alive under the snow. He recovered in a St. Moritz hospital where he was found to be bruised but otherwise uninjured.

Bee-Line to Canada

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP) — C. Elmer Morgan has developed an industry in shipping bees to Canada. About 5,00,000 are scheduled to go north this year in screen boxes.

Canada's cold winters prevent the development of bee colonies, but the sunny norther summer makes for a high rate of honey production.

Only queen bees are returned to California, the workers dying after their summer's work is over.

Bern (AP)—Cattle breeding farms maintained by the Swiss government in Bohemia, Yugoslavia and Rumania to promote the sale of Swiss breeding cattle in those countries have been discontinued for the duration of the war. Our Woman Diplomat in Norway Is on Hand for Every World War

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman
'Pinafore To Politics'

AP Feature Service

Mrs. J Borden Harriman, U. S. minister to Norway, went to the first World war. The second World war went to Mrs. Harriman.

During World war 1, Mrs. Harriman led a Red Cross motor corps to France.

This time she was in Norway when the Germans moved in.

Mrs. Harriman is the second woman diplomat to represent the United States. The first was Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen.

Her friends call Mrs. Harriman "Daisy." She is 69, a grandmother, with closely-cropped white hair. She still fishes, plays golf, rides horseback.

She has been in politics since 1906, when she joined the Democratic party. In 1912 she founded the first woman's group ever to be active in a U. S. presidential campaign.

From 1913 to 1916 she was the only woman member of the Federal Industrial Relations committee. She jumped into the 1920 Presidential campaign because of her interest in the League of Nations. Later she became Democratic national committeewoman from the District of Columbia. And she wrote a book, "Pinafore to Politics."

She was appointed minister to Norway by President Roosevelt in 1937.

Avalanche of Good And Bad Luck

Poschiavo, Switzerland (AP) — Pierre Lardi, 16, of Poschiavo, is alive today only because the avalanche which carried him a quarter of a mile down an Alp near St. Moritz left him buried 10 feet under the snow just in front of an approaching train.

The train crew never saw Lardi, but the train was late and they went to work clearing the track. They found the youth unconscious but still alive under the snow. He recovered in a St. Moritz hospital where he was found to be bruised but otherwise uninjured.

Bee-Line to Canada

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP) — C. Elmer Morgan has developed an industry in shipping bees to Canada. About 5,00,000 are scheduled to go north this year in screen boxes.

Canada's cold winters prevent the development of bee colonies, but the sunny norther summer makes for a high rate of honey production.

WIFE PRESERVERS

You increase the life of your shoes by having run-over heels rebuilt. If you walk with run-over heels the wear increases all along one side of the sole, throwing more strain on the uppers, so that they may crack.

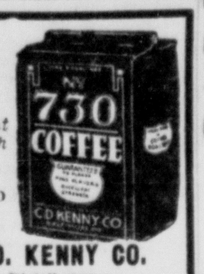

On Right Hand

On the wedding day, the bride either leaves her engagement ring at home or wears it on her right hand, as the wedding ring should not be put on over the engagement ring.

Boom in Beef

Bern (AP)—Cattle breeding farms maintained by the Swiss government in Bohemia, Yugoslavia and Rumania to promote the sale of Swiss breeding cattle in those countries have been discontinued for the duration of the war. Officials of the agricultural department explained that with things as they are in Europe, the Swiss have no trouble disposing of all the cattle they can export.

The Sportlight

Teams and Spirit

There were vague rumors under the sunny skies of St. Petersburg back in March that something was just a little shy in the camp of the Cardinals so far as any flaming team spirit was concerned. These rumors have carried along into the starting season.

Maybe they are true—maybe they are not. But if they are true the Cardinals are going to hear no gonfalonic flapping in the next flurry of autumn winds. For team spirit happens to be a vital part of any ball club, no matter how strong their individual play.

This brings up the point as to what teams in baseball history, looking back thirty years, belong around the top where the matter of team spirit is concerned? Here are just a few that I can recommend from rather close contact—

1905—McGraw's Giants with Matty, McGinnity, Devlin, Dahlen, Donlin.

1906—The Chicago White Sox with Fielder Jones, Donohue, Isbell, Walsh, Altrock.

1907—Frank Chance's Cubs with Chance, Evers, Tinker, Sheckard, Steinfeldt, Kling.

1914—The Boston Braves of George Stallings with Evers, Maranville, Rudolph, Tyler, James, Gowdy.

1934—St. Louis Cardinals with Frisch, Pepper Martin, Medwick, Dean, Delaney, Collins, Durocher—the old Gas House Gang.

1936-1939—The New York Yankees, of whom Joe McCarthy demands a team spirit, even when he has to get rid of a great pitcher and a star outfielder.

The Two Leaders

My selection from thirty-five years of baseball would place two teams on top in this respect—the White Sox of 1908 and the Boston Braves of 1914.

Neither was anything like a great ball club. The Sox then were known as the Hitless Wonders. Their team batting average was around .223. They floundered most of the year, and then under the crabby leadership of Fielder Jones and the almost raving upheaval of Jiggs Donohue at first they came along to win nineteen straight, bag the pennant from much better teams, and then whip Frank Chance's Cubs who had won 116 games that season and were supposed to be invincible.

That record of 116 victories still stands. But even such fighters as Chance, Tinker, Evers and others had nothing to match the whirlwind assault of the keyed-up Sox.

I recall asking Hughey Fullerton, one of the best of the baseball sages, about Isbell at second.

"Here's a funny angle," Hughey said. "Isbell can't hit a lick, he can't run, he has a bad arm, and he is only a fair infielder. But he is one of the greatest ball players I ever saw."

Isbell had brains and spirit to a high degree. The Sox were that brand of breed of team players.

In 1908 Ed Walsh worked in sixty-six ball games, won forty and saved twelve others. It takes spirit plus an arm, to carry this load.

About the Braves of 1914

George Stallings' Braves were much along the order of the 1906 White Sox.

They were no great ball club. They were around last place in early July. They were supposed to be the league flop. And then the vital spark arrived. They began overhauling one team after another with Rudolph, Tyler and James working in order. Rudolph, Tyler and James—Rudolph, Tyler and James—day after day, week after week, month after month.

Inaddition, there was Hank Gowdy back of the bat, and there were Johnny Evers and Rabbit Maranville working at second and short—two "disembodied spirits"—two diminutive chunks of nerve, brains and courage.

They won the pennant. They had to face Connie Mack's brilliant team that had won three pennants—a team that had Bender and Plank in the box, and McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker for an infield—one of the great teams of all time.

But the Braves beat them four straight.

For 1940

Neither may bag a pennant this season but you won't stumble over any keener spirit than Brooklyn and Pittsburgh will show this summer. Leo Durocher and Frank Frisch will handle that part of the job. Both demand hustlers still carrying along the flame of the Gas House delegation.

The Yankees depend more on deadly efficiency in all departments, rather than any competitive uplift. The lone detail that could beat them this summer would be a deficit in the old urge, after four years of mopping up. The vital spark can't carry on forever.

But the Dodgers and Pirates will have sparkle flying all over the landscape. They may not be two of the best ball clubs that ever piled into a pennant scrimmage, but neither were the White Sox of 1900 nor the Braves of 1914.

The "old college try" can make a whale of a difference.

The Steeplechase Feature

Those looking for all that makes a great sporting event will find it Saturday afternoon in the forty-seventh running of thes Maryland Hunt Run over a four-mile course of natural country with twenty-two solid oak timber fences barring the way. here is a rare test of skill, speed and endurance open only to amateur riders and blooded horses.

More than 20,000 spectators will be on hand to see whether or not Blockade, the favorite, can make it three in a row and set a new record. Blockade, eleven years old, owned by Mrs. E. Read Beard, will certainly be the one to beat. — (Released by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Seniors Set Pace In AHS Track Meet

The Seniors were showing the way, and sure of winning the Interclass track and field meet at Allegany high yesterday when the program was halted with two events yet to be staged today. They are the discuss and pole vault.

With 76 points piled up to 46 for the Juniors, the Graduates of June cannot be overtaken on the scoring system of five for firsts, four—second; three—third; two-fourth and one for fifth places.

Despite their lead in total points it is Miller of the Juniors who tops Gaffney of the Seniors for individual scoring honors. Miller has 25 points, Gaffney standing second with 17.

The sophomores have but seven points and the Freshmen three.

Coach Foy Curry advised that the condition of the course made for unusual time in some events, since the track was cut by mud puddles, and the distances abbreviated.

Summary of events:

100 yard dash—won by Rudd (Jr.), second, Durst, (Sr.), third Gaffney (Sr.). Fourth, Vernon Miller (Jr.). Fifth, James, (Soph). Time 10 and four fifths.

Mile Run—First, Gulbronson (Sr.); Hersh (Sr.) second; Mont, (Sr.), third. Three dropped out. Time 4:39 and one fifth.

Shot Put—Won by Gaffney, (Sr.); second, Miller (Jr.) Third, Bell (Sr.); fourth, Nose (Jr.); Fifth, Gulbronson (Sr.) Distance 44 feet 4 and one-quarter inches.

High Jump—Won by Richards (Sr.); Second Miller (Jr.) third, Heltzel (Sr.) fourth Muna, (Fresh); fifth, Serf, (Jr.) Five feet, two inches.

220-Yard Dash—Won by Durst, (Sr.); second Gaffney (Sr.) third, Rudd (Jr.), fourth, Miller, (Jr.); fifth, James (Sophomore). Time 23 seconds.

Shooting Star pinsters won the SS. Peter & Paul Ladies League championship last week on the Saint pinways by sweeping to victory over the Starlight crew in the loop's final engagements of the season. The Shooting Stars also copped the first half championship, thus eliminating the necessity of a rolloff match for the title.

The Stars' victory enabled them to finish seven games in front of the Mars combination which registered a 2-1 triumph over the Starlets. The last-place Moonbeams concluded the season with a triple win over the third-place Comets in the wheel's other match. Games postponed from earlier in the season will not be rolled.

Ella Mae Munro of the Shooting Stars topped all pingetters in last week matches with a 370 set. Twila Brotemarkle, also of the titlists, was second with 356 and Betty Schlinger of the Mars team was in third place with a 355 count. Other team leaders were Dorothy Schrock, Starlets 333; Nellie Rowan, Starlights 263; Kathleen Rowan, Moonbeams 304; and Frances Beckwith, Comets 244. The summaries:

Scotch keglers pulled up to within two games of the Bourbons in the Temperance League last week on the SS. Peter & Paul alleys by handing the Brandies a 3-0 setback while the league leading Bourbons were dropping one of three tussles to the Ryes. The Scotches can win the league by scoring a sweep triumph over the loop leaders in the final matches this week.

Although the Bourbons dropped the third game by eight sticks, they managed to pile up enough wood in the three engagements to establish a new team set record for the season, their three-game total amounting to 2,180 maples. In the circuit's other match the last-place Gins tripped the Cordials by a 2-1 count.

High scorers for the evening were "Cotton" Geatz, Ryes 360; Joe Wood, Bourbons 437; John Everett, Cordials 354; Sam Wood, Gins 416; Willa Harrigan, Brandies 371; and Frank Blasi, Scotches 406. The summaries:

Selfishness

set up any charges she pleases, only—get a divorce.

smokeless home for a few weeks or a month, and then she'll discover how madly she loved Tom all the time, and will be glad to have him back, pipe and all. She may become tearful as she remembers the pipe. Some wives do when they remember the foolish things which have brought about divorce.

There is never dissention of this sort in married life that couldn't be stopped in the beginning by a little common sense, forbearance and self-control.

Portiers versus Husband

A woman with a good husband, who smokes an objectionable pipe might be prompted, if only she had the gift of common sense—of deciding to do without heavy draperies. What's an old portiere to a good husband, anyhow? And she might have fewer sofa pillows, draperies, table covers and stuff like that, generally speaking. She might put up a few windows after husband and pipe disappear.

Now one could really blame this man if he took to philandering. Some little cutie might persuade him that she just adores the smell of tobacco smoke, and make him entirely comfortable never suggesting that he take his favorite solace out of doors.

From her sister's letter it appears that the smoker's wife is a terrifically neat housekeeper who loves to dust and polish. It appears she didn't want any children, because children would muss up the house; besides, one never knew how they were going to turn out.

So, the lady with her mop and broom, dust-brush and other instruments of tidiness, drove love out of the window—love and a good husband.

Own Medicine Needed

Dear Miss Fairfax:

It seems to me that a girl who comes between an engaged couple is just about as despicable as one who comes between husband and wife.

A very dear friend of mine was engaged to a man for the past two years and suddenly out of a clear sky, he broke the engagement. Three days later he married someone else who he hadn't seen for almost a year. It may not be charitable, but I hope that during her married life this girls gets a dose of her own medicine. She knew this couple were engaged, and left no stone unturned to get him.

I think my friend is better off for being rid of a man who would behave the way this one has done. Men of this type are apt to change their minds again.

A FRIEND.

I am inclined to agree with you that it's no great loss when a girl loses one of these weather-vane fiances. It argues more for the girl's happiness when an engagement of this type is broken than if it were to result in marriage. Help your friend to make new contacts and show that this experience has not hurt her.

BEAT REAL DEFENSE

ANYBODY can make a sound contract if he is lucky enough and gets enough help in the form of the defense put forth by his opponents. The real player is the one who can find a possible way to succeed against whatever defense the opponents offer. What he does is dependent upon the kind of effort launched against him.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	2 ♦	3 ♣	3 ♠

In a team of four match, the West player at one table led the diamond K, and when he saw the 6 and 4 fall on it switched to the spade 9 to the A. East returned the heart 5. South hopped in with the A, cashed the diamond A, ruffed his last diamond and later lost only to the heart K, making his contract.

At the other table South's team-mate in the West led the 9 of his partner's spade suit to the A. The heart 9 was returned to the A, the diamond A played, then the 4 to the J. West cashed his heart K, removing dummy's last trump, then took the setting diamond trick.

South at this table blamed his defeat on the defense he got, but in the post-mortem West showed him how he might have made his contract anyway. Upon winning the second trick with his heart A, he should have led a small club and let it ride, then later discarded his diamond losers on the clubs. The opponents could have spoiled that, though, by returning a club, but at least that play would have had some chance, in luring a mistake, whereas the course actually pursued proved hopeless.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

If East had bid diamonds, West spades, they run off four diamond tricks against South's 3-No Trumps, and East then leads the club 2, how should declarer determine that he ought to play to drop the Q instead of finessing?

The way to a man's heart . . .

(Yes, through his stomach, as the old saw says)

A man truly belongs to the animal kingdom when he sits down to a well-set table!

There's that aroma rising from an oozing roast. And the smoke-steam from hot biscuits and melting butter. And the bright colors of fresh vegetables and the tart salad. And—sure—a challenging mountain of fluffy, white mashed potatoes with brown, rich gravy to crawl over it!

Back of this invitation to hearty eating is the story of two sharp eyes. They belong to the housewife who planned and prepared the meal. She practiced considerable wizardy in the kitchen, of course. But long before the food even reached her house she had assured the success of her meal.

She read the food advertisements in this newspaper. She selected each item of her meal with studied care. And she set a table fit for a king . . . on an every-day allowance! By reading the advertisements she served well . . . and saved money!

Teams and Spirit

There were vague rumors under the sunny skies of St. Petersburg back in March that something was just a little shy in the camp of the Cardinals so far as any flaming team spirit was concerned. These rumors have carried along into the starting season.

Maybe they are true—maybe they are not. But if they are true the Cardinals are going to hear no gonfalonic flapping in the next flurry of autumn winds. For team spirit happens to be a vital part of any ball club, no matter how strong their individual play.

This brings up the point as to what teams in baseball history, looking back thirty years, belong around the top where the matter of team spirit is concerned? Here are just a few that I can recommend from rather close contact—

1905—McGraw's Giants with Matty, McGinnity, Devlin, Dahlen, Donlin.

1906—The Chicago White Sox with Fielder Jones, Donohue, Isbell, Walsh, Altrock.

1907—Frank Chance's Cubs with Chance, Evers, Tinker, Sheckard, Steinfeldt, Kling.

1914—The Boston Braves of George Stallings with Evers, Maranville, Rudolph, Tyler, James, Gowdy.

1934—St. Louis Cardinals with Frisch, Pepper Martin, Medwick, Dean, Delaney, Collins, Durocher—the old Gas House Gang.

1936-1939—The New York Yankees, of whom Joe McCarthy demands a team spirit, even when he has to get rid of a great pitcher and a star outfielder.

The Two Leaders

My selection from thirty-five years of baseball would place two teams on top in this respect—the White Sox of 1908 and the Boston Braves of 1914.

Neither was anything like a great ball club. The Sox then were known as the Hitless Wonders. Their team batting average was around .223. They floundered most of the year, and then under the crabby leadership of Fielder Jones and the almost raving upheaval of Jiggs Donohue at first they came along to win nineteen straight, bag the pennant from much better teams, and then whip Frank Chance's Cubs who had won 116 games that season and were supposed to be invincible.

That record of 116 victories still stands. But even such fighters as Chance, Tinker, Evers and others had nothing to match the whirlwind assault of the keyed-up Sox.

I recall asking Hughey Fullerton, one of the best of the baseball sages, about Isbell at second.

"Here's a funny angle," Hughey said. "Isbell can't hit a lick, he can't run, he has a bad arm, and he is only a fair infielder. But he is one of the greatest ball players I ever saw."

Isbell had brains and spirit to a high degree. The Sox were that brand of breed of team players.

In 1908 Ed Walsh worked in sixty-six ball games, won forty and saved twelve others. It takes spirit plus an arm, to carry this load.

About the Braves of 1914

George Stallings' Braves were much along the order of the 1906 White Sox.

They were no great ball club. They were around last place in early July. They were supposed to be the league flop. And then the vital spark arrived. They began overhauling one team after another with Rudolph, Tyler and James working in order. Rudolph, Tyler and James—Rudolph, Tyler and James—day after day, week after week, month after month.

Inaddition, there was Hank Gowdy back of the bat, and there were Johnny Evers and Rabbit Maranville working at second and short—two "disembodied spirits"—two diminutive chunks of nerve, brains and courage.

They won the pennant. They had to face Connie Mack's brilliant team that had won three pennants—a team that had Bender and Plank in the box, and McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker for an infield—one of the great teams of all time.

But the Braves beat them four straight.

Neither may bag a pennant this season but you won't stumble over any keener spirit than Brooklyn and Pittsburgh will show this summer. Leo Durocher and Frank Frisch will handle that part of the job. Both demand hustlers still carrying along the flame of the Gas House delegation.

The Yankees, depend more on deadly efficiency in all departments, rather than any competitive uplift. The lone detail that could beat them this summer would be a deficit in the old urge after four years of mopping up. The vital spark can't carry on forever.

But the Dodgers and Pirates will have sparkle flying all over the landscape. They may not be two of the best ball clubs that ever piled into a pennant scrimmage, but neither were the White Sox of 1900 nor the Braves of 1914.

The "old college try" can make a whale of a difference.

The Steeplechase Feature

Those looking for all that makes a great sporting event will find it Saturday afternoon in the forty-seventh running of thes Maryland Hunt Run over a four-mile course of natural country with twenty-two solid oak timber fences barring the way, here is a rare test of skill, speed and endurance open only to amateur riders and blooded horses.

More than 20,000 spectators will be on hand to see whether or not Blockade, the favorite, can make it three in a row and set a new record. Blockade, eleven years old, owned by Mrs. E. Read Beard, will certainly be the one to beat. — (Released by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Seniors Set Pace In AHS Track Meet

The Seniors were showing the way, and sure of winning the Interclass track and field meet at Allegany high yesterday when the program was halted with two events yet to be staged today. They are the discuss and pole vault.

With 76 points piled up to 46 for the Juniors, the Graduates of June cannot be overtaken on the scoring system of five for firsts, four—second; three—third; two-fourth and one for fifth places.

Despite their lead in total points it is Miller of the Juniors who tops Gaffney of the Seniors for individual scoring honors. Miller has 25 points, Gaffney standing second with 17.

The sophomores have but seven points and the Freshmen three.

Coach Foy Curry advised that the condition of the course made for unusual time in some events, since the track was cut by mud puddles, and the distances abbreviated.

Summary of events:

100 yard dash—won by Rudd (Jr.), second, Durst, (Sr.); third Gaffney (Sr.). Fourth, Vernon Miller (Jr.). Fifth, James, (Soph). Time 10 and four fifths.

Shooting Star pinsters won the SS. Peter & Paul Ladies League championship last week on the Saint pinways by sweeping to victory over the Starlight crew in the loop's final engagements of the season. The Shooting Stars also copped the first half championship, thus eliminating the necessity of a rolloff match for the title.

The Stars' victory enabled them to finish seven games in front of the Mars combination which registered a 2-1 triumph over the Starlets. The last-place Moonbeams concluded the season with a triple win over the third-place Comets in the wheel's other match. Games postponed from earlier in the season will not be rolled.

Ella Mae Munro of the Shooting Stars topped all pingetters in last week matches with a 370 set. Twila Brotemarkle, also of the titlists, was second with 356 and Betty Schlinger of the Mars team was in third place with a 355 count. Other team leaders were Dorothy Schrock, Starlets 333; Nellie Rowan, Starlights 263; Kathleen Rowan, Moonbeams 304; and Frances Beckwith, Comets 244. The summaries:

Scotch keglers pulled up to within two games of the Bourbons in the Temperance League last week on the SS. Peter & Paul alleys by handing the Brandies a 3-0 setback while the league leading Bourbons were dropping one of three tussles to the Ryes. The Scotches can win the league by scoring a sweep triumph over the loop leaders in the final matches this week.

Although the Bourbons dropped the third game by eight sticks, they managed to pile up enough wood in the three engagements to establish a new team set record for the season, their three-game total amounting to 2,180 maples. In the circuit's other match the last-place Gins tripped the Cordials by a 2-1 count.

High scorers for the evening were "Cotton" Geatz, Ryes 360; Joe Wood, Bourbons 437; John Everett, Cordials 354; Sam Wood, Gins 416; Willa Harrigan, Brandies 371; and Frank Blasi, Scotches 406. The summaries:

Selfishness

set up any charges she pleases, only—get a divorce.

smokeless home for a few weeks or a month, and then she'll discover how madly she loved Tom all the time, and will be glad to have him back, pipe and all. She may become tearful as she remembers the pipe. Some wives do when they remember the foolish things which have brought about divorce.

There is never dissention of this sort in married life that couldn't be stopped in the beginning by a little common sense, forbearance and self-control.

Portiers versus Husband

A woman with a good husband, who smokes an objectionable pipe might be prompted, if only she had the gift of common sense—of deciding to do without heavy draperies. What's an old portiere to a good husband, anyhow? And she might have fewer sofa pillows, draperies, table covers and stuff like that, generally speaking. She might put up a few windows after husband and pipe disappear.

Now one could really blame this man if he took to philandering. Some little cutie might persuade him that she just adores the smell of tobacco smoke, and make him entirely comfortable never suggesting that he take his favorite solace out of doors.

From her sister's letter it appears that the smoker's wife is a terrifically neat housekeeper who loves to dust and polish. It appears she didn't want any children, because children would muss up the house; besides, one never knew how they were going to turn out.

So, the lady with her mop and broom, dust-brush and other instruments of tidiness, drove love out of the window—love and a good husband.

Own Medicine Needed

Dear Miss Fairfax:

It seems to me that a girl who comes between an engaged couple is just about as despicable as one who comes between husband and wife.

A very dear friend of mine was engaged to a man for the past two years and suddenly out of a clear sky, he broke the engagement. Three days later he married someone else who he hadn't seen for almost a year. It may not be charitable, but I hope that during her married life this girls gets a dose of her own medicine. She knew this couple were engaged, and left no stone unturned to get him.

I think my friend is better off for being rid of a man who would behave the way this one has done. Men of this type are apt to change their minds again.

A FRIEND.

I am inclined to agree with you that it's no great loss when a girl loses one of these weather-vane fiances. It argues more for the girl's happiness when an engagement of this type is broken than if it were to result in marriage. Help your friend to make new contacts and show that this experience has not hurt her.

"The Authority on Authorities"

BEAT REAL DEFENSE

ANYBODY can make a sound contract if he is lucky enough and gets enough help in the form of the defense put forth by his opponents. The real player is the one who can find a possible way to succeed against whatever defense the opponents offer. What he does is dependent upon the kind of effort launched against him.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	2 ♦	3 ♣	3 ♠

In a team of four match, the West player at one table led the diamond K, and when he saw the 6 and 4 fall on it switched to the spade 9 to the A. East returned the heart 5. South hopped in with the A, cashed the diamond A, ruffed his last diamond and later lost only to the heart K, making his contract.

At the other table South's team-mate in the West led the 9 of his partner's spade suit to the A. The heart 9 was returned to the A, the diamond A played, then the 4 to the J. West cashed his heart K, removing dummy's last trump, then took the setting diamond trick.

South at this table blamed his defeat on the defense he got, but in the post-mortem West showed him how he might have made his contract anyway. Upon winning the second trick with his heart A, he should have led a small club and let it ride, then later discarded his diamond losers on the clubs. The opponents could have spoiled that, though, by returning a club, but at least that play would have had some chance, in luring a mistake, whereas the course actually pursued proved hopeless.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

If East had bid diamonds, West spades, they run off four diamond tricks against South's 3-No Trumps, and East then leads the club 2, how should declarer determine that he ought to play to drop the Q instead of finessing?

The way to a man's heart . . .

(Yes, through his stomach, as the old saw says)

A man truly belongs to the animal kingdom when he sits down to a well-set table!

There's that aroma rising from an oozing roast. And the smoke-steam from hot biscuits and melting butter. And the bright colors of fresh vegetables and the tart salad. And—sure—a challenging mountain of fluffy, white mashed potatoes with brown, rich gravy to crawl over it!

Back of this invitation to hearty eating is the story of two sharp eyes. They belong to the housewife who planned and prepared the meal. She practiced considerable wizardy in the kitchen, of course. But long before the food even reached her house she had assured the success of her meal.

She read the food advertisements in this newspaper. She selected each item of her meal with studied care. And she set a table fit for a king . . . on an every-day allowance! By reading the advertisements she served well . . . and saved money!

Early Gains in Stock Market Give Way to Losses Near Close

Conflicting News Hampers Efforts To Keep Prices Up

By FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, April 25 (AP)—Conflicting news currents gave the stock market a ragged appearance today but quiet strength of steels and specialties helped prop the list.

Gains ran to two points or so for favorites but these were substantially reduced at the close and many minus signs appeared.

The steel group had the benefit of the Carnegie-Illinois move in rescinding recent price cuts as of May 1. After the conclusion of the session Bethlehem directors voted a dividend of $1.25 on the common stock and reported first quarter net of $3.02 a share against seventeen cents in the same 1939 period. Both the dividend and earnings were in line with Wall Street's expectations. Bethlehem common fell back at the finish and emerged with only ¾ of a point gain, while U. S. Steel eased from its top to end up ⅞. At the day's peak Bethlehem was at a new year's high.

The Associated Press average of sixty issues was unchanged at 50.3. Despite slowdowns, transfers totalled 854,420 shares against 854,330 yesterday.

Curb gainers up to a point or more were Babcock & Wilcox, Bell Aircraft, Creole Petroleum and Freeze Corp. Declines were posted by American Republics, Niagara Hudson Power and Electric Bond & Share. Volume was around 197,000 shares compared with 232,000 the day before.

An Hour before

Ushers at a church wedding should be at the church about an hour before the time set for the ceremony.

Your Voice Counts

Listen to your own voice and intonations. It is not only pleasing, but it is good manners to speak pleasantly in a low quiet voice, which can be acquired if you will but watch your tones and lower those high notes to make them clearly audible but pleasantly low pitched. A pleasant cordial voice will help you win friends.

No Longer Done

On reaching the church for the wedding, the bride takes the glove from her left hand so that the wedding ring may be slipped on. It has been the custom in the past for her to slit the finger of the glove on her ring finger, but this is no longer done.

In the Vestry

Boutonniers for the ushers at a church wedding are usually put on in the church vestry or coatroom.

Early Gains in Stock Market Give Way to Losses Near Close

Conflicting News Hampers Efforts To Keep Prices Up

By FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, April 25 (AP)—Conflicting news currents gave the stock market a ragged appearance today but quiet strength of steels and specialties helped prop the list.

Gains ran to two points or so for favorites but these were substantially reduced at the close and many losses signs appeared.

The steel group had the benefit of the Carnegie-Illinois move in rescinding recent price cuts as of May 1. After the conclusion of the session Bethlehem directors voted a dividend of $1.25 on the common stock and reported first quarter net of $3.02 a share against seventeen cents in the same 1939 period. Both the dividend and earnings were in line with Wall Street's expectations. Bethlehem common fell back at the finish and emerged with only ¾ of a point gain, while U. S. Steel eased from its top to end up ⅞. At this day's peak Bethlehem was at a new year's high.

The Associated Press average of sixty issues was unchanged at 50.3. Despite slowdowns, transfers totalled 855,420 shares against 854,350 yesterday.

Curb gainers up to a point or more were Babcock & Wilcox, Bell Aircraft, Creole Petroleum and Freeze Corp. Declines were posted by American Republics, Niagara Hudson Power and Electric Bond & Share. Volume was around 197,000 shares compared with 232,000 the day before.

Ushers at a church wedding should be at the church about an hour before the time set for the ceremony.

Your Voice Counts

Listen to your own voice and intonations. It is not only pleasing, but it is good manners to speak pleasantly in a low quiet voice, which can be acquired if you will but watch your tones and lower those high notes to make them clearly audible but pleasantly low pitched. A pleasant cordial voice will help you win friends.

No Longer Done

On reaching the church for the wedding, the bride takes the glove from her left hand so that the wedding ring may be slipped on. It has been the custom in the past for her to slit the finger of the glove on her ring finger, but this is no longer done.

In the Vestry

Boutonniers for the ushers at a church wedding are usually put on in the church vestry or coatroom.

to take cuttings from delphiniums, since at this time the plants are most vigorous.

Each cutting should have a piece of the crown attached to it, as shown in the illustration. Take cuttings which are from three to six inches long. Remove all opened leaves.

Plant the cuttings in a flat or frame outdoors and use clean, sharp, slightly acid sand. The cuttings will require shading at first from direct sunlight. As the roots begin to form, however, gradually allow more sunlight until finally they are growing in full sun.

In about a month's time the cuttings will have rooted, and they can then be transplanted into small flower pots and later set out in the garden.

Got a Flogging

"I have the evidence right here in my hand," the compliant sobbed. "It's a hair brush. My mama flogged me. Tell the police to come and get her."

The SPORT TRAIL

By WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, April 25 (AP) — The little guy is gone now, and even his worst enemies will miss him and speak respectfully of his ability and his initiative and his loyalty, particularly his loyalty.

For Joe Jacobs, who could cook up such amazing publicity stunts as the "Gimmick" story and put them in circulation with an air of bland innocence, never spoke a derogatory word about his fighters, no matter how shamefully they might treat him.

He might allow his men to take a merciless beating, maybe cry a little over it as he did as he hovered about the cruelly battered Tony Galento last Summer after Joe Louis' fists had stamped their bloody message. That was a fighter's business, to give, and to take.

But he quickly would rise to the defense of his charges, or remain silent when he could not be criticized for openly resenting harsh treatment.

His dealings with Max Schmeling are common knowledge; how the alert little fellow steered the German to a championship won by Jacob's own quick wit; how he was shunted aside by Schmeling as racial consciousness swept Germany.

When Galento, capitalizing on the Jacob's-brewed fame, took a turn on the stage most of the newspaper men ventured the opinion that as an actor Tony was a pretty good fighter. Joe resented this so much that for weeks he wouldn't speak to some of the more acid-penned critics.

Mental pictures of little Joe stick vividly in the mind. For instance, there was the night of the Lou Nova-Max Baer fight, when, long after Yankee Stadium had become just a big black void, he sat alone in a ringside chair gazing thoughtfully at the still lighted ring where soon his Tony would be meeting the Brown Bomber.

There was the night when he came so close to having another world champion only to see Joe Louis' fist prevail; when after the brief semi-hysterical interlude after the knockout he circulated cheerfully among the tardy ringsiders, grinning behind his smoke screen.

But he is best remembered away from the ring; a sartorial masterpiece from shoes polished to a dazzling sheen to expensive hat topping hair greying over shell-pink cheeks; the Broadway dandy who turned night into day and to whom a midnight shave was a ritual.

He could be found late most any afternoon when he was in town lolling in one of the big leather chairs in Mike Jacobs' office, exchanging ring gossip with rival managers and newspaper men. He never was at a loss for words, sharp and challenging if the occasion demanded, a soft purr when the sun was bright in the Jacobs' sky.

Just a few weeks ago we ran across him at Tampa. He was guiding Tony on a barnstorming refereeing tour, and even then making plans for a new assault on the world heavyweight championship.

And now the little guy is gone, and the fight rainbow has lost its most vivid color.

Cards Nose Out Pirates 10-9 in Long-Winded Tilt

Pittsburgh, April 25. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took their second National League victory of the season today by nosing out the faltering Pittsburgh Pirates 10 to 9 in a game requiring three hours and 12 minutes.

The Red Birds rapped out 22 hits off four Pittsburgh pitchers. But with Elbie Fletcher driving in four runs while Lloyd Waner was getting four hits and scoring three times, the Pirates remained in the game until the ninth.

With two Bucs on base in the final inning Johnny Mize threw out Pep Young at the plate on a weak roller by Lloyd Waner, and Bob Elliott grounded into a force play to end the contest.

Bob Feller Aided By Two Home Runs Beats Chicago 3-1

Hemsley and Heath Blast Circuit Blows for Cleveland

Cleveland, April 25 (AP)—Bob Feller conquered the Chicago White Sox again today, 3 to 1, but it taok a pair of home runs—by Rollie Hemsley and Jeff Heath—to turn the trick.

The lad who opened the season at Chicago with a no-hitter held the Sox to six scattered blows until the ninth frame, when the invaders converted a walk and single into their first score off Feller in eighteen innings.

Chicago collected eight hits, one of them a triple by Bob Kennedy, while the Tribe nicked southpaw Edgar Smith for six and Clint Brown for one. Brown succeeded Smith in the eighth.

Hemsley blasted his homer with two out in the second. Heath rifled his circuit clout with two down in the eighth.

Cleveland scored in the seventh on a wild throw. Keltner opened with a walk and scored when Kennedy whipped the ball into right field attempting to catch Hemsley, who bunted down the third base line.

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Gerald Walker lined a double against the far left field wall with the bases loaded and two out to give Washington a 7 to 6 victory today over Philadelphia.

The Senators went into the ninth with the score 6 to 1 against them and then, after the first two men went out, got six hits and a base on balls to clinch the game.

Up until the ninth, Philadelphia had things pretty much as they wanted them, with Bennie McCoy and Wally Moses rapping out three hits against a trio of Washington pitchers.

Conn Adds Weight And Confidence He Can Defeat Louis

Light-Heavy Champ Now Tips Scales at 185 Pounds

Charleston, W. Va., April 25 (AP) — Billy Conn, now that he is putting on weight, is one fighter unafraid of the shell-shocking Joe Louis because the Pennsylvanian thinks "I can beat him."

At 22 unabashed years and weighing, he said, "close to 185 pounds," the former lightheavyweight champion has it all figured as to how he is going to put Bombing Joe among the has-beens.

There may be a knockout of Louis by Conn, Conn conceded, but "I'll try to outbox him and outpoint him."

"Louis," said Conn, "is a fair boxer. But I don't think he is the best boxer in the world."

"It's possible I could knock Louis out. It's not impossible. Stanley Ketchell knocked Jack Johnson down and Ketchell weighed only 160 pounds. Anything is possible in boxing.

The Pittsburgh lad who for about a year couldn't gain beyond 175 pounds and thereby threw doubt in many minds that he ever would amount to much as a heavyweight, said his recent layoff had boosted his poundage.

Twentieth Century Social Club To Open

Designed to meet the needs of young men interested in the manly art of self-defense, the Twentieth Century Social Club will hold its formal opening next Monday evening, April 29, at 8 o'clock, with a smoker program featuring amateur and professional boxers of the section. The card will be open to the public.

The Twentieth Century S. C., now located in its new North Mechanic street headquarters, has a boxing ring, heavy and punching bags, rubbing tables, showers and other equipment necessary to the needs of the fistic industry.

Johnny Gambino, major domo of the club, announced today that Charlie Burns, Charlie Brant and "Woody" Boord, all slated for action on the next Cumberland Athletic Club card Friday, May 10, will come here May 5 to avail themselves of the Twentieth Century's training facilities as his guests. He expects them to arrange to complete their chores at his spot with other workouts during the week.

Giants Pound Out Eleven Hits and Beat Boston 9-1

Take Full Advantage of Secondary Hurling as Lohrman Stars

New York, April 25 (AP) — The Giants took full advantage of the Boston Bees' secondary pitching staff today with an 11-hit assault on three hurlers that was good for a 9 to 1 victory.

Burgess Whitehead homered with two on and Babe Young, who had won yesterday's game against the Phillies with a three-run homer, tripled with two aboard.

Bill Lohrman pitched smart six-hit ball in accompaniment to this outburst and had a shutout until the seventh.

Joe Callahan started on the mound for the Bees, but gave up two runs and couldn't get a man out in the first before Tom Earley was called in. He gave way in the sixth to George Barnicle, who finished with two hits in the last five innings, but hit three batters, walked two and made a wild pitch.

Hagerstown Golf Pro Goes to Martinsburg

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 25 (AP) —Robert Diffendal of Hagerstown, Md., will be the professional for the 1940 season at the Opequon Golf Club, which for several years has been without a pro.

Diffendal has been a professional for 18 years.

Fellow Californian Has Budge on Run but Falters

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 25 (AP) — A young man from California gave Donald Budge an unhappy time of it for a while today but the professional ace pulled himself together in plenty of time to take his U. S. Open quarter-finals match 4-6, 7-5, 8-6, 6-3.

Budge, who had pushovers in his first two matches of the fourth annual pro-amateur tennis event, faltered momentarily in the face of the daring game thrown at him by John Faunce, bent on upsetting the redhead.

Budge double-faulted several times, lost on his own service and several times was caught flatfooted as Faunce carried the battle to him.

The topnotcher regained himself in the second set after falling behind 5-3 and took four straight games to run it out. In the third frame, the games were split evenly until Budge dynamited through to win the last two.

Faunce lost his touch in the fourth set, carrying Budge to three game and then fading rapidly to get only five points in the last three.

Tobey Hansen of Hot Springs, Va., who staged an "iron man" act yesterday with two matches totaling nine hours and 40 minutes, and his doubles partner Wilmer Hines, found themselves too fatigued to play in today's doubles and defaulted to Budge and Bruce Barnes of Austin, Tex.

City Softball League Meeting This Evening

Organization of a City Softball League will be discussed at a meeting to be held at the home of Robert "Sparky" Chisholm, 304 North Centre street, tonight at 8 o'clock.

After operating for several years, a city loop failed to reorganize last season and after a lapse of one year, Chisholm hopes to find that interest has been revived sufficiently to merit the formation of a circuit.

According to Chisholm, a number of teams have shown interest in the undertaking. They include the North End Merchants, champions of the North End League last season; East Side Merchants, German Brewery, Martin's Marketeers, Trozzo Whirlwinds, East Side and West Side.

It is hoped to form a six-club league playing under Playground Athletic League rules with the winning outfit to compete in the annual state championship tournament.

Colts To Workout

Joe Barley, manager of the Cumberland Colts of the Bi-State League, has called practice sessions for all players at Community Park at 5 o'clock this afternoon, Saturday and Sunday.

Barley welcomes all candidates for the club to be on hand for drills and has hopes of finding some young material for the team.

Umpires Considered By Bi-State League

At a meeting of Bi-State Baseball League managers and umpires Wednesday at the Clary Club, umpires fro the 1940 season were considered by representatives of five of the six clubs.

Applying for jobs were the following arbiters: Charles Miller, Keyser; Jim Merrbach, Lonaconing; Floyd Payne, Keyser; Ray Middleton, Frostburg; Frank Kenney, Westernport; Ralph Dusic, Keyser, and John Angellatta and Bob Mauk, Cumberland.

Otho Dyer, Barron Sampsell and Herb Bailey, who umpired last season, did not attend the session but league officials hope that this trio, along with Miller, Merrbach, Middleton, Kenney and Umpire-in-Chief "Bobby" Cavanaugh, can be counted on this year.

It was decided that all umpires will wear some sort of uniform and white was the color agreed upon. Another meeting will be held next Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Central Y. M. C. A.

Attending the session as team representatives were Joe Carbacio, Keyser; Tommy McGuire, Westernport; Fred Clapper, Hyndman; Simeon Green, Enoch Price and Bob Lee, Frostburg, and "Bub" Robertson and Tom Byrnes, Midland.

The SPORT TRAIL

By WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, April 25 (AP) — The little guy is gone now, and even his worst enemies will miss him and speak respectfully of his ability and his initiative and his loyalty, particularly his loyalty.

For Joe Jacobs, who could cook up such amazing publicity stunts as the "Gimmick" story and put them in circulation with an air of bland innocence, never spoke a derogatory word about his fighters, no matter how shamefully they might treat him.

He might allow his men to take a merciless beating, maybe cry a little over it as he did as he hovered about the cruelly battered Tony Galento last Summer after Joe Louis' fists had stamped their bloody message. That was a fighter's business, to give, and to take.

But he quickly would rise to the defense of his charges, or remain silent when he could not be criticized for openly resenting harsh treatment.

His dealings with Max Schmeling are common knowledge; how the alert little fellow steered the German to a championship won by Jacob's own quick wit; how he was shunted aside by Schmeling as racial consciousness swept Germany.

When Galento, capitalizing on the Jacob's-brewed fame, took a turn on the stage most of the newspaper men ventured the opinion that as an actor Tony was a pretty good fighter. Joe resented this so much that for weeks he wouldn't speak to some of the more acid-penned critics.

Mental pictures of little Joe stick vividly in the mind. For instance, there was the night of the Lou Nova-Max Baer fight, when, long after Yankee Stadium had become just a big black void, he sat alone in a ringside chair gazing thoughtfully at the still lighted ring where soon his Tony would be meeting the Brown Bomber.

There was the night when he came so close to having another world champion only to see Joe Louis' fist prevail; when after the brief semi-hysterical interlude after the knockout he circulated cheerfully among the tardy ringsiders, grinning behind his smoke screen.

But he is best remembered away from the ring; a sartorial masterpiece from shoes polished to a dazzling sheen to expensive hat topping hair greying over shell-pink cheeks; the Broadway dandy who turned night into day and to whom a midnight shave was a ritual.

He could be found late most any afternoon when he was in town lolling in one of the big leather chairs in Mike Jacobs' office, exchanging ring gossip with rival managers and newspaper men. He never was at a loss for words, sharp and challenging if the occasion demanded, a soft purr when the sun was bright in the Jacobs' sky.

Just a few weeks ago we ran across him at Tampa. He was guiding Tony on a barnstorming refereeing tour, and even then making plans for a new assault on the world heavyweight championship.

And now the little guy is gone, and the fight rainbow has lost its most vivid color.

Cards Nose Out Pirates 10-9 in Long-Winded Tilt

Pittsburgh, April 25. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took their second National League victory of the season today by nosing out the faltering Pittsburgh Pirates 10 to 9 in a game requiring three hours and 12 minutes.

The Red Birds rapped out 22 hits off four Pittsburgh pitchers. But with Elbie Fletcher driving in four runs while Lloyd Waner was getting four hits and scoring three times, the Pirates remained in the game until the ninth.

With two Bucs on base in the final inning Johnny Mize threw out Pep Young at the plate on a weak roller by Lloyd Waner, and Bob Elliott grounded into a force play to end the contest.

Bob Feller Aided By Two Home Runs Beats Chicago 3-1

Hemsley and Heath Blast Circuit Blows for Cleveland

Cleveland, April 25 (AP)—Bob Feller conquered the Chicago White Sox again today, 3 to 1, but it taok a pair of home runs—by Rollie Hemsley and Jeff Heath—to turn the trick.

The lad who opened the season at Chicago with a no-hitter held the Sox to six scattered blows until the ninth frame, when the invaders converted a walk and single into their first score off Feller in eighteen innings.

Chicago collected eight hits, one of them a triple by Bob Kennedy, while the Tribe nicked southpaw Edgar Smith for six and Clint Brown for one. Brown succeeded Smith in the eighth.

Hemsley blasted his homer with two out in the second. Heath rifled his circuit clout with two down in the eighth.

Washington Scores Six In Ninth To Win by 7-6

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Gerald Walker lined a double against the far left field wall with the bases loaded and two out to give Washington a 7 to 6 victory today over Philadelphia.

The Senators went into the ninth with the score 6 to 1 against them and then, after the first two men went out, got six hits and a base on balls to clinch the game.

Up until the ninth, Philadelphia had things pretty much as they wanted them, with Bennie McCoy and Wally Moses rapping out three hits against a trio of Washington pitchers.

Conn Adds Weight And Confidence He Can Defeat Louis

Light-Heavy Champ Now Tips Scales at 185 Pounds

Charleston, W. Va., April 25 (AP) — Billy Conn, now that he is putting on weight, is one fighter unafraid of the shell-shocking Joe Louis because the Pennsylvanian thinks "I can beat him."

At 22 unabashed years and weighing, he said, "close to 185 pounds," the former lightheavyweight champion has it all figured as to how he is going to put Bombing Joe among the has-beens.

There may be a knockout of Louis by Conn, Conn conceded, but "I'll try to outbox him and outpoint him."

"Louis," said Conn, "is a fair boxer. But I don't think he is the best boxer in the world."

"It's possible I could knock Louis out. It's not impossible. Stanley Ketchell knocked Jack Johnson down and Ketchell weighed only 160 pounds. Anything is possible in boxing.

The Pittsburgh lad who for about a year couldn't gain beyond 175 pounds and thereby threw doubt in many minds that he ever would amount to much as a heavyweight, said his recent layoff had boosted his poundage.

Twentieth Century Social Club To Open

Designed to meet the needs of young men interested in the manly art of self-defense, the Twentieth Century Social Club will hold its formal opening next Monday evening, April 29, at 8 o'clock, with a smoker program featuring amateur and professional boxers of the section. The card will be open to the public.

The Twentieth Century S. C., now located in its new North Mechanic street headquarters, has a boxing ring, heavy and punching bags, rubbing tables, showers and other equipment necessary to the needs of the fistic industry.

Johnny Gambino, major domo of the club, announced today that Charlie Burns, Charlie Brant and "Woody" Boord, all slated for action on the next Cumberland Athletic Club card Friday, May 10, will come here May 5 to avail themselves of the Twentieth Century's training facilities as his guests. He expects them to arrange to complete their chores at his spot with other workouts during the week.

Giants Pound Out Eleven Hits and Beat Boston 9-1

Take Full Advantage of Secondary Hurling as Lohrman Stars

New York, April 25 (AP) — The Giants took full advantage of the Boston Bees' secondary pitching staff today with an 11-hit assault on three hurlers that was good for a 9 to 1 victory.

Burgess Whitehead homered with two on and Babe Young, who had won yesterday's game against the Phillies with a three-run homer, tripled with two aboard.

Bill Lohrman pitched smart six-hit ball in accompaniment to this outburst and had a shutout until the seventh.

Joe Callahan started on the mound for the Bees, but gave up two runs and couldn't get a man out in the first before Tom Earley was called in. He gave way in the sixth to George Barnicle, who finished with two hits in the last five innings, but hit three batters, walked two and made a wild pitch.

Diffendal has been a professional for 18 years.

Fellow Californian Has Budge on Run but Falters

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 25 (AP) — A young man from California gave Donald Budge an unhappy time of it for a while today but the professional ace pulled himself together in plenty of time to take his U. S. Open quarter-finals match 4-6, 7-5, 8-6, 6-3.

Budge, who had pushovers in his first two matches of the fourth annual pro-amateur tennis event, faltered momentarily in the face of the daring game thrown at him by John Faunce, bent on upsetting the redhead.

Budge double-faulted several times, lost on his own service and several times was caught flatfooted as Faunce carried the battle to him.

The topnotcher regained himself in the second set after falling behind 5-3 and took four straight games to run it out. In the third frame, the games were split evenly until Budge dynamited through to win the last two.

Faunce lost his touch in the fourth set, carrying Budge to three game and then fading rapidly to get only five points in the last three.

Tobey Hansen of Hot Springs, Va., who staged an "iron man" act yesterday with two matches totaling nine hours and 40 minutes, and his doubles partner Wilmer Hines, found themselves too fatigued to play in today's doubles and defaulted to Budge and Bruce Barnes of Austin, Tex.

City Softball League Meeting This Evening

Organization of a City Softball League will be discussed at a meeting to be held at the home of Robert "Sparky" Chisholm, 304 North Centre street, tonight at 8 o'clock.

After operating for several years, a city loop failed to reorganize last season and after a lapse of one year, Chisholm hopes to find that interest has been revived sufficiently to merit the formation of a circuit.

According to Chisholm, a number of teams have shown interest in the undertaking. They include the North End Merchants, champions of the North End League last season; East Side Merchants, German Brewery, Martin's Marketeers, Trozzo Whirlwinds, East Side and West Side.

It is hoped to form a six-club league playing under Playground Athletic League rules with the winning outfit to compete in the annual state championship tournament.

Colts To Workout

Joe Barley, manager of the Cumberland Colts of the Bi-State League, has called practice sessions for all players at Community Park at 5 o'clock this afternoon, Saturday and Sunday.

Barley welcomes all candidates for the club to be on hand for drills, and has hopes of finding some young material for the team.

Umpires Considered By Bi-State League

At a meeting of Bi-State Baseball League managers and umpires Wednesday at the Clary Club, umpires fro the 1940 season were considered by representatives of five of the six clubs.

Applying for jobs were the following arbiters: Charles Miller, Keyser; Jim Merrbach, Lonaconing; Floyd Payne, Keyser; Ray Middleton, Frostburg; Frank Kenney, Westernport; Ralph Dusic, Keyser, and John Angellatta and Bob Mauk, Cumberland.

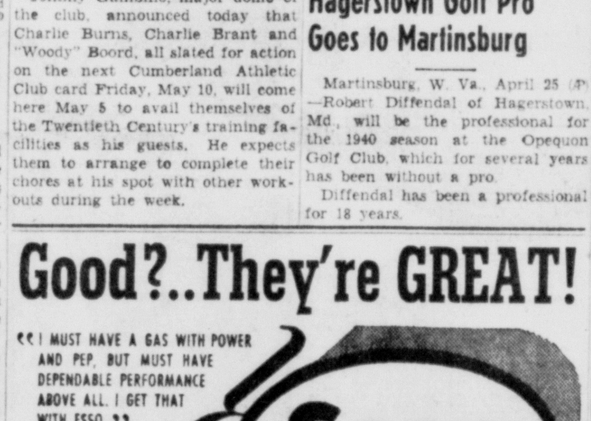

Otho Dyer, Barron Sampsell and Herb Bailey, who umpired last season, did not attend the session but league officials hope that this trio, along with Miller, Merrbach, Middleton, Kenney and Umpire-in-Chief "Bobby" Cavanaugh, can be counted on this year.

It was decided that all umpires will wear some sort of uniform and white was the color agreed upon. Another meeting will be held next Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Central Y. M. C. A.

Attending the session as team representatives were Joe Carbacio, Keyser; Tommy McGuire, Westernport; Fred Clapper, Hyndman; Simeon Green, Enoch Price and Bob Lee, Frostburg, and "Bub" Robertson and Tom Byrnes, Midland.

Bimelech Stock Soars as Derby Favorite

Scores Easy Win In Blue Grass To Keep Slate Clean

Defeats Two Other Derby Entries at Short Price Odds

Lexington, Ky., April 25 (AP) — Bimelech, the shortest Kentucky Derby Winter book favorite in history, clinched his spot as the horse to beat in the Churchill Downs classic today by easily defeating two other Derby candidates — Roman and Bashful Duck.

Col. E. R. Bradley's never-beaten son of Black Toney — La Troienne, looking and running like the great champion he is, captured the $5,000 added Blue Grass Stakes before a record crowd of nearly 13,000 persons in the feature race of the closing card at Keeneland race course.

The winner's owner, Col. E. R. Bradley, whose horses have won four Kentucky Derbies, said after today's race:

"Bimelech is the grandest horse I ever saw."

Watching from his automobile, Colonel Bradley saw "Big Bim" collar Joseph E. Widener's high-regarded Roman in the back stretch and gradually widen the margin to finish in an easy gallop two and a half lengths in front, with Bashful Duck. Bimelech's stablemate, three lengths back of the Widener horse in the three-horse field.

Time for the mile and eighth—one eighth short of the Derby route—was 1:51. The Bradley entry paid $2.20 on a $2 win ticket. Only win bets were accepted.

The victory was worth $5,575 to Bradley, whose entries have won the stake three times previously. It was Bimelech's first start this year.

After the race trainer William Hurley said both Bradley colts may run in the Derby trial at Churchill Downs next Tuesday and that Don Meade, who was reinstated by the Kentucky State Racing Commission today, may ride Bashful Duck in the Derby, May 4.

Buck Newsom Gets Revenge for Loss

St. Louis, April 25 (AP) —Buck Newsom held the St. Louis Browns to five hits today and got revenge for the season opening defeat by his former teammates as Detroit won 4 to 2.

But he had to have help and it was forthcoming in Pinky Higgins' bat. The Browns were leading 2 to 1 as the eighth inning opened. Rudy York walked. Then Higgins socked the ball into the left field bleachers. Singles by Barney McCosky and Charley Gehringer, sandwiched around Bruce Campbell's sacrifice in the ninth, brought an extra run.

St. Louis took a 2-run advantage in the first inning. Alan Strange walked, took second on Newsom's wild pitch and scored on Walter Judnich's triple. George McQuinn's fly drove in Judnich.

Drake Relays Today

Des Moines, Ia., April 25 (AP)—Light showers fell upon Des Moines tonight but they failed to dampen Drake Relays eve enthusiasm.

The weatherman, forecasting "occasional rain" for tonight and tomorrow, said he doubted that the precipitation would become heavy, and added:

"This intermittent fall probably will hurt the box office, but it probably won't slow the track to any great extent."

Tomorrow's track and field carnival, the thirty-first since Major John L. Griffith inaugurated the games, has nine final events in the college and universities sections, and the railbirds predicted at least two new records will be established.

There are 182 schools on the entry list with total registration for college, university and high school teams expected to touch the 2,500 mark.

You Can't Trust Managers, Says Our Baseball Expert

By JOHN LARDNER
Released by North American Newspaper Alliance

New York, April 25 — You can't trust a baseball manager as far as you can throw Jimmy Foxx. Take the case of Joe Cronin, of the Boston Red Sox, an inscrutable, devious sort of fellow who has been boasting about a rookie pitcher named Hash and saying nothing whatever about a rookie pitcher named Harris.

Harris, Mickey Harris, is a left-hander whom I mentioned last month as looking very good (said Lardner modestly). I saw him pitch four or five innings in an early March game against Brooklyn. He had good speed and much more coolness and poise than you'd expect in a green youth of 21, fresh up from Scranton.

However, your scout was tempted to disbelieve the evidence of his eyes when Mr. Cronin, discussing the ball club, carefully talked all around Harris.

"Hash has got it," said Mr. Cronin. "He'll be a winner. Butland looks good. Rich's arm seems to be okay again. Watch Bagby. Keep your eye on Galehouse. Ostermueller may be all right. Don't overlook—"

"You have a young left-hander," began your agent timidly.

It's very confusing

"Ah, yes," said Mr. Cronin, smiling broadly. "You refer to Mose Grove. And you do well to call him young. Young in spirit, young in outlook, young in age, too, if you compare him with Connie Mack or Judge Landis. Ah, yes, indeed," said Mr. Cronin expansively, as he strolled away, "my young left-hander, Mose Grove, is one of Nature's noblemen. I'm glad you mentioned him."

This sort of patter confused me no little. Did Harris have some gruesome secret? Was he wanted by the police of Elkhart, Ind.? Mr. Cronin seemed bent on covering him up, with whiskers if necessary, and all you heard around the camp on the subject of rookie pitchers was Hash, Hash, Hash.

Now, Herbie Hash is by no means a bad young pitcher. His record last year in the American Association, a double-A league, speaks for itself. But he looked to me to be a year or so away from complete success in the big time this spring, and when the hour came to make out my list of rookies-of-the-year, the boys with the best chance of making the grade in 1940, I leaned to young Harris rather than Hash.

But Cronin's attitude on the subject seemed sinister. The way Joe behaved, Harris probably would be back in the minors before the season opened. And there is no sense in picking a man for rookie-of-the-year if he is going to spend his year in the bushes.

So I wrote down the name of Hash and relapsed into deep and mournful contemplation.

What A Surprise

I was aroused from same with a jolt this week, when I noticed in the papers that one Mickey Harris, of southpaw persuasion, had started for Boston against Washington, had gone the route, and had blanked the Nationals for the first six innings—yielding two runs late in the game when his team had given him a lead of 7 to 0.

Furthermore, this boisterous rookie had fanned eight men, which seems to hint at a certain amount of speed. He had walked only one, which seems to indicate poise and coolness. I guess it is the very same Harris I had in mind, though why Mr. Cronin should wait till now to rip off his whiskers is more than I can say.

I don't want to go on record as calling this youth a star. There may well be better young pitchers around. But Harris is a pretty cool pitcher already, and will doubtless get better, which is very important to the Boston campaign.

With good pitching, Boston can win the pennant. Without it, the Sox are sunk. Thus, if they were not banking on any wins from Harris, the boy is gravy, all gravy. But I have an idea that Mr. Cronin was banking on him just a bit. Joseph is more devious than his open Irish pan would lead you to believe.

Up to date Boston pitching results are not bad. Grove appears to be the same old Grove, good for at least fifteen victories. Bagby's work is encouraging. Dickman looked pretty fair in one start, and Wilson's trouble is mostly wildness. Harris, as I say, is pure velvet. If Rich Galehouse, and Hash can match these performances, then Mr. Cronin ought to be able to select himself a rotation of four reasonably effectively starting pitchers from the list, with Grove working once a week and some of the others pitching in spots.

There is a log of pine wood handy, and I am going to knock it three times. I don't want to spoil the year for young Harris — mysterious Mickey, as we call him at the lodge.

Ft. Hill Hi School Will Hold Track, Field Meet Today

Three Schools Guests and Rivals Sentinels at Stadium

Fort Hill High School track and field athletes will be hosts to representatives of three other schools in a practice meet to be held this afternoon starting at 3:30.

Coach Johnny Long of the Sentinels announced yesterday that Romney (W. Va.) High, Ridgeley High and the Frostburg State College will send boys here for the contests. Running events will be staged on the Fort Hill Stadium track and field events will be held on the Sentinel practice field.

According to Long, scoring will be on a basis of five points for first, three for second and one for third. The Hilltop mentor stated that if everything goes right, the affair may be built into a yearly meet.

Frostburg To Send Six

The number of events will depend on the entries. It is hoped to have the same contests as in the annual city championship meet—100 and 220-yard dashes, 440, 880 and mile runs, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, discus, javelin, shot and mile relay.

Frostburg State will probably send six boys, according to Coach George "Gimp" Carrington, who this morning said that Irving DuVall would toss the discus, Francis Cosgrove would compete in the 100 and Donald Golden would run in the 220. The other Frostburg representatives haven't been selected yet.

Romney is expected to have at least a dozen standard bearers while Ridgeley will probably send five or six. Fort Hill will be represented by a squad of from 25 to 30, according to Long, who announced his tentative lineup as follows:

Fort Hill Lineup

220-yard dash—Harold Hipsley, Welch and Cox.

440-yard run—Davis, Eddie Spear, Jack Fearer and Ralph Keiter.

880-yard run—Dean, Clarence Minnick and Stanley Morris.

High jump—Gene Hook, Guy Smith and Davis.

Pole vault—Minnick and John Cameron.

Discus—Hook, Melvin Harbaugh, Boyd Wade and Ellis Golden.

Javelin—Hook, Nelson, Buskey, Wade and Jim Corrick.

Scores Easy Win In Blue Grass To Keep Slate Clean

Defeats Two Other Derby Entries at Short Price Odds

Lexington, Ky., April 25 (AP) — Bimelech, the shortest Kentucky Derby Winter book favorite in history, clinched his spot as the horse to beat in the Churchill Downs classic today by easily defeating two other Derby candidates — Roman and Bashful Duck.

Col. E. R. Bradley's never-beaten son of Black Toney — La Troienne, looking and running like the great champion he is, captured the $5,000 added Blue Grass Stakes before a record crowd of nearly 13,000 persons in the feature race of the closing card at Keeneland race course.

The winner's owner, Col. E. R. Bradley, whose horses have won four Kentucky Derbies, said after today's race:

"Bimelech is the grandest horse I ever saw."

Watching from his automobile, Colonel Bradley saw "Big Bim" collar Joseph E. Widener's high-regarded Roman in the back stretch and gradually widen the margin to finish in an easy gallop two and a half lengths in front, with Bashful Duck, Bimelech's stablemate, three lengths back of the Widener horse in the three-horse field.

Time for the mile and eighth—one eighth short of the Derby route—was 1:51. The Bradley entry paid $2.20 on a $2 win ticket. Only win bets were accepted.

The victory was worth $5,575 to Bradley, whose entries have won the stake three times previously. It was Bimelech's first start this year.

After the race trainer William Hurley said both Bradley colts may run in the Derby trial at Churchill Downs next Tuesday and that Don Meade, who was reinstated by the Kentucky State Racing Commission today, may ride Bashful Duck in the Derby, May 4.

Buck Newsom Gets Revenge for Loss

St. Louis, April 25 (AP) — Buck Newsom held the St. Louis Browns to five hits today and got revenge for the season opening defeat by his former teammates as Detroit won, 4 to 2.

But he had to have help and it was forthcoming in Pinky Higgins' bat. The Browns were leading 2 to 1 as the eighth inning opened. Rudy York walked. Then Higgins socked the ball into the left field bleachers. Singles by Barney McCosky and Charley Gehringer, sandwiched around Bruce Campbell's sacrifice in the ninth, brought an extra run.

St. Louis took a 2-run advantage in the first inning. Alan Strange walked, took second on Newsom's wild pitch and scored on Walter Judnich's triple. George McQuinn's fly drove in Judnich.

Oilers, Wolves Win In Tri-Towns Loop

Westernport, April 25—Jake's Oilers defeated WPA Legion 14-4 and Tony's Wolverines walloped McIntyre's 14-4 in Tri-Towns Softball League games yesterday.

The Oilers' attack was topped by home runs by L. Marsh, C. Marsh, M. Wilson and J. Dayton, while Lawrence Blackburn starred afield and had three hits in four appearances for the Legion. The losers were allowed five hits by Jack Dayton.

A sensational catch by Paul Fazenbaker of E. Duckworth's line drive with two aboard featured the Wolverine-McIntyre skirmish. Patterson held the losers to five hits while the Wolves included six extra base blows in their collection of 11 bingles. The scores:

Drake Relays Today

Des Moines, Ia., April 25 (AP)—Light showers fell upon Des Moines tonight but they failed to dampen Drake Relays eve enthusiasm.

The weatherman, forecasting "occasional rain" for tonight and tomorrow, said he doubted that the precipitation would become heavy, and added:

"This intermittent fall probably will hurt the box office, but it probably won't slow the track to any great extent."

Tomorrow's track and field carnival, the thirty-first since Major John L. Griffith inaugurated the games, has nine final events in the college and universities sections, and the railbirds predicted at least two new records will be established.

There are 182 schools on the entry list with total registration for college, university and high school teams expected to touch the 2,500 mark.

You Can't Trust Managers, Says Our Baseball Expert

Released by North American Newspaper Alliance

New York, April 25 — You can't trust a baseball manager as far as you can throw Jimmy Foxx. Take the case of Joe Cronin, of the Boston Red Sox, an inscrutable, devious sort of fellow who has been boasting about a rookie pitcher named Hash and saying nothing whatever about a rookie pitcher named Harris.

Harris, Mickey Harris, is a left-hander whom I mentioned last month as looking very good (said Lardner modestly). I saw him pitch four or five innings in an early March game against Brooklyn. He had good speed and much more coolness and poise than you'd expect in a green youth of 21, fresh up from Scranton.

However, your scout was tempted to disbelieve the evidence of his eyes when Mr. Cronin, discussing the ball club, carefully talked all around Harris.

"Hash has got it," said Mr. Cronin. "He'll be a winner, Butland looks good. Rich's arm seems to be okay again. Watch Bagby. Keep your eye on Galehouse. Ostermueller may be all right. Don't overlook—"

"You have a young left-hander," began your agent timidly.

It's very confusing

"Ah, yes," said Mr. Cronin, smiling broadly. "You refer to Mose Grove. And you do well to call him young. Young in spirit, young in outlook, young in age, too, if you compare him with Connie Mack or Judge Landis. Ah, yes, indeed," said Mr. Cronin expansively, as he strolled away, "my young left-hander, Mose Grove, is one of Nature's noblemen. I'm glad you mentioned him."

This sort of patter confused me no little. Did Harris have some gruesome secret? Was he wanted by the police of Elkhart, Ind.? Mr. Cronin seemed bent on covering him up, with whiskers if necessary, and all you heard around the camp on the subject of rookie pitchers was Hash, Hash, Hash.

Now, Herbie Hash is by no means a bad young pitcher. His record last year in the American Association, a double-A league, speaks for itself. But he looked to me to be a year or so away from complete success in the big time this spring, and when the hour came to make out my list of rookies-of-the-year, the boys with the best chance of making the grade in 1940, I leaned to young Harris rather than Hash.

But Cronin's attitude on the subject seemed sinister. The way Joe behaved, Harris probably would be back in the minors before the season opened. And there is no sense in picking a man for rookie-of-the-year if he is going to spend his year in the bushes.

So I wrote down the name of Hash and relapsed into deep and mournful contemplation.

What A Surprise

I was aroused from same with a jolt this week, when I noticed in the papers that one Mickey Harris, of southpaw persuasion, had started for Boston against Washington, had gone the route, and had blanked the Nationals for the first six innings—yielding two runs late in the game when his team had given him a lead of 7 to 0.

Furthermore, this boisterous rookie had fanned eight men, which seems to hint at a certain amount of speed. He had walked only one, which seems to indicate poise and coolness. I guess it is the very same Harris I had in mind, though why Mr. Cronin should wait till now to rip off his whiskers is more than I can say.

I don't want to go on record as calling this youth a star. There may well be better young pitchers around. But Harris is a pretty cool pitcher already, and will doubtless get better, which is very important to the Boston campaign.

With good pitching, Boston can win the pennant. Without it, the Sox are sunk. Thus, if they were not banking on any wins from Harris, the boy is gravy, all gravy. But I have an idea that Mr. Cronin was banking on him just a bit. Joseph is more devious than his open Irish pan would lead you to believe.

Up to date Boston pitching results are not bad. Grove appears to be the same old Grove, good for at least fifteen victories. Bagby's work is encouraging. Dickman looked pretty fair in one start, and Wilson's trouble is mostly wildness. Harris, as I say, is pure velvet. If Rich Galehouse, and Hash can match these performances, then Mr. Cronin ought to be able to select himself a rotation of four reasonably effectively starting pitchers from the list, with Grove working once a week and some of the others pitching in spots.

There is a log of pine wood handy, and I am going to knock it three times. I don't want to spoil the year for young Harris — mysterious Mickey, as we call him at the lodge.

Ft. Hill Hi School Will Hold Track, Field Meet Today

Three Schools Guests and Rivals Sentinels at Stadium

Fort Hill High School track and field athletes will be hosts to representatives of three other schools in a practice meet to be held this afternoon starting at 3:30.

Coach Johnny Long of the Sentinels announced yesterday that Romney (W. Va.) High, Ridgeley High and the Frostburg State College will send boys here for the contests. Running events will be staged on the Fort Hill Stadium track and field events will be held on the Sentinel practice field.

According to Long, scoring will be on a basis of five points for first, three for second and one for third. The Hilltop mentor stated that if everything goes right, the affair may be built into a yearly meet.

Frostburg To Send Six

The number of events will depend on the entries. It is hoped to have the same contests as in the annual city championship meet—100 and 220-yard dashes, 440, 880 and mile runs, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, discus, javelin, shot and mile relay.

Frostburg State will probably send six boys, according to Coach George "Gimp" Carrington, who this morning said that Irving DuVall would toss the discus, Francis Cosgrove would compete in the 100 and Donald Golden would run in the 220. The other Frostburg representatives haven't been selected yet.

Romney is expected to have at least a dozen standard bearers while Ridgeley will probably send five or six. Fort Hill will be represented by a squad of from 25 to 30, according to Long, who announced his tentative lineup as follows:

Fort Hill Lineup

220-yard dash—Harold Hipsley, Welch and Cox.

440-yard run—Davis, Eddie Spear, Jack Fearer and Ralph Keiter.

880-yard run—Dean, Clarence Minnick and Stanley Morris.

Mile run—Morris, William Gilpin and Hipsley.

High jump—Gene Hook, Guy Smith and Davis.

Broad jump—Hook, Davis, Spear and Dean.

Pole vault—Minnick and John Cameron.

Discus—Hook, Melvin Harbaugh, Boyd Wade and Ellis Golden.

Javelin—Hook, Nelson, Buskey, Wade and Jim Corrick.

Shot—Golden, Robert Polint, Ray Twigg and Hook.

The North End Merchants softball team will hold a drill today at 5:30 p. m. and Monday and Wednesday of next week on the North End Playground field.

Manager "Sparky" Chisholm reports 16 players showed up for practice this week including most of last year's North End League champions. At the present time, it looks as if Allen Sheetz and Frank Kienhofer will form the pitching staff with Charlie Abel doing the catching. The Merchants want a practice game for next Friday. Clubs interested should contact Manager Chisholm, 304 North Centre street, or phone 2695-J.

Park Readmitted To County League

Narrows Park, which competed last year in the Allegany County Softball League when that circuit was organized, was reinstated Wednesday by the loop and granted the eighth franchise, left open by the recent withdrawal of Harris Restaurant of Frostburg.

Marshall Deremer and Clyde Miller represented the Parkers at the session held at the LaVale Fire Hall. Narrows Park gave up its franchise early this spring, believing it would be impossible to place a team on the field.

Approximately 200 player contracts were approved. Instructions were given umpires and scorekeepers of the various teams by President Lawrence Gerbing. The campaign will open tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock with games at LaVale, Wilkinson Grocers of Cumberland, Corriganville and Pinto.

Umpires approved Wednesday were John Galliher, Potomac Valley; Jerry McDade, Clary Club; Russell Bagley, Ellerslie; Robert Durst, LaVale; D. J. Diehl, Stringtown; Albert Brant, Wilkinson; Harry Miller, Narrows Park, and Don Bennett, Corriganville.

In Memoriams

In memory of Ruth Lee Ridgeley, who left us four years ago today, April 26, 1936.

Do not ask us if we miss her,
There's such a vacant place.
Oft we think we hear her footsteps,
And see her smiling face.

We will see her some bright morning,
By the tree of life so fair,
She is waiting for our coming,
In the upper garden there.

MOTHER & BROTHERS.
4-25-1t-T-N

In loving memory of our dear husband and father Earl A. Young, who died five years ago, April 25th, 1935.

No one knows the silent heartaches;
Only those who have lost can tell;
Of our grief born in sorrow,
For the one we loved so well.

Sadly missed by his WIFE AND CHILDREN.

In Memoriams

In memory of Ruth Lee Ridgeley, who left us four years ago today, April 26, 1936.

Do not ask us if we miss her,
There's such a vacant place,
Oft we think we hear her footsteps,
And see her smiling face.

We will see her some bright morning,
By the tree of life so fair.
She is waiting for our coming,
In the upper garden there.

Many Protest Beer License Near School

Petition Opposing Permit Sets New Record for Length

The longest list of names ever attached to a remonstrance against granting of a beer license had been filed today in Circuit court.

The petition, which opposed the granting of a Class D beer license to Michael Lippold "or any other person" for premises at 43 Virginia avenue, bears the signatures of nearly 200 persons.

Court attaches said they couldn't remember a case in which so many persons had protested.

The remonstrance, signed by 187 persons living in the neighborhood of Virginia avenue and First street, lists five reasons why no kind of liquor license should be granted for the premises. They are:

1. The proposed beer parlor is less than a block from Grace Methodist church and about a block from Holy Cross Protestant Episcopal church.

2. It is less than a block from the Virginia Avenue school, whose pupils are marched to the opposite corner before being dismissed. The pupils "would thus naturally congregate on that corner."

3. The majority of the residents of the neighborhood feel no need for further establishments selling beer. There are already several licensed liquor establishments nearby, as well as numerous beer-selling places "within easy reach."

4. Just opposite the site is a long-established confectionery store, where it has been "the custom for many years" for young men to congregate "in a peaceful, quiet manner." Those interested in these young men feel that a bear parlor so near would be "an unnecessary temptation to them."

5. Numerous residents of the neighborhood are "original settlers," who have paid taxes on their homes in the "quiet residential neighborhood" ever since. They do not want the community "disturbed" by any establishment selling beer. They do not use it themselves and feel that those who do have "easy access" to it elsewhere.

Five ministers are among the signers—the Rev. Jesse P. Dawson Jr., pastor of Grace Methodist church; the Rev. Louis H. Ewald, rector of Holy Cross Protestant Episcopal church; the Rev. S. R. Neel, pastor of Trinity Methodist church; the Rev. C. H. Wakeman, pastor of First Brethren church; and the Rev. E. S. Price, pastor of Second Baptist church.

The petition is also signed by Mrs. Helen A. Griffin, principal of Virginia avenue school, and six of the school's teachers. Several high school students were among the signers.

Court records show that Lippold withdrew a request for a beer license at 300 Maryland avenue last February when residents of the neighborhood protested.

British Retreat

by Clement Davies, an influential Liberal national.

Dalton, initiating a debate on the $9,000,000,000 budget for the current fiscal year, said "we are not producing enough aircraft or producing them fast enough. We are not producing enough arms of other kinds nor producing them fast enough nor producing other necessities for sustenance of the people and conduct of the war."

Davies assailed attitudes that "time is on our side" and "we have always muddled through."

"Are we reckoning the cost of this muddle in money and material and in the terrible loss it might mean in young lives?" he asked.

Allies Retreat

The Allies retreated from battle positions in the Lillehammer area to a line protecting the railroads and road to Dombas from positions near Otta, twenty-five miles southeast of Dombas.

Despite repeated German bombings, communications have been cut only moderately, British reports said, and roads can be repaired quickly.

To the west, the British who withdrew after a furious German counterattack at Steinkjer Wednesday night are still holding previously prepared lines six miles north of the town.

There is little tendency to discount the Allied withdrawals in the Lillehammer region or at Steinkjer among neutral military sources.

But it is emphasized such movements are natural in a campaign of maneuver and may be expected by either side as long as the country remains comparatively unknown to field officers and communications are rudimentary.

Nevertheless, the neutral military men express the view that the Allies are outnumbered in central and southern Norway and must expect a series of setbacks unless fresh troops and artillery are rushed to their support.

The setback at Steinkjer is explained in part by the presence of German warships in Trondheim fjord. Their guns aided the German action.

'American Way' Put Over In Big Way at Allegany

Harold C. Wickard and Allegany high school last night jarred the members of a large audience practically out of their seats with a thunderbolt of pure American propaganda entitled "The American Way."

Mr. Wickard, who evidently isn't afraid to tackle anything, and his capable assistants are to be thoroughly congratulated on putting over a mighty tough assignment. The production hit the audience right between the eyes.

Opening in 1896, "The American Way" takes the audience through nineteen scenes and a total of forty-two years. Moving along with the speed of the Capitol Limited, each scene proceeds to give the audience a series of patriotic emotional jolts.

Everyone Should See It

While one lady was heard to remark somewhat hesitantly to her escort, "It isn't very cheerful, is it?" along towards the last, most people who saw last night's affair will probably agree that it's pretty good stuff and a pity that every boy and girl in Cumberland can't see it.

The play opens in 1896 on Ellis Island when German-born Martin Gunther (John Beckman) greets his wife, Irma, (Alice Keller) who has just arrived in America to join him.

The scene then moves to Mapleton, O., where Gunther has made his start. From there on Gunther becomes a typical success story who finally becomes a big factory owner due to his hard work.

Sad Memories Recalled

Comes the war and a particularly gripping scene that must have recalled poignant memories to many members of the audience when the Gunther's son, Karl, leaves home to fight the Germans as his parents break the last ties with the Fatherland and resolve they are genuine Americans.

Karl is killed after much ranting about "saving the world for democracy" and high-pitched pleas to "Buy Liberty Bonds," and "The Huns mustn't be allowed to invade America."

From there the production races on, recalls the thrill of Lindy's hop, the sour note of promised "Hoover properity" followed by the crash of the Mapleton bank. Gunther, who has signed over everything to his good friend the bank president, crashes along with the institution.

Nazi Bund Denounced

WPA workers are next shown leaning on their shovels and Gunther's grandson worried because he can't get a job and get married.

He gets tangled up with a German Bund and is about to join up when his grandfather appears on the scene to remonstrate with the khaki-clad Bund members who are Helling all over the place.

The Bund members kill Martin Gunther and the performance draws to a close as Samuel Brockton, the banker, (Robert Mosser) eulogizes the memory of a genuine American citizen.

If anybody has his doubts about the way members of the youthful cast put over this giant spectacle, he will just have to go to Allegany high school tonight and see for himself.

Brilliant Acting

John Beckman, as Martin Gunther, gives the part a most sympathetic performance and brilliantly manages to grow up with the part. Beckman gives the part of the German-born American considerable force and is to be highly commended.

It is impossible to mention all the members of this gigantic cast who sparkled last night. The very fact that the cast was so youthful gave the substance of the play a powerful driving force. There probably hasn't been a more effective piece of propaganda produced any place else in the United States.

Clever Presentation

While the performance is sprinkled with facts that must have recalled memories, both pleasant and otherwise, to the audience, one of the cleverest things about this play is the way the authors have adroitly managed to suggest rather than actually present. The entire performance is packed with historic suggestion as it moves swiftly from beginning to end.

Too Big To Imagine

It is difficult for anybody who hasn't seen the show to realize what a tremendous job it must have been to get those hordes of people onto the stage at the right time and with a minimum of confusion. Mr. Wickard and his staff did it. As far as could be observed, there wasn't a single pokey entrance or the slightest hold-up—despite the fact that the scenes included several mass meetings and a couple of parades replete with bands.

To be effective, the production had to move fast and it did. While the show was effectively presented by the students of Allegany high school, it must be set down as a triumph of direction.

Typical Scene

One of the most pleasant scenes was probably the one presented in the picnic grove on July 4, 1908, featuring a fireman's band; a host of picnickers; Henry Price and William Porter presenting takeoffs of William Howard Taft and "Teddy" Roosevelt; Robert Lashley giving an amusing imitation of the mayor; and Charles Eyre as chairman of the picnic. It was an altogether pleasing and colorful scene.

Another member of cast who did a capable job was Catherine Zembower, as Anna, Mrs. Gunther's maid. Meredith Kelley, the suffragette, also gave a spirited performance.

People who see tonight's show will get a kick out of watching an alert cast present a splendidly-directed performance.

As a play it might be laughed off by the more severe critics, but as a project "The American Way" would make even Daniel S. Pelletier, superintendent of the Savage River Dam, sit up and take notice. It's immense and has a powerful sweep.

Garden Tour Is Put Off

Flower Show Date Remains Same

Because of the way the weather has been acting up this spring, the Garden club section of the Women's Civic club has been forced to postpone its annual trip through Virginia.

Mrs. Albert A. Doub Sr., announced last night that the date for the trip, originally set for May 1, will be sometime in mid-May, with the exact day to be named later.

The late spring will not cause postponement of the club's flower show, however, Mrs. Doub announced. The flower show will be held at the parish house of Emmanuel Episcopal church on May 10.

Mrs. Doub urged all flower growers to enter the show, which is by no means limited to entries from club members. Further details about the show can be obtained from Mrs. Doub.

The club tour will be made by auto, and will include Staunton, the University of Virginia, Monticello, and the home of James Madison.

State Cop Nabs Young Speeder In Wild Chase

Careening Cars Race on Highway And Dirt Road

Wild driving made news in the Cumberland area yesterday, with two drivers ending up in the county jail to await trials today.

They were Harry W. Smith, 22, of LaVale, a textile worker, charged with exceeding fifty miles an hour in a thirty-mile-an-hour zone; and Phillip T. Dickle, 30, a Barrellville miner, accused of drunken and reckless driving.

Smith was overtaken by State Trooper George J. Miller after a wild three-mile chase out the McMullen highway, thence over a dirt road from Bowling Green for a quarter of a mile. Miller said he had to drive at least seventy miles an hour to overtake the speeding car.

Miller reported he was sitting in his patrol car about 3:45 p. m. at the foot of Dingle Hill when the Smith car went whizzing by. It was going about 60 or 65, he stated.

Race on Dirt Road

The driver apparently saw the brown police car, but instead of slowing down, he "stepped on it," the officer related.

In an apparent effort to throw off pursuit, the car turned off on a dirt road at Bowling Green. But Miller was close enough to spot the maneuver and turned off, too.

A quarter of a mile down the road, he succeeded in forcing the car into the bank.

Smith was hauled off to the county jail to "slow down" before his hearing in Trial Magistrates court this morning.

Speed Unexplained

With him in the car were another man and a girl. Smith working "cateye" at the Celanese this week, told the officer they were en route to the plant to pick up another girl at the 4 p. m. shift change, but he gave no explanation for his terrific speed.

When he spotted the officer, he turned to his companion and asked, "What should I do." The other young man answered, "It's your car; it's up to you."

Thinking he could out-run the police car, Smith took off. He learned better.

Arrested After Crash

Dickle was arrested about 8:30 o'clock last night by Troopers Miller and B. B. Bowman after the car he was driving reportedly sideswiped another car on the Mt. Savage road, about a mile east of Mt. Savage.

Dickle's car hit the automobile driven by John W. Winebrenner, of Mt. Savage, the officers reported, then careened off the road into a fence.

No one was hurt, and neither car was badly damaged.

Dickle is scheduled to be given a hearing before Magistrate Aloysious Monahan in Mt. Savage at 7 o'clock tonight.

Fritz Thyssen

against the course of the Nazi regime.

In making public the letters Thyssen fulfilled a threat he made last December to Hitler that he would "call upon the conscience of the world" by disclosing the full story of his flight from Germany, events which led up to the confiscation of his vast properties, the denationalization of himself and his wife by Nazi decree and the warrant for his arrest which has made him a fugitive in France.

The letters tell of Thyssen's increasingly helpless protests against the course of dictatorship.

"Think of the oath you swore at Potsdam (to uphold the German constitution," Thyssen wrote Hitler. "Give back to the Reich a free parliament, give back to the German nation freedom of conscience, freedom of thought and freedom of speech. x x x"

The German agreement with Soviet Russia brought renewed protests from Thyssen who wrote Hitler at the time that "your present policy amounts to suicide. Its beneficiary will be your arch-enemy of yesterday (Stalin) who is your friend of today.' "

"Your new policy, Mr. Hitler," Thyssen wrote, "is driving Germany into an abyss and the German nation into perdition."

"Listen to me," Thyssen wrote Hitler last December, "and you will hear the voice of a tormented German nation that is crying out to you: 'Turn back, let freedom, right and humaneness rise again in the German Reich.' "

Man Asks Court To Order Release From Asylum

Robert C. Jenkins yesterday obtained a writ of habeas corpus in Circuit court calling on Sheriff Lucian C. Radcliffe and the superintendent of Springfield State Hospital to show cause why he should not be released from custody.

Associate Judge William A. Huster directed that the writ be issued and ordered a hearing in the case tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Jenkins, about 25, was committed to the hospital January 2, records showed.

Tuesday night, he escaped, came to Cumberland, and while authorities were seeking him, took a bus to Uniontown, Pa. He was nabbed there by Pennsylvania motor police on a pick-up order broadcast by Maryland State Police here.

The young man was returned here by State Trooper B. C. Mason and lodged in the county jail.

The habeas corpus petition, which claimed he was "illegally restrained of his liberty," was filed by Attorney Fred A. Puderbaugh.

Man Is Tripped By Coconuts

But Jury Denies $5,000 Damages

The petit jury panel is scheduled to be discharged today after one of the shortest jury terms in nearly a half-century.

The criminal docket was unusually light, and many cases on the civil docket have been settled out of court or postponed. Some civil cases are to be heard by Circuit court judges without a jury.

One veteran lawyer commented yesterday that it was the shortest jury term he could remember in forty-two years.

The jurors reported on the opening day of the April term, April 8, were dismissed for a week; served three days last week; and are slated to complete five days service this week today—for a total of only nine days.

Less than a half-dozen cases were tried by juries.

Yesterday, a jury deliberated slightly more than an hour before denying damages to Raymond Beck for injuries suffered in a fall Nov. 25 at the City Fruit Market on North Centre street.

Beck, represented by Attorney Lewis M. Wilson, had asked damages of $5,000 for injuries allegedly caused when he stumbled over a basket of coconuts as he left the store. He said his teeth were knocked out, his arm sprained, his face cut and disfigured and his body bruised and lacerated when he fell.

The suit was brought against Jessie H. Cioni, who was represented by Attorney Peter J. Carpenti.

Open Debate on The Wage-Hour Law

Washington, April 25 (AP) — Soon after President Roosevelt had entered the fight against the Barden amendments exempting large groups of workers from the wage-hour law, the House voted today for wide open consideration of any and all proposed changes, including the Barden program.

Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the House Labor Committee made public excerpts from a recent letter the president wrote to an unnamed friend in which he said he believed "it would be a great mistake" for congress to adopt the Barden amendments.

These amendments offered by Representative Barden (D-NC) would exempt work connected with the processing of farm products from both the minimum wage and maximum hours sections of the law.

Mrs. Norton interpreted the letter as meaning that the president wanted no amendments at this time. Today's voting led veteran House members to predict, however, that some changes would be approved by the chamber.

Change in Plans For Dam Visit Causes Mix-Up

Political Battle Waxes Warmer Amid Confusion

Politicians, including the paid, under-paid, un-paid, and purely amateur varieties, worked themselves into a high state of excitement yesterday as the Radcliffe-Bruce campaign warmed up under a blanket of utter confusion.

The News, unwittingly and unwillingly, helped create the confusion by announcing yesterday that Senator Radcliffe had viewed the Savage River dam Wednesday.

Politics being what it is, Daniel S. Pelletier, boss of the dam construction, immediately reported to Chairman John J. McMullen, of the Upper Potomac River Commission, that if Radcliffe had visited the dam then the senator was the original "Invisible Man."

Bruce Forces Wade In

The Bruce forces, seeing what looked like a good opening, waded right in. They got enthusiastic support from the Evening Times, which gleefully left Senator Radcliffe holding the bag.

True enough, Senator Radcliffe did not visit the Savage River dam. He changed his plans at the last minute and went straight to Grantsville in order to speak to a crowd of farmers assembled there for a sale. And because of the weather, the roads, etc., he did not get to the dam on the way home.

Senator Radcliffe failed to announce that he had not visited the dam, as he had expected to do, while campaigners at his headquarters here thought he had seen the dam, and so stated.

And the senator himself, in a formal statement on the lack of transportation facilities for WPA workers on the dam, said, "My tour disclosed a situation which I am sorry I had not before realized."

The senator did not actually say he had visited the dam, however. Neither did any of his associates say so in a formal statement.

It probably makes little difference whether Radcliffe viewed the dam or not. The dam will be there for him to see for a long time to come.

But in politics, molehills often become mountains.

Sore issue Raised

Radcliffe did open up a sore issue, and an important one for hundreds of WPA workers and the citizens who foot the bills, when he promised "to immediately take up with the proper authorities the possibility of free transportation to and from the dam or for some sort of readjustment to cover these costs."

Edward J. Ryan, county chairman of the Bruce forces, immediately wanted to know who these "proper authorities" are, since it had already been pretty generally agreed that neither the WPA, the City of Cumberland, the county commissioners, nor the Upper Potomac River Commission was prepared or willing to provide the WPA workers free transportation.

Ryan's Challenge

Ryan said:

"Senator Radcliffe, if sincere, owes it to the people of this section to get transportation expenses of workers taken care of before primary election day, May 6. Otherwise his professed interest in this phase of the welfare of the workers will appear merely as a campaign catch-all."

Michael F. Prendergast, county chairman for Radcliffe, replied with a detailed explanation of the mix-up, which agreed with the explanation offered by The News in the foregoing paragraphs.

"As far as Dam Superintendent Pelletier's statement about the Senator appearing there as the 'Invisible Man' ", Prendergast added, "my re-action is that the 'invisible men' on the Savage River project are the Cumberland and Allegany county men who should be working on the project, but for one reason or another, are not given employment."

Tributes Paid To Physician

Dr. Jones Eulogized At Kiwanis Luncheon

Glowing tributes were paid to the memory of the late Dr. Emmett L. Jones Sr. at the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday at the Fort Cumberland hotel.

The veteran physician, who was a member of the club for many years, was eulogized in eloquent talks by Isaac Hirsch and Dr. Charles L. Owens.

Mr. Hirsch, discussing "Dr. Jones as a Man," told of his kindliness and friendliness and the many other warm, human characteristics that made him a real asset to the community.

Speaking on "Dr. Jones as a Physician," Dr. Owens told the Kiwanians of the renown which Dr. Jones enjoyed in medical circles throughout the world. He highly praised his fifty-four years of service in the medical profession, which he described as unusually valuable because of Dr. Jones's "brilliant intellect," undimmed by the years.

Many Protest Beer License Near School

Petition Opposing Permit Sets New Record for Length

The longest list of names ever attached to a remonstrance against granting of a beer license had been filed today in Circuit court.

The petition, which opposed the granting of a Class D beer license to Michael Lippold "or any other person" for premises at 43 Virginia avenue, bears the signatures of nearly 200 persons.

Court attaches said they couldn't remember a case in which so many persons had protested.

The remonstrance, signed by 187 persons living in the neighborhood of Virginia avenue and First street, lists five reasons why no kind of liquor license should be granted for the premises. They are:

1. The proposed beer parlor is less than a block from Grace Methodist church and about a block from Holy Cross Protestant Episcopal church.

2. It is less than a block from the Virginia Avenue school, whose pupils are marched to the opposite corner before being dismissed. The pupils "would thus naturally congregate on that corner."

3. The majority of the residents of the neighborhood feel no need for further establishments selling beer. There are already several licensed liquor establishments nearby, as well as numerous beer-selling places "within easy reach."

4. Just opposite the site is a long-established confectionery store, where it has been "the custom for many years" for young men to congregate "in a peaceful, quiet manner." Those interested in these young men feel that a bear parlor so near would be "an unnecessary temptation to them."

5. Numerous residents of the neighborhood are "original settlers," who have paid taxes on their homes in the "quiet residential neighborhood" ever since. They do not want the community "disturbed" by any establishment selling beer. They do not use it themselves and feel that those who do have "easy access" to it elsewhere.

Five ministers are among the signers—the Rev. Jesse P. Dawson Jr., pastor of Grace Methodist church; the Rev. Louis H. Ewald, rector of Holy Cross Protestant Episcopal church; the Rev. S. R. Neel, pastor of Trinity Methodist church; the Rev. C. H. Wakeman, pastor of First Brethren church; and the Rev. E. S. Price, pastor of Second Baptist church.

The petition is also signed by Mrs. Helen A. Griffin, principal of Virginia avenue school, and six of the school's teachers. Several high school students were among the signers.

Court records show that Lippold withdrew a request for a beer license at 300 Maryland avenue last February when residents of the neighborhood protested.

British Retreat

by Clement Davies, an influential Liberal national.

Dalton, initiating a debate on the $9,600,000,000 budget for the current fiscal year, said "we are not producing enough aircraft or producing them fast enough. We are not producing enough arms of other kinds nor producing them fast enough nor producing other necessities for sustenance of the people and conduct of the war."

Davies assailed attitudes that "time is on our side" and "we have always muddled through."

"Are we reckoning the cost of this muddle in money and material and in the terrible loss it might mean in young lives?" he asked.

Allies Retreat

The Allies retreated from battle positions in the Lillehammer area to a line protecting the railroads and road to Dombas from positions near Otta, twenty-five miles southeast of Dombas.

Despite repeated German bombings, communications have been cut only moderately, British reports said, and roads can be repaired quickly.

To the west, the British who withdrew after a furious German counterattack at Steinkjer Wednesday night are still holding previously prepared lines six miles north of the town.

There is little tendency to discount the Allied withdrawals in the Lillehammer region or at Steinkjer among neutral military sources.

But it is emphasized such movements are natural in a campaign of maneuver and may be expected by either side as long as the country remains comparatively unknown to field officers and communications are rudimentary.

Nevertheless the neutral military men express the view that the Allies are outnumbered in central and southern Norway and must expect a series of setbacks unless fresh troops and artillery are rushed to their support.

The setback at Steinkjer is explained in part by the presence of German warships in Trondheim fjord. Their guns aided the German action.

'American Way' Put Over In Big Way at Allegany

Harold C. Wickard and Allegany high school last night jarred the members of a large audience practically out of their seats with a thunderbolt of pure American propaganda entitled "The American Way."

Mr. Wickard, who evidently isn't afraid to tackle anything, and his capable assistants are to be thoroughly congratulated on putting over a mighty tough assignment. The production hit the audience right between the eyes.

Opening in 1896, "The American Way" takes the audience through nineteen scenes and a total of forty-two years. Moving along with the speed of the Capitol Limited, each scene proceeds to give the audience a series of patriotic emotional jolts.

Everyone Should See It

While one lady was heard to remark somewhat hesitantly to her escort, "It isn't very cheerful, is it?" along towards the last, most people who saw last night's affair will probably agree that it's pretty good stuff and a pity that every boy and girl in Cumberland can't see it.

The play opens in 1896 on Ellis Island when German-born Martin Gunther (John Beckman) greets his wife, Irma, (Alice Keller) who has just arrived in America to join him.

The scene then moves to Mapleton, O., where Gunther has made his start. From there on Gunther becomes a typical success story who finally becomes a big factory owner due to his hard work.

Sad Memories Recalled

Comes the war and a particularly gripping scene that must have recalled poignant memories to many members of the audience when the Gunther's son, Karl, leaves home to fight the Germans as his parents break the last ties with the Fatherland and resolve they are genuine Americans.

Karl is killed after much ranting about "saving the world for democracy" and high-pitched pleas to "Buy Liberty Bonds," and "The Huns mustn't be allowed to invade America."

From there the production races on, recalls the thrill of Lindy's hop, the sour note of promised "Hoover properity" followed by the crash of the Mapleton bank. Gunther, who has signed over everything to his good friend the bank president, crashes along with the institution.

Nazi Bund Denounced

WPA workers are next shown leaning on their shovels and Gunther's grandson worried because he can't get a job and get married.

He gets tangled up with a German Bund and is about to join up when his grandfather appears on the scene to remonstrate with the khaki-clad Bund members who are Helling all over the place.

The Bund members kill Martin Gunther and the performance draws to a close as Samuel Brockton, the banker, (Robert Mosser) eulogizes the memory of a genuine American citizen.

If anybody has his doubts about the way members of the youthful cast put over this giant spectacle, he will just have to go to Allegany high school tonight and see for himself.

Brilliant Acting

John Beckman, as Martin Gunther, gives the part a most sympathetic performance and brilliantly manages to grow up with the part. Beckman gives the part of the German-born American considerable force and is to be highly commended.

It is impossible to mention all the members of this gigantic cast who sparkled last night. The very fact that the cast was so youthful gave the substance of the play a powerful driving force. There probably hasn't been a more effective piece of propaganda produced any place else in the United States.

Clever Presentation

While the performance is sprinkled with facts that must have recalled memories, both pleasant and otherwise, to the audience, one of the cleverest things about this play is the way the authors have adroitly managed to suggest rather than actually present. The entire performance is packed with historic suggestion as it moves swiftly from beginning to end.

Too Big To Imagine

It is difficult for anybody who hasn't seen the show to realize what a tremendous job it must have been to get those hordes of people onto the stage at the right time and with a minimum of confusion. Mr. Wickard and his staff did it. As far as could be observed, there wasn't a single pokey entrance or the slightest hold-up—despite the fact that the scenes included several mass meetings and a couple of parades replete with bands.

To be effective, the production had to move fast and it did. While the show was effectively presented by the students of Allegany high school, it must be set down as a triumph of direction.

Typical Scene

One of the most pleasant scenes was probably the one presented in the picnic grove on July 4, 1908, featuring a fireman's band; a host of picnickers; Henry Price and William Porter presenting takeoffs of William Howard Taft and "Teddy" Roosevelt; Robert Lashley giving an amusing imitation of the mayor; and Charles Eyre as chairman of the picnic. It was an altogether pleasing and colorful scene.

Another member of cast who did a capable job was Catherine Zembower, as Anna, Mrs. Gunther's maid. Meredith Kelley, the suffragette, also gave a spirited performance.

People who see tonight's show will get a kick out of watching an alert cast present a splendidly-directed performance.

As a play it might be laughed off by the more severe critics, but as a project "The American Way" would make even Daniel S. Pelletier, superintendent of the Savage River Dam, sit up and take notice. It's immense and has a powerful sweep.

Garden Tour Is Put Off

Flower Show Date Remains Same

Because of the way the weather has been acting up this spring, the Garden club section of the Women's Civic club has been forced to postpone its annual trip through Virginia.

Mrs. Albert A. Doub Sr., announced last night that the date for the trip, originally set for May 1, will be sometime in mid-May, with the exact day to be named later.

The late spring will not cause postponement of the club's flower show, however, Mrs. Doub announced. The flower show will be held at the parish house of Emmanuel Episcopal church on May 10.

Mrs. Doub urged all flower growers to enter the show, which is by no means limited to entries from club members. Further details about the show can be obtained from Mrs. Doub.

State Cop Nabs Young Speeder In Wild Chase

Careening Cars Race on Highway And Dirt Road

Wild driving made news in the Cumberland area yesterday, with two drivers ending up in the county jail to await trials today.

They were Harry W. Smith, 22, of LaVale, a textile worker, charged with exceeding fifty miles an hour in a thirty-mile-an-hour zone; and Phillip T. Dickle, 30, a Barrellville miner, accused of drunken and reckless driving.

Smith was overtaken by State Trooper George J. Miller after a wild three-mile chase out the McMullen highway, thence over a dirt road from Bowling Green for a quarter of a mile. Miller said he had to drive at least seventy miles an hour to overtake the speeding car.

Miller reported he was sitting in his patrol car about 3:45 p. m. at the foot of Dingle Hill when the Smith car went whizzing by. It was going about 60 or 65, he stated.

Race on Dirt Road

The driver apparently saw the brown police car, but instead of slowing down, he "stepped on it," the officer related.

In an apparent effort to throw off pursuit, the car turned off on a dirt road at Bowling Green. But Miller was close enough to spot the maneuver and turned off, too.

A quarter of a mile down the road, he succeeded in forcing the car into the bank.

Smith was hauled off to the county jail to "slow down" before his hearing in Trial Magistrates court this morning.

Speed Unexplained

With him in the car were another man and a girl. Smith working "cateye" at the Celanese this week, told the officer they were en route to the plant to pick up another girl at the 4 p. m. shift change, but he gave no explanation for his terrific speed.

When he spotted the officer, he turned to his companion and asked, "What should I do." The other young man answered, "It's your car; it's up to you."

Thinking he could out-run the police car, Smith took off. He learned better.

Arrested After Crash

Dickle was arrested about 8:30 o'clock last night by Troopers Miller and B. B. Bowman after the car he was driving reportedly sideswiped another car on the Mt. Savage road, about a mile east of Mt. Savage.

Dickle's car hit the automobile driven by John W. Winebrenner, of Mt. Savage, the officers reported, then careened off the road into a fence.

No one was hurt, and neither car was badly damaged.

against the course of the Nazi regime.

In making public the letters Thyssen fulfilled a threat he made last December to Hitler that he would "call upon the conscience of the world" by disclosing the full story of his flight from Germany, events which led up to the confiscation of his vast properties, the denationalization of himself and his wife by Nazi decree and the warrant for his arrest which has made him a fugitive in France.

The letters tell of Thyssen's increasingly helpless protests against the course of dictatorship.

"Think of the oath you swore at Potsdam (to uphold the German constitution," Thyssen wrote Hitler. "Give back to the Reich a free parliament, give back to the German nation freedom of conscience, freedom of thought and freedom of speech. x x x"

The German agreement with Soviet Russia brought renewed protests from Thyssen who wrote Hitler at the time that "your present policy amounts to suicide. Its beneficiary will be your arch-enemy of yesterday (Stalin) who is your friend of today."

"Your new policy, Mr. Hitler," Thyssen wrote, "is driving Germany into an abyss and the German nation into perdition."

"Listen to me," Thyssen wrote Hitler last December, "and you will hear the voice of a tormented German nation that is crying out to you: 'Turn back, let freedom, right and humaneness rise again in the German Reich.'"

Man Asks Court To Order Release From Asylum

Associate Judge William A. Huster directed that the writ be issued and ordered a hearing in the case tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Jenkins, about 25, was committed to the hospital January 2, records showed.

Tuesday night, he escaped, came to Cumberland, and while authorities were seeking him, took a bus to Uniontown, Pa. He was nabbed there by Pennsylvania motor police on a pick-up order broadcast by Maryland State Police here.

The young man was returned here by State Trooper B. C. Mason and lodged in the county jail.

The habeas corpus petition, which claimed he was "illegally restrained of his liberty," was filed by Attorney Fred A. Puderbaugh.

Man Is Tripped By Coconuts

But Jury Denies $5,000 Damages

The petit jury panel is scheduled to be discharged today after one of the shortest jury terms in nearly a half-century.

The criminal docket was unusually light, and many cases on the civil docket have been settled out of court or postponed. Some civil cases are to be heard by Circuit court judges without a jury.

One veteran lawyer commented yesterday that it was the shortest jury term he could remember in forty-two years.

The jurors reported on the opening day of the April term, April 8, were dismissed for a week; served three days last week; and are slated to complete five days service this week today—for a total of only nine days.

Less than a half-dozen cases were tried by juries.

Yesterday, a jury deliberated slightly more than an hour before denying damages to Raymond Beck for injuries suffered in a fall Nov. 25 at the City Fruit Market on North Centre street.

Beck, represented by Attorney Lewis M. Wilson, had asked damages of $5,000 for injuries allegedly caused when he stumbled over a basket of coconuts as he left the store. He said his teeth were knocked out, his arm sprained, his face cut and disfigured and his body bruised and lacerated when he fell.

The suit was brought against Jessie H. Cioni, who was represented by Attorney Peter J. Carpenti.

Open Debate on The Wage-Hour Law

Washington, April 25 (AP) — Soon after President Roosevelt had entered the fight against the Barden amendments exempting large groups of workers from the wage-hour law, the House voted today for wide open consideration of any and all proposed changes, including the Barden program.

Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the House Labor Committee made public excerpts from a recent letter the president wrote to an unnamed friend in which he said he believed "it would be a great mistake" for congress to adopt the Barden amendments.

These amendments offered by Representative Barden (D-NC) would exempt work connected with the processing of farm products from both the minimum wage and maximum hours sections of the law.

Mrs. Norton interpreted the letter as meaning that the president wanted no amendments at this time. Today's voting led veteran House members to predict, however, that some changes would be approved by the chamber.

Change in Plans For Dam Visit Causes Mix-Up

Political Battle Waxes Warmer Amid Confusion

Politicians, including the paid, under-paid, un-paid, and purely amateur varieties, worked themselves into a high state of excitement yesterday as the Radcliffe-Bruce campaign warmed up under a blanket of utter confusion.

The News, unwittingly and unwillingly, helped create the confusion by announcing yesterday that Senator Radcliffe had viewed the Savage River dam Wednesday.

Politics being what it is, Daniel S. Pelletier, boss of the dam construction, immediately reported to Chairman John J. McMullen, of the Upper Potomac River Commission, that if Radcliffe had visited the dam, then the senator was the original "Invisible Man."

Bruce Forces Wade In

The Bruce forces, seeing what looked like a good opening, waded right in. They got enthusiastic support from the Evening Times, which gleefully left Senator Radcliffe holding the bag.

True enough, Senator Radcliffe did not visit the Savage River dam. He changed his plans at the last minute and went straight to Grantsville in order to speak to a crowd of farmers assembled there for a sale. And because of the weather, the roads, etc., he did not get to the dam on the way home.

Senator Radcliffe failed to announce that he had not visited the dam, as he had expected to do, while campaigners at his headquarters here thought he had seen the dam, and so stated.

And the senator himself, in a formal statement on the lack of transportation facilities for WPA workers on the dam, said, "My tour disclosed a situation which I am sorry I had not before realized."

The senator did not actually say he had visited the dam, however. Neither did any of his associates say so in a formal statement.

It probably makes little difference whether Radcliffe viewed the dam or not. The dam will be there for him to see for a long time to come.

Sore issue Raised

Radcliffe did open up a sore issue, and an important one for hundreds of WPA workers and the citizens who foot the bills, when he promised "to immediately take up with the proper authorities the possibility of free transportation to and from the dam or for some sort of readjustment to cover these costs."

Edward J. Ryan, county chairman of the Bruce forces, immediately wanted to know who these "proper authorities" are, since it had already been pretty generally agreed that neither the WPA, the City of Cumberland, the county commissioners, nor the Upper Potomac River Commission was prepared or willing to provide the WPA workers free transportation.

Ryan's Challenge

Ryan said:

"Senator Radcliffe, if sincere, owes it to the people of this section to get transportation expenses of workers taken care of before primary election day, May 6. Otherwise his professed interest in that phase of the welfare of the workers will appear merely as a campaign catch-all."

Michael F. Prendergast, county chairman for Radcliffe, replied with a detailed explanation of the mix-up, which agreed with the explanation offered by The News in foregoing paragraphs.

"As far as Dam Superintendent Pelletier's statement about the Senator appearing there as the 'Invisible Man'", Prendergast added, "my re-action is that the 'invisible men' on the Savage River project are the Cumberland and Allegany county men who should be working on the project, but for one reason or another, are not given employment."

Endorse Radcliffe

Local Union No. 221, International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop-Forgers and Helpers at its meeting last night endorsed United States Senator George L. Radcliffe for re-election on the Democratic ticket, Grayson L. Lucas, secretary of the Allegany Trades Council, announced.

Lucas at the same time called attention to the endorsement of Senator Radcliffe by the Trades Council and advised that several members present at the meeting did not voice an opinion when the Council voted the endorsement Tuesday night.
